Government Strikes Back at Rebel Forces, Sees Victory.

AMERICANS, UNHURT, ARE REPORTED SAFE

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, April 20 (A.P.).—The Honduran congress tonight declared a state of martial law throughout the country following the revolution on the northern coast begun yesterday. Troops were being called to the colors and civic guards were being organized everywhere.

Guatemalan authorities captured the important Honduran military leader, Filiberto Diaz Zelaya, as he was trying to enter Honduras over the Guatemalan border accompanied by two persons said to be well known Sandinista leaders.

Government officials said Diaz Zelaya was on his way to join the rebels on the north coast.

The U. S. S. Maryland reached the harbor at La Ceiba today and the other United States naval vessels were expected later at Pela and Puerto Cortes.

Lives of all Americans throughout the banana region were reported to be safe.

Troops Are Mobilized.

The government tonight was claiming the support of most of the country and was mobilizing large numbers of troops to put down the revolt.

Government commanders at Tela reported having found six bombs, one Lewis machine gun and several rifles in the munitions left behind among the dead and wounded after Sunday's battle.

The government of President Vicente Mejia Colindres struck back today at the rebel forces in Sava and near Progreso and reported that it had defeated them; killing some and wounding others.

All necessary measures for the overwhelming of the rebels are now operating in the north coast region.

The leaders of the uprising were said to be Mariano Gonzales and Ladislao Santos, both minor figures. They began the movement in the north coast region, it was announced, but thus far they have not attacked any important city.

The casualties in the fighting today were said to be small.

(Associated Press.)

American naval and merchant ships were arrayed last night along the coast of Honduras to protect 1,250 United States citizens from harm during the revolution in that country.

Each of the four main ports, centers of the economic domain of big American fruit companies, either had one or more American ships riding in the harbor or expected before dawn.

The cruisers Trenton and Marblehead, speeding from Guantanamo, Cuba, were approaching Trujillo-Puerto Castilla and Puerto Cortez, respectively. At La Ceiba, largest of the seacoast towns, lay the cruiser Memphis. A steamer of the United Fruit Co. was anchored in Tela Harbor to take aboard American women and children if necessary.

Other fruit steamers were along the coast ready to carry refugees if the spread of the rebellion against President Mejia Colindres made that action necessary. Wherever possible, American women and children were brought from inland plantations to the ports. Most of the 1,250 Americans in the danger zone are em-

Calvin Coolidge Says: Whenever any questions arise as to our relations with countries south of the Rio Grande some one always brings forward the charge that our business enterprises in those regions are engaged in exploiting the native population. The inference intended is one of criticism of our commercial activities as entirely selfish on our part and degrading to the people who come in contact with them.

This charge has no general application. Our business men have often gone into regions that had made little progress for hundreds of years. They have given employment at fair wages, built roads, schools, hospitals and churches, opened mines, turned the jungle into productivity and made the country sanitary. Our presence, our capital, our skill have given the inhabitants their main chance to rise in the scale of civilization. Our people have made large investments in the government loans of these countries which have not been repaid. We have done much more for the people with whom we have come in contact than they have done for us. Up to the present time a strict balancing of accounts would probably show that we are the ones who have been exploited.

Bandits Net $28,000 At Detroit City Hall

Two Robbers Take Loot From Treasurer's Office While Police Guard Doors; Chase Results in Capture of One Man.

Detroit, Mich., April 20 (U.P.).—Two bandits invaded the Detroit city treasurer's office in City Hall late today and one escaped with $26,000 in cash and checks. The other robber was captured in a department store a block away.

The robbery was planned for a few minutes after the office had been closed for the day. The teller at the tax window, George Wischow, had left his post for a moment. One of the robbers who had been sitting in a chair nearby, walked calmly to the cage and began to cut a hole in the wire mesh with a pair of wire clippers.

Opening a hole big enough to thrust his hand through, he called to his companion and together they scooped up all the money they could reach, and ran from the building.

Just as they left the office Leo Shiffman, a clerk, who was working nearby, discovered what had happened and followed them, shouting for help.

Several policemen on guard at the doors of City Hall saw the robbers saunter out and as Shiffman ran out breathlessly explaining, they gave chase.

In the crowds on Michigan avenue the robbers separated, one running into a department store and the other mingling with hundreds of shoppers on the packed street.

The man captured in the store gave his name as Joe White, and police said he admitted his part in the robbery. Descriptions of his companion were broadcast over the police radio and all squad cars were ordered to concentrate in the search.

Three thousand dollars of the loot was in cash and the rest in checks, which city officials said were not negotiable.

SECOND RATE CHIEFS BLAMED IN UPRISING

Honduran Charge Declares Leaders Unimportant; Cites Labor Unrest.

(United Press.)

Personal ambitions of second rate military leaders, agitation against new United Fruit Co. concesions and dissatisfaction among workers due to seasonal increases in unemployment at the close of the sugar season, were cited by Honduran officials here yesterday as influences behind the revolutionary outbreak in northern Honduras.

Dr. Carlos A. Perdomo, charge d'affaires of Honduras, in an interview yesterday, asserted that no leaders of any importance have so far been engaged in the revolt.

"Roman Diaz, frequently mentioned in press dispatches as one of the leaders," Dr. Perdomo said, "is a man of no political consequence. Gen. Ferrara, whose connection with the revolt is not yet established, is a second rate native chieftain who has figured in previous uprisings. The Conservative party is supporting the government and not the revolt." The Liberal party is now in power in Honduras.

Rebel leaders, Dr. Perdomo said, had in his opinion taken advantage of divergent public opinion in Honduras over new irrigation concessions of the United Fruit Co. and increased unemployment among sugar workers laid off at Lima. Several thousand men find seasonal employment there during the sugar season just closed.

The petition of the United Fruit Co. for a new concession involving irrigation of about 10,000 hectares of land in the neighborhood of the Aguan, Chamelecon and Ulua Rivers, according to Dr. Perdoma, is now under consideration by the Honduran congress, called in extraordinary session for that purpose last Monday.

The exact terms of this contract of concession have not been made public here, it was said, but the press of Honduras has almost solidly opposed it unless increased taxes are placed on all those who would be benefited by the irrigation project. To that end a new tax law has been drafted, Dr. Perdomo said, and is now before the Honduran congress.

Advocates of the higher tax and the Honduran press, according to Dr. Perdomo, have cited the last annual report of Victor M. Cutter, president of the United Fruit Co., as showing that company's profits have doubled per hectare. Opponents of the concession hold that if that is true the petitioners should pay more for their land.

As evidence of the support given by both parties to the administration of Liberal President Vincente Mejia Colindres, Dr. Perdomo stated that at the opening of the present extraordinary session a vote of confidence

NEW BUS LINE WINS APPROVAL OF BOARD

Will Replace Cars on F and G Street Loop; to Take Effect May 3.

A new bus line to supplant street cars and an improved bus service were authorized yesterday by the Public Utilitities Commission. The new line will be inaugurated on the F and G street circuit, west of Seventeenth street, on May 3, while the time of the change in schedule of the Foxhall Village-Potomac Heights bus line has not been set.

Both orders resulted from hearings held recently after petition had been filed by street railway companies. The commission had permitted the Capital Traction Co. to shift from street car to bus service on the F and G street loop, but had denied the Washington Railway & Electric Co.'s request to discontinue its bus line to Foxhall Village and Potomac Heights because of lack of patronage.

The east terminal of the Foxhall Village-Potomac Heights bus line will be moved from Wisconsin avenue and Reservoir road to Fifteenth and K streets northwest so as to provide a direct downtown service. The route from the present terminal to the new one has not been worked out yet.

Beginning at 7 a. m., the buses will leave Fifteenth and K streets and Potomac Heights every half hour until three trips are made each way. Then, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., hourly trips will be made each way on the hour. Between 4:45 and 6:15 p. m., the service will again be on a half-hour basis, while from 7 to 10 p. m. it will be hourly. The last bus will leave Fifteenth and K streets at 10 p. m. On Sundays 16 trips will be made on an hourly basis.

This improved service will be placed in operation just as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made and the new route established.

The F and G street bus service will serve substantially the same area that the street cars do now, save that they will not make the loop to Pennsylvania avenue via Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets, and will circle the White House, Treasury Department and State, War and Navy Building.

Beginning at Twenty-sixth and F streets, the buses will run east on F to Twenty-fourth street, south to E, east on E to Twenty-second, north to F, east to Seventeenth, north to Pennsylvania avenue, east to Fifteenth, south to E, west to South Executive avenue, to State place, to Seventeenth, north to G, to Virginia avenue, to New Hampshire avenue, and thence to Twenty-sixth and F streets.

A ten-minute headway will be maintained except during rush hours, when the service will be every five minutes. The service will be for the full 24 hours, though with the usual hour runs late at night. Four buses

WALKER REPLY SAYS CHARGES ARE NOT TRUE

Mayor, in Statement to Roosevelt, Pleads Their Dismissal.

CITES POLICE RECORD IN LENGTHY ANSWER

Brands Accusations Signed by Wise and Holmes as Unwarranted.

Albany, N. Y., April 20 (A.P.).—Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, told Gov. Roosevelt today in a 15,000-word statement that charges against him were "unwarranted and false accusations • • • recklessly made."

"I declare that I have adequately and consistently done my full duty as Mayor of the City of New York," the mayor's statement said, "and I ask that these charges be dismissed."

Replying to charges of "open and sordid corruption in the police department," Mayor Walker said:

"The mayor can not accept • • • responsibility for the individual conduct of 18,815 men at all hours of the day or night. He does, however, accept responsibility for the most vigorous procedure against any member of it who has in any way indicated unfitness to wear the uniform."

Brands as Socialistic.

The charges to which Mayor Walker made answer were filed with Gov. Roosevelt late in March by a group of New York citizens organized as the "City Affairs Committee." The charges were signed by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Dr. John Haynes Holmes.

"The City Affairs Committee," said Mayor Walker in his reply today, "is nothing more than an annex of the Socialist party, masquerading under a name ingeniously contrived to deceive the public • • • Holmes and Wise are both enrolled Socialists. • • • the executive committee of the socalled 'committee' includes others active in the Socialist movement."

Mayor Walker's reply took up one by one the ten "detailed items" in the charges against him. In each case he sought to show they were without foundation.

Recites Several Actions.

In one of these, dealing with the police, the mayor recited several actions taken by him for improvement of the department. He added:

"The record of the police department as here summarized completely refutes the charges that the mayor has been irresponsible, indifferent and inactive in respect to that department."

The mayor spoke of "the intemperate language of Messrs. Wise and Holmes with relation to their charges against the mayor on the subject of the magistrates' court."

He submitted a summary of what has been done in the magistrates' courts since June 11, 1930, when he appointed Joseph E. Corrigan chief city magistrate. Twenty results of the change are noted, these setting forth the resignation of one magistrate under fire, indictment of two policemen for framing women, indictments against other court employes on various charges, reorganization of the women's court and other changes to facilitate the work of the court.

Not Humanly Possible.

"I submit that no elected official," Mayor Walker continues, "whether he be President of the United States, or the Governor of the State of New York, or the Mayor of New York City —can be held to a measure of responsibility such as these petitioners would have you set up in this instance. A reasonable amount of regulation and supervision is all that is humanly possible over the personnel of a vast machine of government which numbers more than 130,000 employes. • • •

"No reputable civic or political organization in the City of New York can challenge my record of accomplishment as mayor. No citizen or taxpayer in the City of New York can stand before me and assert that I have not kept my oath of office or that I have not performed my duty."

Regarding the budget, he said

"The present budget of the City of New York amounts to more than $620,000,000 for 1931. The budget for the four preceding years totaled over $2,901,000,000. No one has ever charged that one dollar of this vast sum • • • has ever been dishon-

BUSINESS MEN TOLD TO SERVE ON JURIES

Justice Proctor Scores Leaders for Dodging Duty to City and Country.

Upbraiding Washington business men for avoiding jury duty, Justice James M. Proctor, of the District Supreme Court, last night told more than 100 prominent commerce leaders, comprising the public order committee of the Washington Board of Trade, that if they and other leading citizens persisted in "lettinn George do it" they will pay in the end by seeing juries of inferior intelligence render verdicts in cases involving important business litigation.

Pointing to "George" as an individual who probably would not have anything important to keep him from serving on a jury, and also as one who would undoubtedly be glad to earn the $4 per diem for his services, Justice Proctor warned his audience that the tables might be turned on their own negligence to serve their county and city when a case involving their own personal interests is before the court.

"A juror," asserted the Justice, who is a native of Washington, "is as important a factor in the administration of justice as a judge. And I believe, he added, "that a jury is more important than the judge.

"Until you men realize," proceeded Justice Proctor, "that a true and accurate administration of justice depends on your service you must be satisfied with what you get in courts. The class of cases that are now before our courts demands the judgment of a juror of intelligence and experience if proper justice is to be obtained."

"A judge," the speaker opined, "should have a thorough knowledge of human nature. Some, I fear, believe that they should be cold and analytical, cloistering and secluding themselves. But as I see it, the more a judge knows of the strength and weakness of human nature, and the intervening vicissitudes, the better judge he will make."

Justice Proctor was the guest of honor at the public order committee dinner which was held in the oak room of the Raleigh Hotel. He is the fourth Washington lawyer to be appointed to the District Supreme Court. The President was commended for this policy, and glowing tributes were paid Justice Proctor, with predictions that he will achieve a successful career on the bench.

The committee approved a report from a subcommittee opposing the consolidation of the Washington Metropolitan Police force with other local police agencies. Col. U. S. Grant, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, who has known to have been opposed to the proposed consolidation, commended the subcommitte for its report, and observed that the facts in the case proove the impracticability of consolidation of the police agencies. The subcommittee was headed by James C. McGarraghy, local attorney.

Odell S. Smith was reelected chairman of the public order committee. Among those who paid tribute to Justice Proctor were George Offutt, newly elected president of the Board of Trade, and Charles Morris, secretary.

Alexandria Takes Rank As Reno for Virginia

Alexandria City and Arlington County, according to divorce figures compiled at the University of Virginia for the years 1920 to 1929, have firmly established their reputation as the "Reno of Virginia." Alexandria stood third among the cities of Virginia for the number of divorces granted, with 2,294, as against Richmond's 4,299 and Norfolk's 3,144. Both these cities, however, are many times larger than Alexandria, and the latter city leads in percentage of divorces to population with 10.87 per 1,000 of population, while Richmond's proportion was 2.42 and Norfolk 2.56 per 1,000 population.

Arlington County leads all other counties of the State both in number and rate of divorces, with 1,511, or 7.08 per 1,000 population.

The large number of Washington couples seeking divorce are credited with the high rate in Aelxandria and Arlington County, the average rate for the cities of the State being 2.48 and the counties 1.02 per 1,000 population.

LOW MARK IN TRADE PASSED, KLEIN SAYS

Commerce Official Bases Analysis on National and Foreign Reports.

(Associated Press.)

Assurance that the bottom of the business depression had been reached and that there were good grounds for "the very encouraging disappearance of the defeatist psychology" was given business paper editors last night by Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

Mr. Klein's analysis, together with an address by Secretary Doak, was broadcast over a Nation-wide hook-up of the Columbia Broadcasting System. Earlier, the editors, convening here in a study of the situation, outlined their views to President Hoover at the White House.

The Commerce Department official based his contention on reports from observers in the United States and abroad. He emphasized also that the data for them was, as customarily, considerably delayed in arrival, and thus, "It is a fair assumption that by this time we have already covered at least a small portion of the flat valley at the bottom of the chasm."

The Labor Secretary said that while the country has resources and raw

ICELAND STUDENTS DEMAND REPUBLIC

No-Confidence Vote Against Premier Results in Confused Situation.

Copenhagen, Denmark, April 20 (A. P.).—An exchange telegraph dispatch from Reykjavik tonight said a students' association there is demanding the establishment of a republic in Iceland at the earliest possible moment.

The situation in the island has been confused since last week, the dispatch said, after the vote of no confidence against Premier Thorhallson was passed by the althing, which was then dissolved.

Anger and opposition against the vote were manifested at a meeting Saturday, it was said, when a demand was made that the premier disclosed telegrams which had passed between him and the king, but it was found the premier had suddenly left the city.

Students demonstrated in front of the Danish legation yesterday and the student's association passed a resolution to the effect that since the royal power could be used against the majority of the althing, the association insisted Iceland become a republic as soon as possible.

The country is united with Denmark by a personal bond of union under the government of King Christian X. It was believed here the king is waiting for a statement from Premier Thorhallson.

Two Youths Rescued When Canoe Capsizes

Two boys were rescued from the Tidal Basin yesterday when their canoe capsized. They are Robert Dixon, 16 years old, of 3729 Joselyn street, Chevy Chase, and Robert Dannenella, 18 years old, address unknown.

They were near the Outlet Bridge when the craft overturned. Private Thomas P. Fogarty, of the U. S. Park Police, summoned Howard Grantham, operator of the swan boat, and Owen W. Shelby, employe of the boathouse, who went to their aid in a speed boat. Neither of the youths required hospital treatment.

Milk Collector Slain By Baltimore Robbers

Baltimore, April 20 (A.P.).—John W. Anderson, milk company collector, died late today of a bullet wound inflicted four hours earlier when he resisted efforts of two young bandits to rob him.

D. A. R. CHEERS AS CURTIS TALK HITS PACIFISTS

MRS. HOOVER GIVEN OVATION BY CROWD

2,071 Delegates Registered at Fortieth Congress, Is Credentials Report.

With the declaration that the Army and Navy of the United States should be "fully adequate for the national defense," the Vice President of the United States, Charles Curtis, in a stirring speech before the fortieth Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution in session in Constitution Hall, sounded anew the keynote of the day reiterated by speaker after speaker in the first day's sessions of this gathering of important American women.

Vice President Curtis further stated that "in this country we do not believe in a large standing army, nor do we believe in maintaining too large a navy." Then he congratulated the D. A. R. on its successful efforts to build up existing sentiment for adequate preparedness for the national defense on the land, sea and in the air.

The Vice President was cheered to the echo as he voiced these sentiments before a brilliant audience, including not only delegates and alternates to the congress but representatives of the diplomatic, official and social life of the city as well.

D. A. R. Keeps Alive Ideals.

Continuing, the Vice President pointed out that the United States is proud of the efforts of the D. A. R. to "keep alive the ideals for which your fathers fought, bled and died—freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religious worship and a proper regard for the rights of all our citizens and for each."

That every citizen should be interested in the inseparable problems of immigration, Americanization and naturalization was among other points brought out by the Vice President, who spoke for 20 minutes. He stated that the D. A. R. was aiding the Government materially in the solution of these problems. He advocated more rigid enforcement of present immigration laws, especially in these times of depression, and said that "registration of aliens would be helpful to the department and to all seeking citizenship."

The Vice President in conclusion deprecated the attempts of those who try to villify the memory of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. "They will live forever," he exclaimed, "more radiant and outstanding in the eyes of posterity. The men who try to villify them will not succeed but the names of such men will soon be forgotten."

Curtis Calls for Reverence.

"The safety of our country depends," concluded the Vice President, "on reverence for the Constitution, obedience to the laws of our country, and respect for the courts; sound laws, interpreted by fair and impartial judges above partisan or personal influence, and upon having men constructive and not destructive to control and shape the destiny of this country."

The Vice President was greeted with prolonged ovations when he appeared on the platform of Constitution Hall last night and was welcomed by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general. He was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, who watched the proceedings with interest.

Earlier in the day, just at the opening of the fortieth Continental Congress, the delegates, alternates and members of the congress, numbering 4,000, were thrilled by the appearance of Mrs. Hoover, wife of the President, who motored back from Rapidan early yesterday morning in time to attend the session. Mrs. Hoover, who was modishly garbed in a black ensemble gown, was presented by Mrs. Hobart, president general, to the audience after the patriotic opening exercises were concluded. The audience rose and cheered her, and she smiled back and waved her hand at friends in the several delegations. Then she expressed in a few well-chosen phrases her delight at being there and her regret at not being able to remain for the entire session.

Mrs. Hoover's Talk Is Brief.

"As you may know, I have other duties to which I must attend this Man Sells Car, Later Traps Buyer as Hit-Run Suspect

Agent Traces Auto to Foggy Bottom, Waits Six Hours and Nabs Purchaser, Now Held for Investigation Following Injury to Pedestrian.

A piece of private detective work yesterday on the part of James S. Gott, auto salesman, resulted in the arrest of a man to whom Gott sold his personal automobile Sunday and who, according to police, was at the wheel a few hours later when it struck and injured a pedestrian at Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. The prisoner is John A. Finney, O street near Thirty-fourth northwest.

William Riley, 60 years old, of Newark, N. J., suffered severe lacerations of the scalp Sunday night when he was knocked down by a roadster which failed to stop. Witnesses took down the license number and turned it over to police. The tags had been listed to Gott.

Notified that the automobile had been in an accident and that he would be held responsible unless he produced the driver, Gott told police how he had sold the machine a few hours earlier to one John A. Finney. Then he set about the task of finding the man.

Acting on miscellaneous information, the auto salesman traced the car to Foggy Bottom. It was unoccupied. Driving his own auto to a nearby spot from which he could command a good view of the roadster, Gott parked and lay in waiting almost six hours before his patience finally was rewarded and Finney appeared.

Talking and acting with studied diplomacy, Gott induced Finey to allow his recently acquired vehicle to remain where it was and accompany him to the First Precinct police station. There the latter was booked and held for investigation pending the outcome of Riley's condition.

At Emergency Hospital last night it was said that the victim's condition is serious. Police were unable to locate any relatives in Washington.

Child, 3, Is Killed by Truck As Mother Cries Warning

Doris Roberts Runs to Her Death in Street Shortly After Being Spanked for Straying From Yard; Driver Held Pending Inquest.

Three-year-old Doris Roberts was spanked yesterday for straying from the back yard of her home at 25 L street northeast. A few minutes later she was killed by a truck as her mother, Mrs. William Roberts, looked on from the doorway, her warning cry drowned by the sound of screeching brakes.

Dr. John McLean pronounced Doris dead a few minutes after her limp, bleeding form had been brought to Sibley Hospital by Leroy Page, colored driver of the truck. Page, who is employed by a dry cleaning company, told police that he skidded about 30 feet to avert the tragedy.

A friend of the family notified William Roberts, a taxi driver, of his daughter's death. The mother, almost prostrated with grief, declared that Doris, blonde and vivacious, was her daddy's favorite. There are six other children, three boys and three girls.

morning," she said, "but I am glad to be here for even this short while to hear your inspiring exercises, and and I hope that your sessions may be most successful." After the greetings by the honorary presidents general, Mrs. Hoover withdrew. In the address made by Mrs. Grace Lincoln Hall Brosseau, honorary president general from Greenwich, Conn. Mrs. Brosseau said that all must share the burdens of these times of stress with President Hoover and others in authority. Mrs. Hoover appeared greatly pleased with the applause that swept over the assemblage at these words.

Mrs. Hobart told the delegates that a huge basket of pink roses on the platform, tied with a large pink satin bow, had been presented by Mrs. Hoover to the congress, which gave the delegates another chance to cheer the smiling First Lady of the Land. It was evident that there were no political lines among the delegates where admiration for Mrs. Hoover was concerned.

At last night's session of the fortieth Continental Congress the speech of Vice President Curtis was followed by an address on "Nationalism," delivered by the Secretary of Agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde. These two speeches concluded the proceedings and with music of the "Liberty Bell March," played by the United States Marine Band Orchestra the colors were retired and the audience withdrew.

Marine Band Plays Concert.

Invocation at last night's session was offered by the Rev. Dr. Ze Barney Phillips, rector of the Church of the Epiphany and chaplain of the United States Senate. A concert by the United States Marine Band Orchestra, Capt. Taylor Branson, leader, preceded the session and the George Washington Glee Club, Dr. Robert H. Harmon, director, and Mrs. Flora McGill Keefer, mezzo-contralto, sang selections.

A clarion call to the D. A. R. to be ever vigilant in fighting communism, socialism, atheism and other subversive forces, was heard in the annual address of Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general, made at the opening session of the congress yesterday morning. In scathing terms, Mrs. Hobart denounced efforts to undermine the peace and security of the Nation by the growth of such elements in the body politic. She deplored the Communist outbreaks in various cities and said that "America must have a program of its own which will unite the people of this Nation for Americanism." Mrs. Hobart praised the work of the United States Marines in Nicaragua at the time of the earthquake there.

Other high points in Mrs. Hobart's speech were these:

To urge the men and women of America to think and speak well of their own country.

That the very early marriages in eleven so-called "child-bride States" created a condition which should be immediately relieved.

That the country should celebrate the George Washington Bicentennial as a golden year and by a Nation-wide serach for family records which might otherwise be lost.

Declares Employment Aid Needed.

Everything possible should be done by members of the society to alleviate the unemployment situation. Mrs. Hobart declared that the women must share the responsibility so long as a single man or woman desiring to work can not find work to do. Neighborliness of spirit toward immigrant families in communities would do much to solve the Americanization problem, she declared.

That people throughout the country are anxious to learn about national defense was pointed out by Mrs. Hobart, based on her observations made during Nation-wide travels of the past year. She also declared that the Army and the Navy both have qualified as peace institutions and that the national defense forces have many peace-time tasks. "The United States Navy," she exclaimed, "is the keystone to world stability."

Mrs. Hobart called the attention of the delegates to "the gains atheists are making in their attempts to de-Christianize Christmas and Easter, to furnish theological students with atheist literature and to confuse the mind of the people with their cries 'abolish belief in God.'"

Socialists, according to the speaker, have organized clubs in 158 American colleges.

Communism Gets Comment.

Mrs. Hobart commented on the grasp, "Communism is getting at election booths, in open air meetings, in front of factories, in book stores, in school rooms and on the street." She called attention to the "concerted plan of numerous pacifist organizations to wreck the National Defense act and to abolish all armed forces, notwithstanding the Soviet Union is arranging to have 30,000,000 men and women under military training by the year 1933."

Other speakers at the morning session of the D. A. R. were the following honorary presidents general: Mrs. William Cumming Story, of New York, who pleaded with the delegates to use their influence to keep the United States out of the world court, the League of Nations and not to recognize Soviet Russia; Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey, of Kansas, who declared that the economic depression and the drought had created a new spirit of brotherhood between all parts of the country; Mrs. George Maynard Minor, of Connecticut, who spoke for a firm policy on national defense, and Mrs. Grace Lincoln Hall Brosseau, who urged conservation of the home, a serenity of spirit on the part of American women in times of stress and that they should uphold the morale of those charged with the responsibility of carrying the ship of state through the troubled waters of economic depression.

Greetings were brought to the congress by Maj. Gen Herbert B. Crosby, Commissioner, District of Columbia; Mrs. Samuel Shaw Arentz, national president of the Children of the American Revolution; Mr. Justice Josiah A. Van Orsdel, president general of the Sons of the American Revolution; Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, national president of the American Legion Auixiliary, and others. Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, brought the greetings of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission and Mrs. James T. Morris spoke for the Yorktown Sesquicentennial Celebration.

National Officers Report.

The afternoon session was given over to reports of national officers. An ovation was extended to Mrs. Hobart when she arose to account for her twelve months of stewardship as the head of the national organization. Mrs. Hobart traveled thousands of miles last years to attend various D. A. R. gatherings and she gave some interesting summaries of conditions she found prevailing in all parts of the country during that time. That next year will be a test year for patriotism was asserted by Mrs. Hobart, because of plots against religious life in many countries, plans to overthrow systems of government, "scientific experiments being conducted so that evil forces may be equipped to conquer the unsuspecting conservatives."

"News has just come to America," she continued, "that Soviet Russia is carrying on experiments in chemical warfare which are resulting in the deadliest gases ever produced. In addition, it is related that they are ascertaining through tests how to find the center of vibration of buildings, that they may more easily destroy them."

Mrs. Hobart stated that during her administration thus far she has visited thirty-eight States. The schedule for the next few months will include visiting nine of the remaining States and Alaska.

Delegates Number 2,071.

Miss Anna C. Blaine, chairman of the committee on credentials, reported that 2,071 delegates and alternates to the Fortieth Continental Congress had registered. Of this number 24 were national officers.

That the financial affairs of the D. A. R. are in splendid condition was shown in the report of the treasurer general, Mrs. Harriet Vaughn Rigdon, of Wabash, Ind.

The total receipts of the society to March 31, 1931, for the last year, were $336,786.57, and disbursements amounted to $269,592.90, leaving a balance of $151,193.05 on hand at that date.

Among the contributions received for special objects were $53,558.89; national defense, $20,791.76 immigrants' manual, $14,358.96; Angel and Ellis Island funds, $10,980.37; patriotic education, $71,143.52; preservation of historic spots, $16,739.97; student loan, $15,983.80, and relief, $1,737.79.

Many valuable relics have been given to the D. A. R. in the last year, according to report made by Mrs. Samuel Jackson Kramer, curator general. The collection of portraits of signers of the Declaration of Independence has been nearly completed. Through the generosity of Massachusetts, Mrs. Kramer reported, a desk once owned by John Hancock has been placed in the south wing of the D. A. R. museum. Among the recent acquisitions was a plate designed by Mrs. Caroline Scott Harrison, and used in the White House during the Harrison administration.

Membership Total Is 172,755.

The organizing secretary general, Mrs. William A. Becker, reported that present membership of the D. A. R. is 172,755, with 2,431 chapters in every State in the Union, in China, the Philippines, Cuba, England, France and Italy, and with chapters organizing in Japan, Germany, Switzerland and Canada.

The librarian general, Mrs. Russell A. Magna, of Holyoke, Mass., the only announced candidate for the presidency next year, told of the transfer of the library into its new quarters in Constitution Hall and the extension of the library work during her administration. The D. A. R. library now has 25,000 volumes and is regarded as one of the most valuable genealogical collections in the country.

Mrs. Flora Myers Gillentine, historian general, in reporting progress of the historical work of the society, said that six volumes of the lineage books have been issued in the last year. Reports of national committees will feature this morning's session of the congress. There will be no session this afternoon in order that State meetings and meetings of national committees may be held. The annual pilgrimage to Mount Vernon will be held at 5 o'clock when wreaths will be placed on the tombs of George and Martha Washington. The committee in charge of the pilgrimage will be headed by Mrs. Charles J. Livingood, honorary chairman, with Mrs. Eliza Ferry Leary, of Washington, national chairman.

NOTES OF D. A. R.

Longer skirts and coils of hair, smart tailored or sport costumes mark the composite picture of the D. A. R. ideas of the 1931 daytime fashions. Some of the pages appear on the floor with short hair but the general trend of fashion seems to be to have long hair even though it be only curls coming well down over the nape of the neck.

For the evening sessions the pages and the officers and delegates have universally adopted the trailing skirt, either with a train just escaping the ground or of ankle length in front.

One of the most interesting figures at the congress is Mrs. Eleanor Washington Howard, the last of the Washington family now living to be born at Mount Vernon. Mrs. Howard has served in many offices in the Society and is an authority on D. A. R. and national history. She is now 75 years old and looks very much like the portraits of her ancestor, George Washington.

Mrs. Grace Lincoln Hall Brosseau, honorary president general, is also the author of a number of books and magazine stories. It was during the administration of Mrs. Brosseau that Constitution Hall was erected.

Mrs. Henry B. Joy, of Detroit, vice president general, is also the national president of the Society of Daughters, Patriots and Founders, and is well known throughout the United States for her Red Cross and war service.

Mrs. John Laidlaw Buel, of Connecticut, who has served the society in many offices and on many important committees, is also a leader in other patriotic organizations, and is to be the next president of the Colonial Daughters, which will meet next week.

Mrs. George Maynard Minor, honorary president general, is an active member of the Connecticut delegation this year. Mrs. Minor and Mrs. Buel have long been leaders in the distributfon of manuals for immigrants, which is now a Nation-wide project of the society.

Miss Natalie Sumner Lincoln, editor of the Magazine, is a Washington woman, although she belongs to the Connecticut D. A. R. Miss Lincoln is a well-known writer of mystery stories.

Five pretty girls from 10 to 16 years of age, dressed in girlish uniforms with white collars and cuffs, are visitors at the congress, representing the student body of the Tamassee (N. C.) D. A. R. mountain industrial school.

Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde will be the ranking guest at the Kentucky luncheon today in the palm court of the Mayflower. Mrs. Conrad Syme is chairman of the luncheon committee, assisted by Mrs. Maurice H. Thatcher, Mrs. Owsley Stanley and Mrs. Charles S. Boles.

The Daughters of the American Revolution from Minnesota will hold their State luncheon today in the Pan-American room of the Mayflower. Mrs. Minnie Dilley, of Northfield, is in charge of arrangements.

The South Carolina D. A. R. dinner to be given this evening at the Mayflower is being arranged by Mrs. Johannes B. Sylvan, of Columbia, S. C.

This afternoon North Carolina daughters will open a colonial dining room on the ground floor of Memorial Continental Hall, the only room to be presented to the national society during this conference.

The room is an exact duplicate of a dining room in a Southern colonial home. It has been decorated to follow the period, with an original, hand-carved mantel, recessed windows and pine floor.

The walls are covered with paper copied from the special colonial landscaping of the Revolutionary period. The lights are of antique wall lamp design. An antique sideboard, dining table, eight chairs, corner cupboards, grandfather clock and other colonial antiques make the room one of the most attractive in appearance and true to type in the building.

A reception will be held there this afternoon by the members of the committee that arranged for the furnishing. All national officers, State regent and North Carolina delegates were invited. Pine cones from North Carolina were to be given as souvenirs.

On the committee for the room and hostesses for the reception are Mrs. W. H. Belk, of Charlotte, N. C., chairman; Mrs. S. P. Cooper, of Henderson, incoming State regent; Mrs. J. S. Silverstein, of Brevard; Mrs. Frank Brandon Smith, of Charlotte; Mrs. U. H. Cozart, of Wilson; Mrs. W. B. Cobb, of Goldsboro; Miss Anna Blair, of Monroe, and Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, of Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Ben Wylie State regent of Georgia has established headquarters for her delegation at the New Willard Hotel. Among the prominent members of the delegaion are Mrs. Julius Talmadge, Mrs. Howard McCall, Mrs. Fay Gaffney, Mrs. Charles Rice, Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. Julian McCurry and Mrs. William Vareen.

Mrs. Charles Francis Bathrick, long prominent in the activities of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, is the Michigan candidate for the office of vice president general at the Continental Congress.

Endowed with the highest ideals of character, imbued with ardent patriotism, Mrs. Bathrick is a woman of charming personality, and has shown in all lines of endeavor, executive ability, fairness and untiring energy. It is felt that Mrs. Bathrick's candidacy will arouse keen interest among chapters in other States, as Mrs. Bathrick is well known personally to many groups through her national work for the society.

Mrs. Bathrick has served the Battle Creek Chapter, of which she is a charter member, on many standing committees; for eighteen years as chairman of Sons and Daughters of the Republic committee; and as regent.

She has served her State as chairman of Memorial Continental Hall committee; as chairman of national defense; members of many other committees; as recording secretary; vice regent, and was elected honorary State regent at the State conference of 1930. She is just copleting a successful three years' term as State regent. During her administration, among the various completed projects, were the publication of the Michigan Historical Record, the D. A. R. Forest established and the Michigan Bell given to the Washington Memorial at Valley Forge.

In the national society Mrs. Bathrick has served on various committees, for three years was national chairman of the Sons and Daughters of the Republic, in which work she retains a lively interest, believing that the patriotic training of the youth of our country is its strongest bulwark of defense; and on the national board of management.

During the World War Mrs. Bathrick rendered conspicuous service, having served as county chairman of the Red Cross; president of the Battle Creek Branch of the Needlework Guild of America in charge of war relief work; appointed by the governor as a member of the State war committee, and State D. A. R. chairman of comfort equipment for base hospital (Camp Custer).

Mrs. Bathrick is a member of Colonial Dames, Historic Memorials, the Pilgrim Society and of the National Officers Club.

Her long service, unfailing loyalty, rare ability and unselfish devotion to the work of the Daughters of the American Revolution qualifies her for the high office of vice president general.

The New Jersey Society D. A. R. will hold a luncheon meeting in the Rose Room of the Washington Hotel today at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Flora Myers Gillentine, historian general, will give an address. Mrs. John Carroll Coulter, State regent South Carolina D. A. R., and two students from Tamassee D. A. R. Industrial School will attend and speak in the interest of the school. Mrs. C. Edward Murray, of Trenton, State regent, will preside. Mrs. John W. King, of Jersey City, is chairman of arrangements for the fifth consecutive year.

Who Are the Champion Bridge Players of Washington?

The question has never been answered to the satisfaction of Washington's 25,000 bridge enthusiasts.

The champion players of Washington, including a 25-mile radius, will be known, and rewarded with trophies donated by The Washington Post.

Separate tournaments will be provided for both experts and average players so that full opportunity will be given the newcomers to the game as well as the seasoned players to demonstrate their ability.

Details of the Tournament Will Be Developed Daily in The Washington Post

1. The tournament will be held May 14, 15 and 16 at the New Shoreham Hotel.

2. Entries will be accepted from persons living in Washington or within a twenty-five (25) mile radius.

3. Play will be conducted for teams of four, teams of two or individuals; or such parts of the foregoing plan as entries warrant.

4. The conduct of the tournament will be in the charge of a committee on arrangements. The committee's action in accepting entries, making rules and governing play shall be final.

5. Prizes to the winning teams and individuals will be awarded by The Washington Post.

6. The tournament will be divided into two classes: Class A for advanced players; Class B for intermediate players.

7. Play in both classes will be provided in both contract and auction bridge. Entrants should designate which form of the game—contract or auction—and which class they desire to enter.

8. Clubs and other organized groups of bridge players may enter one or more teams in any classification of the tournament.

In the Better Hotels and Restaurants

One of the first indications of the quality of service which will follow is the appearance of the glass of ice-water served by the waiter. A sparkling, crystal-clear piece of ice in the goblet is as essential as fresh linen and clean silver.

Many hotels, restaurants and clubs which have their own ice-making plants order a special supply of American Ice for table use because it is uniformly clear and free from the cloudy streaks so usually found in ice made on the premises.

OWENS PAIR JAILED AFTER LANE HEARING

New Arraignment in Fatal Street Car Holdup Set for April 27.

In a brief, perfunctory hearing before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage yesterday Garry Owens, 26 years old, and his nephew, Charles Owens, both held in connection with the fatal shooting of James H. Lane, operator of a one-man street car who was shot while resisting a hold up on the Congress Heights street car line, were committed to jail to await a further hearing April 27.

The pair were taken before the commissioner so that they could legally be placed in the District Jail. The United States attorney's office expects to present the case to the grand jury and have a report from that body by the time set for arraignment before the United States commissioner.

Mrs. Maude Owens, 25 years old, wife of Garry Owens, was released from the House of Detention yesterday, and she returned to the family home at Geisboro Point, D. C. Police have announced that Aubrey Pillsbury, an uncle of Charles Owens, who declared that Charles was at his home on the night of March 18, said that he was merely trying to "help the boys out."

Lane, who lived at Colmar Manor, Md., was the father of four children. Rewards totaling $1,300 were offered for the arrest and conviction of his slayer.

Two Are Protected In Lynching Threat

Jefferson City, Mo., April 20 (A.P.).—Gov. Henry S. Caulfield said today all possible precautions had been and would be taken to protect from mob action Uel Richardson, 27, and Emmett Gallie, 30, Negroes, convicted at Clinton November 1 of murdering Mrs. Elizabeth Neiman, 63-year-old widow, at her farm home near Windsor October 18.

The governor's statement was made in connection with a report by Miss Helen Boardman, investigator for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, that a plot to lynch the Negroes exists in Henry County, where they were tried.

ARLINGTON COUNTY ADDS TRAFFIC AIDS

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Judge Walter T. McCarthy, at the opening of the April term of the circuit court of Arlington County, upon the recommendation of Sheriff Howard B. Fields, appointed Charles R. Hager, of Cherrydale, and Vernon R. Wilt, of Clarendon, as special traffic officers for Arlington County.

Eight indictments were returned by the special grand jury following the opening of the April term of court. Those indicted for violation of the prohibition laws are Austin Wharton, Marie Rattley, Estelle Stanley, R. L. Lacour (two indictments), and Darlington Mackey. Those indicted for a felony are James Johnson, John W. Proctor and John Hunter.

Hunter, pleading guilty to the indictment charging him with entering a house of Thomas Samuel, was sentenced to serve one year in the State Penitentiary at Richmond by Judge McCarthy.

Pleading guilty to the operation of an automobile while under the influence of liquor, Austin Wharton was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail, in addition to a fine of $140.75. The jail sentence was suspended by Judge McCarthy.

Returning to his office from lunch, Dr. J. A. Boston, whose office is located in the Kelley Building at Clarendon, found his safe open, the cash drawer smashed, gold and money to the extent of $50 gone.

According to police both doors to the office were unlocked, but the inner door was found locked when Dr. Boston returned to his office. A county-wide search is being made for the culprits who entered the office.

Wilbert Dockery and Henry Williams, who were arrested Sunday evening in Washington, following a chase through Queen City by Deputy Sheriff Harry L. Woodyard and officer Hugh Jones in connection with the shooting of McKinley Walker and Dallas Irving over a craps game, are in the Arlington County Jail held on charges of felonious assault. The two men were returned to Arlington County Jail yesterday by officer Hugh Jones.

Dr. W. R. Smithy, of the University of Virginia, is announced as the principal speaker at the dedication exercises of the new additions to the Washington-Lee High School, to be held in the school auditorium Thursday night under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. Among other speakers will be County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp and members of the county school board.

Concluding a short entertainment to be presented by the school band, the girls' glee club and girl tumblers, a reception will be held in each classroom, followed by an inspection of the entire building, with members of the cadet corps acting as guides.

The Washington-Lee High School, with its 57 classrooms, two gymnasiums, library rooms, study halls, auditorium, cafeteria and shops, is the largest high school building in the State, and Superintendent Kemp hopes that the citizens will come out and inspect the building and see at first hand what the county school board is aiming to do for the children of Arlington County.

The cadet corps of the Washington-Lee High School will lead the military school section in the parade in connection with the apple blossom festival to be held at Winchester, Va., May 5 and 6, according to an announcement made last night by S. P. Vandersilice, principal.

Representative Judge Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, who succeeds R. Walton Moore, was a visitor at the opening of the April term of the Circuit Court of Arlington County yesterday. Judge Smith, prior to his going to Congress as the representative of the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia, of which Arlington County is a part, was judge of the circuit court of the county.

The Men's Bible Class of the Community Methodist Church, of Aurora Heights, will hold its first annual banquet tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at Windsor Arms in Glebe road. John L. Coleman is president and S. L. Thomas, for 25 years secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Richmond, is the teacher. The class has grown from a membership of 7 to 63 in the past seven months.

One of the class' objectives since its organization has been to aid in the raising of funds for the new church building for which bids will be received on April 27. The reports show that in this work the class has been most successful.

The committee in charge of arrangements announce that there will be no long speeches at the banquet the purpose being to have a general good time and to increase the brotherhood feeling which exists among the class members as a whole.

With less than two weeks remaining in which taxpayers may pay their poll taxes in order to vote at the coming November election, when all county offices excepting that of county clerk will be chosen, the political committee of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County have sent broadcast over the entire county circulars appealing to the taxpayers to pay their poll taxes.

Saturday, May 2, is the last day in which these taxes may be paid to the county treasurer, E. Wade Ball. Treasurer Ball announces that his office at the courthouse is open each day from 8:30 to 4:30 o'clock, where all taxes must be paid.

Charged with reckless driving, Joseph B. Hamel, Albert Petera and Henry C. Dunkins each forfeited the sum of $15 in police court yesterday when failing to answer to their names. Police Judge Harry R. Thomas presided.

The ladies of the Arlington Methodist Episcopal Church announce that they will serve a benefit oyster supper at the church Friday evening from 5 to 8 o'clock.

The Clarendon Boys' Scout Troop No. 104 carried off first honors with an average of 99.2 in the first aid contest held at the Washington-Lee High School Saturday night. Scout Executive for Northern Virginia William L. Leitch last night stated that this is the highest record attained by any troop in the four contests that have been held in this part of the State. The troop was in charge of Capt. Ivan Washburn, jr. Other members of the team being Delmar Ports, R. Rose, R. Ross and E. Alexander.

The Annandale Troop No. 150 was second with an average of 94.8, with Cherrydale Troop ..o. 193, with an average of 93.2. The Annandale Troop was in charge of Capt. Omer Hirst, and R. J. New in charge of the Cherrydale Troop.

The medal won by the Clarendon Troop was donated by the Arlington Rotary Club. Individual first aid kits donated by the Arlington County Monarch Club were presented to the Annandale team winners of second place and a set of signal flags presented by Arlington Post, No. 139 American Legion, went to the Cherrydale team.

The contest was refereed by Commodore W. E. Longfellow, of the National American Red Cross. J. B. Dorman, of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., acted as chief judge. He was assisted by R. L. Bassford, C. W. Roberts, C. B. Vance, T. H. Taylor, George C. Dolby, W. R. Elliott, George Hughes and Kenneth Gott. Concluding the contest, a picked team from the telephone company worked out a series of first aid problems.

Plans are now being perfected for an exhibition camp to be held in the wooded section of Lyon Village. Mr. Leitch stated that the complete program will be announced following a meeting of the executive committee which was held last night.

materials, skilled workmen, business genius and finances, "we have been somewhat lacking in that spirit of assurance and progress which is common to the American people.

"Free purchasing of the needed articles and goods," he said, "and less hesitancy to spend by those who are able to buy is what we must rely upon to put more of our people back at the machines and into the mines and the mills and the fields."

Mr. Doak urged maintenance of wage standards which "have been heartily indorsed by many of the greatest employers of labor in the country." On the same radio program, Stanley A. Dennis, chairman of the national conference of business paper editors, advocated selection of "an industrial mobilization board," of 50 business leaders, headed by Owen D. Young, to plan restoration of business prosperity.

Mr. Klein saw encouraging factors in "the apparent checking of the decline in prices" of important staples, which, he said, have been steadier here and abroad for the past few weeks "than at any time since the 1929 peak.

"Further," he added, "by and large the foreign situation has * * * taken a more encouraging tone." He pointed to Franco-Italian accord, and adjustment of affairs in India as indicative.

Also, he looked for "several definitely constructive contributions to the further clarification of the international scene" from the International Chamber of Commerce meeting here in May.

BUS LINE TO REPLACE F AND G STREET CARS

have been bought to inaugurate the line, but six more are to be purchased later.

The abandonment of the street car line will necessitate several changes in terminals. Chevy Chase cars will now have their terminus at Potomac Park instead of Twenty-sixth and G streets. Cars will turn south at Nineteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, and thence follow Eighteenth, F and Seventeenth street to Seventeenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

The present routing of cars during the mid-day non-rush period between Navy Yard and Potomac Park will be discontinued. The Chevy Chase cars are expected to provide this service.

Discontinuance of the bus line now operated at nights, Sundays, and holidays between Potomac Park and Nineteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue was ordered for the same reason.

The eastern terminus of cars now operating between Takoma Park and Peace Monument was ordered shifted to the Navy Yard. Thus by transfer one may still be able to ride from Potomac Park to the Navy Yard about as directly as now provided by the Navy Yard-Potomac Park line.

Cars now operating on the Fourteenth street line which turns back at Third and Sheridan streets are to be run through to Takoma during the mid-day non-rush periods.

WORKERS FOR BLIND TO VISIT ALEXANDRIA

Delegates From 37 Nations to Be Guests of Chamber in Virginia City.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

One hundred delegates, representing 37 nations to the world conference in New York on work for the blind, will be the guests of the Alexander Chamber of Commerce tomorrow.

The party will first be taken to historic Gadsby's Tavern, arriving there at 1:30 o'clock. They will be shown through this building, after which they will be entertained at luncheon at the George Mason Hotel. After luncheon they will be taken to visit other historic places in Alexandria, and, if time permits, will visit Mount Vernon. The delegates will be greeted by the mayor and members of the city council, as well as members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Among the distinguished guests expected will be Miss Helen Keller; His Excellency Tytus Filipowize, Ambassador from Poland, and First Secretary R. Leitner, of the German Embassy.

The delegates will represent these countries: Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Egypt, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Japan Mexico Norway Peru Poland Roumania, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Uruguay, Jugoslavia.

Two local troops of Boy Scouts will assemble at Gadby's Tavern and assist in directing the guests.

Robert Hood, 21 years old, of Claremont, Okla., who is serving a sentence of four months in jail after conviction of a charge of carrying a pistol, made an unsuccessful attempt to escape Sunday night. He had gone to the shower bath room, and had broken the metal siding, making an aperture through which he was about to emerge when J. Christopher Gill, jr., a guard at the jail, arrived on the scene, and, with drawn revolver, compelled Hood to return to his cell.

City Sergt. R. H. Cox is of opinion that Hood's intention was to overpower a guard with a piece of pipe he had, take his keys, and make his escape. The room from which he attempted o escape is on the ground floor, and i would have been an easy matter o attack and overpower the guard with his weapon.

Hood was arrested April 9, and had on his person a .44 calibre automatic pistol. When arraigned in Police Court he was fined $100 and given a 30-day jail sentence, but, being unable to pay his fine, will have to serve three months in lieu of payment.

The local company of Marines, Company L, Twentieth Marines, has announced plans to resume recruiting, commencing Thursday, April 23, and will hold weekly drills in the armory.

Last summer this company attended the encampment at Quantico, and this summer will go to Columbus, Ohio, as a guest of the State of Ohio, as a unit of the Twentieth Regiment of Marines, Sixh Brigade. This Marine brigade will form the guard of honor to attend Miss Shenandoah, queen of the Apple Blossom Festival, at Winchester, about May 1.

Francis H. Fannon will be the principal speaker at the meeting today of the local Rotary Club, giving a talk on the history, origin, purpose and accomplishments of Rotary International, with special application to the community good accomplished in the Old Dominion.

The local Rotary is cooperating with the clubs of Arlington, Winchester, Leesburg and Fairfax in procuring a large delegation to attend the Norfolk conference of Rotary, which will be held May 6, 7 and 8.

James A. Blake, of Richmond, district deputy of the First District of Virginia, will pay an official visit to Fitzgerald Council, Knights of Columbus, tomorrow night, in the K. C. Home, Cameron and St. Asaph streets.

A free chest clinic will be held in the city health office tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock for white persons and at the same hours Thursday afternoon for colored persons. The clinic will be in charge of Dr. H. A. Latane and Dr. Llewellyn Powell.

The work of grading the Mount Vernon Memorial boulevard at the extreme south end of Washington street from Jefferson street to Hunting Creek and across the bridge at the south end of St. Mary's Cemetery is now under way and is being rapidly pushed to completion.

Medals Displayed, Rum Charge Killed

Lost Battalion Survivor Is Freed as He Proves His Record.

Charleston, W. Va., April 20 (A.P.).—A survivor of the famed "Lost Battalion," cut off in the Argonne Forest for five days in 1918, today was absolved by Federal Judge George W. McClintic of prohibition violation charges.

James W. Bragg, of Braggs Run, Webster County, was brought into Federal court last fall as an alleged "moonshiner." When arraigned he mentioned during the course of comments before the court that he was one of the few survivors of the "Lost Battalion."

Judge McClintic at the time said he would dismiss the charges if Bragg proved his assertions. Bragg appeared in court today with a roll of citations and a case containing medals. The charges were nolle prossed.

Man End Life by Shot After Third Attempt

Special to The Washington Post.

Barton, Md., April 20.—George H. Schriver, 50, miner, sent a bullet through his head in the kitchen of his home near Moscow, a suburb, late yesterday with a single-barreled gun after threatening to kill his wife and after his wife and daughter had taken from him a revolver and a double-barreled shotgun.

WINS NAVY STAR

MAJ. H. L. LARSEN.

Maj. H. L. Larsen Honored by Navy

Marine Officer Is Awarded Cross Star for Services in Nicaragua.

A decoration for distinguished service in Nicaragua was awarded yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Adams to Maj. H. L. Larsen, United States Marine Corps, who makes his home at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Maj. Larsen is already the holder of the Navy Cross, and as it can be won only once, the additional decoration of the Navy Cross Star was granted. He was cited for "upbuilding and maintaining" the morale of the Marine forces in Nicaragua in 1928, during the election of the Nicaraguran president. He remained in Nicaragua for more than two years, returning here in 1930.

The star was also awarded to Sergt. William A. Lee, of Haverhill, Mass., for his courage and skill while stationed in Nicaragua.

ployés of the fruit companies or members of their families.

None of the reports received by the State or Navy Departments contained any indication that Americans or foreigners had been injured or that the revolution had any anti-American or antiforeign aspects.

Secretary Stimson and Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of Naval Operations, conferred on the progress of precautionary measures which they had ordered Sunday on receipt of news of the outbreak of the Honduran rebellion.

The three American cruisers, carrying about 120 officers and 1,300 men, were under orders to confine their operations to the coast towns, to provide asylum for Americans and other foreign residents and protect life and property in those towns.

They were not to go inland to protect American-owned railways or plantations. They were to maintain strict neutrality between the revolutionary and the government forces. Each of these 750-ton cruisers, in addition to its six-inch guns, carried two airplanes.

Eastern Coast Quiet.

Through Minister Julius G. Lay at Tegucigalpa, the American Government promised representatives of European nations that the American forces also would protect their nationals in the north coast towns.

Quiet was reported along the eastern Nicaraguan coast, terrorized last week by insurgent bands. The cruiser Rochester, flagship of Rear Admiral Arthur St. Clair Smith, commander of the special service squadron in Central American waters, moved up from Bluefields to Puerto Cabezas. The gunboat Asheville, which had been standing by since Sunday at the latter port, on the arrival of the Rochester, departed for her former station at Cape Gracias a Dios, near the Honduran border.

The gunboat Sacramento remained on guard at Bluefields, with a landing force of 31 Marines ashore to replace the native guardia which had gone inland to investigate reports of insurgent activity. The aircraft carrier Langley, with 25 planes aboard, was en route from Guantanamo to Puerto Cabezas.

German diplomatic representatives at Managua and Guatemala asked that American forces afford protection to 20 Germans in the Puerto Cabezas area. A German missionary was reported killed April 17 in the Prinzapolka district, inland from Puerto Cabezas.

Believed as "Feelers."

New Orleans, La., April 20 (A.P.).—Revolutionary activities along the Caribbean coast of Honduras were reported in a calm today in dispatches received in New Orleans by individuals and fruit companies operating in the area.

After striking simultaneously Sunday at several points, the revolutionists were reported in the messages as having retreated from the fire of the government forces, who had been warned for weeks of the brewing uprising.

New Orleans observers experienced in Central American revolutions, said the skirmishes Sunday probably were "feelers" on the part of the revolutionists to determine the attitude of the natives and the strength of the government. Information thus obtained, they said, probably would determine the future course of the rebels.

Vicente Mejia y Colindres, jr., 28-year-old son of the Honduran president, here on visit, said the disturbance would blow down within fifteen days and that it was not serious enough to dignify with the word "revolution."

He said his father had 3,000 loyal and well-armed troops at his disposal and he doubted if the rebel forces would number 600.

Blames Economic Situation.

Young Mejia attributed the rising to the strained economic situation, which he said was taken advantage of by Gen. Gregorio Ferrera, the revolt leader, who attempted the same thing in 1924, but was beaten off.

The United Fruit Co. said Americans and foreigners were in no danger.

The steampship Contessa, of the Standard Fruit & Steamship Co. was scheduled to stop today at La Ceiba, control point of Standard operations, to bring out any refugees wishing to leave. The Contessa sailed from Puerto Cabezas with the last of the women and children in the bandit zone of Nicaragua and was expected to reach New Orleans at the end of the week.

Volunteers Battle Three Forest Fires

Prince Georges Companies Fight Blazes Sweeping Over 1,500 Acres.

Three large forest fires in the north end of Prince Georges County kept volunteer fire companies busy all yesterday afternoon, burning over more than 1,500 acres of ground, and destroying a quantityt of lumber.

The largest was one between Bowie and Riverdale, along Telegraph road, which burnt off all timber over an area of about 1,000 acres, menacing a number of houses. All the companies in the north end of the county, as well as those from Silver Spring and Takoma Park, were called out to fight this blaze. Some fresh cut lumber, in the two-mile path of the fire, was also burned.

The Silver Spring and Takoma Park companies also fought another blaze northwest of Beltsville, which burnt over an area of about 500 acres. These two companies, which are located in Montgomery County, came into action on a special fire call.

The third fire was along the Eastern branch below Beltsville, and was confined to a small area.

Midwest Spring Is Routed by Snow

Freezes Expected After Chilly Rains Dampen Wide Section.

Kansas City, April 20 (A.P.).—Freezing temperatures wer expected by Government forecasters to follow tonight in the wake of snow flurries and wintry rains which banished balmy spring weather from the Rockies through the Missouri Valley and southward to the Texas Panhandle today.

A temperature of 15 above zero was forecast for Denver, where winter and spring played tag today, and freezes, seen as a menace to early farm crops, were predicted for South Dakota, parts of Kansas, and northwest and west central Oklahoma.

Snow fell today in Wyoming, Montana, eastern Colorado, western Nebraska, St. Joseph, Mo., and northern Oklahoma, in most sections following a chilly rain.

SECOND RATE CHIEFS BLAMED FOR REVOLT

was given the president. The unique composition of the Honduran Congress, consisting of 23 Liberals, 22 Conservatives and one independent increases the significance of this vote, it was said.

Suggestions that the Honduran revolt might have some remote connection with the activities of insurrectionists in Nicaragua operating in the name of Augusto Sandino were characterized by Dr. Perdomo as "impossible."

EXPERT JOINS STAFF FOR BRIDGE CONTEST

Famous Tourney Manager Is Coming to Serve as Special Adviser.

A. Philip Stockvis, chairman of the committee on arrangements, planning the first annual bridge tournament of Washington players, sponsored by The Washington Post, has invited R. E. Needham, of Greenville, Pa., celebrated tournament manager, to come to Washington for a conference with respect to the forthcoming competition.

Mr. Needham has conducted events of this character for many years and achieved a reputation in the bridge world, in addition to being one of the recognized experts at the game. The Tristate Tournament, which is a big event among bridge fans, is one of his notable successes. It embraces club players from the three States of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia and is held at Uniontown.

Mr. Needham will be at the New Shoreham, where the local tournament is to be held, and will confer with members of the committee and others interested in the project regarding the program of events which the series of plays will include, and the mechanics of proper procedure.

Trophies Are Being Engraved.

The handsome silver trophies which The Post will award to the winners in the advanced and intermediate classes of both forms of the game, contract and auction, have been acquired, and when engraved will be placed on display for the inspection of the participants and the public. They are worthy of the best skill that can be exhibited at the game and will prompt keen competition. Watch The Post for an announcement of the place where they will be set up for showing and for a description of each.

Those who have worked hard in arranging the tournament and have developed it to the point where its success is assured, are desirous of impressing upon those who have entered, as well as those who are yet to file their applications, the necessity of regarding it as a fixed engagement which should not be broken except for the most urgent and unavoidable reason.

Each entrant will be assigned to a classification, a section and a table, with carefully prepared instructions, and the absence of any player means the breaking of a team and the embarrassment of at least three other players to whom, in that circumstance, must be allocated a fourth before the playing can proceed.

Evening Play to Be Permitted.

Teams to which it may be necessary to assign "pinch hitters" by reason of the failure of the regular player to appear, will naturally be handicapped at the outset. Therefore, in justice to all the committee urges that entrants regard the tournament as a date which they can not in courtesy fail to keep.

In order to avoid any such occurrances, or at least reduce them to a minimum, the committee is endeavoring so to adjust its program that those who would find it inconvenient if not impossible to take part in afternoon sessions, will be enabled to play at evening sessions.

The event is to be one which will be marked as a social affair in Washington, as well as a test of skill at the popular game. It will be an interesting and helpful experience for bridge players. Then too, don't forget the beautiful prizes which await the winners.

The dates are May 14, 15 and 16, and the place is the New Shoreham Hotel.

estly appropriated or dishonestly recommended."

Of the whole petition against him, Mayor Walker says "In fact, most of these charges were made during the 1929 mayoralty campaign as a result of which the electorate approved of my administration by a vote which was more than double that of my opponent."

The reply covers the board of standards and appeals, department of licenses, condemnation proceedings, health department, director of budget, department of hospitals, dock department and the sinking fund commission, recalcitrant officials and the grand jury, police department and magistrates' courts. All were attacked in the petition.

Dealing with the steps taken in the current appellate division's inquiry into the magistrates' courts, the several items recite the resignation of magistrates, the indictment of so-called "unknown men" and other developments brought out during the vice and graft inquiries.

Appointments Are Cited.

The mayor cites the appointment of George V. McLaughlin, Joseph A. Warren, Grover A. Whalen and Edward P. Mulrooney, successively, as police commissioners, as "the best evidence of the mayor's intent to keep the police department free from improper influences."

"Instead," he says, "of neglecting the police department as charged, this administration has set an example to every other city in the country by developing the force, encouraging the men and greatly improving their economic independence and morale."

WELCOME ENJOYED BY SIAM'S ROYALTY

Smiling King, Queen Show Selves to Waiting Crowds Along Route.

On Board Imperial Siamese Special Train En Route to New York, Paynesville, Minn., April 20 (A.P.).—North Dakota and Minnesota today extended their welcome to the King and Queen of Siam as they sped eastward in their special train to New York and Washington, there to be officially greeted by the President of the United States.

Crowds gathered at each point along the route, hoping for a glimpse of King Prajadhipok and Queen Rambai Barni and in only a few instances were they disappointed.

The king, who will undergo an operation for a cataract on his eye at Baltimore, nodded and smiled to the crowds from his seat in the observation car. Queen Rambai Barni bowed and smiled her thanks for a bouquet of roses given her at Enderlin, N. Dak.

Both appeared refreshed and rested as the train neared St Paul, Minn., after a night of rest during which the special slowed to 20 miles an hour at times to permit the king to sleep more comfortably.

The king's personal physician pronounced the monarch's health as unchanged. He is suffering from bronchial trouble and is recovering from malaria.

The queen, indisposed yesterday from a cold, appeared completely recovered.

The royal party, which also includes Prince Svasti, father-in-law and uncle of the king, entered the United States at Portal, N. Dak., last night where they were met by representatives of President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson.

The king's special, consisting of a baggage car, day coach, diner, four pullmans and an observation car, is due in Chicago at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

MONTGOMERY'S TAX CITY LEVY REVIEWED

Interfederation Group Told Survey Will Be Ready for May Meeting.

Comparison of tax burdens in suburban Montgomery County and Northwest Washington was discussed last night at the interfederation conference at the United States Chamber of Commerce by Frederic Lee, of the Montgomery County Federation.

Mr. Lee told the federation delegates that he is now at work on a survey which will give a complete picture of the tax situation in the county and Northwest Washington. Mr. Lee said that he would present this survey, together wtih recommendations at the May meeting of the Montgomery County Federation.

A preliminary report received from Edwin S. Heges, of the Washington Federation, on gas rates, recommended that the gas system be modernized to increase the pressure and thereby meet demands from consumers. The report stated that the Public Utilities Commission is doing all it can, and the gas company was commended for a fair handling of the situation.

Stephen James, president of the Montgomery County Federation, reviewed legislation enacted by the Maryland Legislature which will be beneficial to Montgomery County. He made special mention of the legislation to eliminate unsightly signboards and the authorization of the bond issue for the purchase of park lands under the Crampton bill.

POST-ZAIN CONTEST PROVING GREAT FUN

One day to go!

So come on all of you ad writing fans who hope to be in at the finish of the second lap of The Post-Zain Amateur Ad Writing Contest.

The deadline is tomorrow noon, and there is a $100 cash prize at stake, not to speak of 175 additional awards. Five of the latter will be distributed by each of our 36 cooperating advertisers.

In case you haven't been following our story, there is an even large prize at stake at the end of the seven weeks, and a number of attractive special awards. A cash prize of $1,000 will go to the author of the best ad.

Writing Ads Is Fun.

And in case you heard an unusual commotion in your neighbor's house last night, and didn't know exactly what it was, we have it from reliable sources that it was a Post-Zain party in progress.

Not that a commotion is absolutely necessary to the success of a Post-Zain party, but the guests usually have so much fun writing ads for the contest, and in judging the best ones for submission to The Post-Zain Ad Writing Contest Editor, that the commotion usually follows.

Anyway, that's what all of the noise was about you heard next door last night. So in self defense you ought to hold a little Post-Zain party of your own tonight. Put your guests to work writing amateur ads about the 35 advertisers participating in the conest. Pick out the best ones written, and send them in in time for tomorrow's deadline. You may win some money for your friends. For amusement, it's got card games whipped 50 ways for Sunday.

No Experience Necessary.

You don't have to know anything about writing advertising to win in the Post-Zain contest, and the sooner you find that out, the sooner you will be writing ads every week until the competition closes five weeks from tomorrow. It is never too late to enter. Prizes of equal value are distributed every week.

Read the rules carefully, and study the list of advertisers printed elsewhere. Write your ad on a piece of paper about twice the size of a postcard, using a separate piece of paper for each ad. In the upper left hand corner write the name of the firm you are advertising, and on the reverse side write your own name, address and telephone number. Write your name and address on the envelope you send in to the contest editor.

Underwood & Underwood, photographers at 1230 Connecticut avenue northwest, are going to thank all those who have written ads in the Post-Zain Ad Writing Contest, in a special radio program at 6:15 tonight over WRC.

Use Exclusive Method.

The new Beidler-Viken method of taking child portraits, used exclusively here by Underwood & Underwood, should provide you with excellent material for an amateur ad. With this high speed camera no posing is necessary to obtain portraits as natural as life itself. And remember, turn your dials to WRC at a quarter past six.

Have you tried an ad on D. J. Kaufman, Inc., specialists in men's wear. If you don't already know the advantages of Kaufman Klothes, you might get inspiration for an ad from "Radio Joe" and his budget boys. Tune in on Station WMAL at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

And perhaps you did not know that it is careful blending of the choicest coffee beans that gives that "just wonderful" flavor to Wilkins Coffee, roasted and delivered daily right here in town. Write a Wilkins ad as you sip your morning cup of coffee.

You will find the very latest in plumbing equipment in the up-to-date plumbing establishment recently occupied by Thomas E. Clark, Inc., at 3407 Connecticut avenue northwest. One of your fans suggested "tub shopping" at Clark's, and won a merchandise award last week from The Post.

And there is the Home Laundry to write about. "Saving and Serving You," they check and double check each article they launder. Courteous drivers deliver your wash, done up in a fashion that delights the heart of a housewife.

A typical prize winning ad for the first week of ad test, submitted by Miss Blanche Bennett of 1240 Neal street northeast, for D. J. Kaufman, Inc. Radio Joe, who is located at Fourteenth and I streets, 1005 Pennsylvania avenue, 1744 Pennsylvania avenue.

There is Radio Jack and Radio Jill,
And Radio Jim and Jean—
So many, in fact, I'll bet you don't know
What all these people mean!

Whose name is quite easy to guess—
He stands for a square deal every day,
And the finest in men's dress!

Not only that, but the Budget Boys
Who help him with his bit,
Express the thought you can buy on time
At a price that makes a hit.

The values are great, all men agree,
And the styles are the kind you like;
So stand by, folk and listen hard
When Radio Joe's at the "mike."

Each Tuesday evening 7:30 o'clock Comes a program of values and joys—
Tune in on Station WMAL
And hear Radio Joe and his Budget Boys!

"Men's Wear You'll Be Proud to Wear."

RULES FOR CONTEST

1—$10,000 in prizes to be distributed over seven weeks of amateur ad writing.
2—$1,000 in cash will be given for the best ad written by an amateur during the entire Post-Zain ad-writing campaign. To compete for this prize it will be necessary for contestants to write at least one ad about each of the 35 firms participating in the ad contest.
3—Grand weekly award of $100 will be given each week for the best ads during six periods of the ad-writing contest.
4—Five merchandise prizes for each of the 35 concerns will be given weekly during six weeks of the campaign.
5—Ads for the second week of the Post-Zain ad-writing campaign must be received prior to noon, Wednesday, April 22.
6—Ads submitted in competition for the grand award of $1,000 must be received prior to midnight, May 27.
7—Any one anywhere may compete for the prizes with the exception of newspaper employes and members of the advertising profession.
8—There are no obligations. No coupons to clip, no entrance fees to pay, no subscriptions to buy. One person may submit as many ads as he chooses. The more ads you write, the more prizes you may receive. The Post-Zain ad-writing contest may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about one or all concerns.
9—Write your ideas on one side only of a sheet of paper at least twice the size of a postcard. Place the name of the concern about which you are writing in the upper left-hand corner of the page. Place your own name and address, also telephone number, on the reverse of the advertisement and the envelope. Your contribution may be a slogan, a poem, a regular advertisement, a letter of testimonial, or an essay.
10—Winning advertisements will be selected by a committee of advertising experts. In the event of a tie, awards will be made to both.
11—All advertisements received become the property of the concerns about which they are written.

Ad-Writing Suggestions.

Prizes are given for ideas, not for grammar, spelling, punctuation, art work or layout.
Your ideas are likely to be new and original; your idea may win one or more prizes.
If you are not familiar with the advertisers about whom you are asked to write ads, study their service and merchandise; visit their shops, ask questions, and then jot down your ideas simply. Be brief and to the point.
If you can write a letter, you can write an ad. Get members of your family and your friends interested. Encourage them to write winning ads.

SPAIN ORDERS CASH REMOVALS STOPPED

Bank Depositors Are Given Thirty Days to Put Money Back.

Madrid, April 20 (A.P.).—Seeking to stop heavy withdrawals of Spanish cash and securities, the government today decreed that depositors must restore their money to banks within 30 days or "strict measures will be taken against them."

Minister of Finance Indalecio Prieto said in an interview that many persons were withdrawing their funds for speculation abroad and thereby were lowering the values of Spanish ecurities.

"The government invites those people to restore their moneys to the banks," he said, "and gives them four weeks to do so. After that strict measures will be taken against them.

"The exodus of moneys from the bank of Spain was due to the fact that private banks were withdrawing money to satisfy the demands of their clients. The Morgan credit has been rescinded but those who affirm that the government lacks means to defend the peseta are in error. Measures for the stabilization of the peseta will be submitted to the Cortes."

The cabinet, pleased with the continued tranquility of the country, is meeting every night to a late hour to grapple with administrative problems and questions of general policy. Matter susceptible to controversy such as the separation of church and state and the division of huge landed estates will be left as much as possible to the new assembly, scheduled to be elected in May and convened in June.

Universities throughout the country opened today after being closed for several weeks and undergraduates came back to their studies from many points. The schools were closed by the monarchy at Easter after students had staged numerous uprisings in support of a republican form of government.

Baltimorean Held In $54,000 Theft

Contracting Firm's Former Cashier Is Arrested in Nearby Town.

Baltimore, Md., April 20 (A.P.).—Lindsay L. Baugher, 40, former cashier of the Arundel Corporation, a contracting firm, was arrested today a short time after he had been presented by the grand jury for alleged grand larceny of $54,000 of the corporation's funds.

Baugher was arrested in Westminster, where he went on business for the chemical corporation by which he is now employed. His bail was set at $50,000.

Officials of the Arundel Corporation who testified before the grand jury, said Baugher, married and the father of one child, was a trusted employe for many years, but was discharged late last year. The thefts had been concealed by alteration of books, they said. The pepulations were said to have taken place over a period of seven years.

Search for Man Leads To Still's Confiscation

Tenth Precinct police, going to an address on Park road near Eleventh street northwest yesterday to seize a man wanted for assault, failed to get him, but arrested another and confiscated a 150-gallon still, 6 barrels of mash, 236 gallons of whisky and sundry paraphernalia for manufacturing spirituous beverages.

U. S. FLAG PROJECT APPROVED BY SIMON

Work as Sponsored by Post Makes for Patriotism, Rabbi Says.

Praising the doctrine of sane and rational patriotism taught by the United States Flag Association in the recent European trip contest conducted by the flag association with the cooperation of The Washington Post, Rabbi Abram Simon, president of the Synagogue Council of America, nationally known Jewish leader, yesterday joined his voice to that of Bishop James E. Freeman in congratulations to The Post and the flag association for the conduct of the contest.

"I have never before known an undertaking of this kind to be carried on in such an effective way," Rabbi Simon wrote, "and through the series of short, admirable articles by Col. Moss which The Post published daily for almost two weeks there was spread among hundreds of thousands the gospel of sane and rational patriotism."

Rabbi Simon's letter follows: "It was with interest and pleasure that I read Bishop Freeman's splendid letter which you published yesterday commending the United States Flag Association and The Washington Post for the wonderfully fine, dignified and sensible way in which was conducted the recent Envoy of Friendship essay contest among the high schools of Washington.

"I have never before known an undertaking of this kind to be carried on in such an effective way, and through the series of short, admirable articles by Col. Moss which The Post published daily for almost two weeks there was spread among hundreds of thousands the gospel of sane and rational patriotism—an enlightened patriotism in keeping with the modern age of the radio, the airplane, and the airship in which we are living; a patriotism whose spirit of tolerance, understanding, sincerity and justice spells true love of country and will lay as nothing else will the foundation for the establishment of lasting peace among the nations of the world.

"Again do I congratulate the United States Flag Association and The Washington Post on their fine work conducted in such a fine way."

Julian Gets Brief Delay On Extortion Motion

Laredo, Tex., April 20 (A.P.).—Attorneys defending C. C. Julian, Oklahoma and California oil man, charged with attempting to extort $50,000 from Lamar S. Boiling, of San Antonio, former business associate, today were given until 9 a. m. tomorrow to prepare a motion for continuance.

Detectives Follow Jaynes Death Lead

Two Sergeants Are Sent to Quiz Two Youths Held at Richmond.

Two Washington detectives went to Richmond yesterday to question two youths who are held in that city as suspects in the murder of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, cashier of the Garden T. Shoppe at 1835 Columbia road northwest, during a holdup April 3.

Detective Sergts. George Darnell and Robert Barrett made the trip. One of the youths is said to have been partially identified by one of the witnesses of the shooting.

Those held are John Kelly and Charles Crew, both 20 years old, who were arrested there with a car in their possession, which is believed to have been stolen. Both are charged with carrying concealed weapons. They are said to have been in Washington at the time of the fatal holdup.

Padlock Granted U. S. But Bond Halts Closing

Another padlock injunction was granted the Government yesterday when Justice Jennings Bailey signed an order closing the premises at 408 Sixth street northwest, which is just across the street from Police Court, for a period of one year.

However, Assistant United States Attorney Harold Orcutt consented to allow the place to remain open when Margaret May Price posted a $1,000 bond to insure against any further liquor law violations there. Attorney John Lewis Smith, appearing for Mrs. Price, consented to the decision for her.

Woman Given Divorce; Suit Named Alice Brady

Detroit, Mich., April 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. Bernice McClellan, who named Alice Brady, stage and motion picture actress, as corespondent, was granted a divorce today from Donald C. McClellan, former actor, by Circuit Judge Arthur Webster. McClellan did not appear to contest the suit.

Mrs. McClellan testified she called her husband by telephone while he was in Nassau, N. Y., and that while she was talking to him she heard a woman exclaim, "Hurry up, darling." She said she recognized the voice as that of Miss Brady.

It would cost $2,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

BETTER FOREIGN TRADE.

Export and import figures for March are particularly interesting because they show a definite upturn of international trade for the first time in several months. Officials of the Department of Commerce describe the improvement as largely seasonal. Nevertheless, it offers evidence of better business conditions. Taken together with the gradual expansion of industrial pay rolls, these figures show that business is on the upgrade.

The most interesting feature of America's international trade during recent months is the diminution of the favorable balance. In March the excess of exports over imports amounted to only $26,000,000, compared with $69,000,000 a year ago and with $106,000,000 in March, 1929. Exports last month were valued at $237,000,000 and imports at $211,000,000. It should be noted that imports gained $36,000,000 over the preceding month, while exports made a gain of about $13,000,000, or a little more than one-third as much. Evidently foreigners are not shut out of the American market.

The state of foreign trade is a reflection of the world-wide business depression. Purchasing power has not declined so much in this country as it has in the rest of the world. Therefore, the market for foreign goods, both free and dutiable, has been better in the United States than in most countries. On the contrary, the people to whom American goods are exported have a smaller margin between their normal incomes and poverty. When struck by the depression they had less to spend for foreign foods, and the market for American exports diminished rapidly.

In view of this condition how can it be reasonably argued that the vast American market, greater than any other in the world, should be bartered away for the privilege of exporting American goods to the narrower markets of other countries? If all tariff barriers were removed the United States might hope to increase its output of a few commodities to a limited extent, but all the world would pour goods upon the American market at a rich profit to foreigners, at the expense of American wage earners. No foreign market is sufficiently lucrative to justify the United States in opening its own market to exploitation by foreigners with lower standards of living.

WORLD DRUG CONTROL.

Americans have a vital interest in the narcotic drug conference to be held at Geneva next month. It is estimated that from 100,000 to 1,000,000 addicts in this country are able to supply themselves with habit-forming drugs, brought from abroad. Other countries that are not so interested in stamping out this vicious traffic allow the manufacture of drugs to continue without regard for medicinal needs. Authorities are generally agreed that it is impossible to abolish the narcotic traffic until control over factories throughout the world has been established.

Many efforts have been made to end the traffic in narcotics through international agreement, but without much success. As early as 1912 a convention for the control of production and distribution of narcotics was agreed to at The Hague. But its application was interrupted by the war, and it never did become effective. Efforts have been made to control the raw materials from which drugs are made, but the restrictions have never been universal, and so long as one country continues producing others are loath to quit. Thus the drug traffic flourishes in most parts of the world in contravention of all common sense. In the United States, where the domestic supply is reserved for medicinal use and strict regulations are enforced to avoid smuggling, a half ton of drugs valued at $7,000,000 was confiscated in one raid recently.

The American delegates to the forthcoming conference will ask other countries to do no more than this country has already accomplished. If all governments would forbid the manufacture of narcotics, except for medicinal use, the illicit traffic would be eradicated. Narcotics are manufactured in costly plants which are easily controlled. Bootlegging is next to impossible when the supply is under rigid control. But it remains to be seen whether the drug-producing countries are willing to give up what must be a lucrative trade.

There are some complications to a world-wide agreement to limit the output. Some countries do not manufacture narcotics and must import from other nations. What countries shall be allowed to supply these demands? How shall the medicinal needs of each country be determined? Drug exporting countries may take advantage of these controversial points to frustrate the work of the conference. Unfortunately the selfishness of a small minority may render futile the humanitarian efforts of the rest of the world.

THE SOVIET LASH.

Herbert Spencer, British philosopher of the nineteenth century, foresaw that "communism would produce a community of human ants and bees, and would result in slavery far more monotonous and hopeless than the present condition of affairs." Pointing out the vast differences between economic and political relationships, he held that no government could operate industry and business without an enslaving bureaucracy.

"Under the compulsion which socialism would necessitate," he said, "the regulators, pursuing their personal interests, would not be met by the combined resistance of all workers; and their power, unchecked as now by refusals to work save on prescribed terms, would grow and ramify and consolidate until it became irresistible."

Events in Soviet Russia prove the keenness of Spencer's insight. At the beginning of the communistic experiment it was a glorious scheme for making all men equal and rewarding them all on the same terms. But the leaders found that it was necessary for the realization of that fanciful ideal to force every one to work. In the last few years they have learned that even forced work is not successful, and they are now returning to the capitalistic method of special rewards.

A dispatch from Moscow explains a new wage system that is to be introduced next month. Wages will be paid to workers in every mine, factory or farm in proportion to the output of that economic unit. If a factory increases its output wages will be automatically increased. If production falls off superintendents and workers in the factory will be subjected to heavy penalties. Within each manufacturing, mining and farming group the piecework system will be introduced. The Soviet will then have a double lash to its whip. The individual may face starvation either through his own failure to produce satisfactorily or through failure of the group of which he is a part.

There can be no doubt that the reds are gradually abandoning the ideology of communism. Economic equality made a cogent appeal to the Russian peasants. But it only weakened the steam roller with which the Communist leaders hope to flatten out mankind on a common level. So principle has been sacrificed to economic strength. Bolshevism has lost whatever humanitarian ideals it may have had and only the superstructure of an economic dictatorship remains. The Soviet Union is evolving into a capitalistic oligarchy. With all hope of utopian equality gone, the people are being driven by a gigantic and powerful machine for the sole purpose of strengthening that machine, so that it may crush them and the rest of mankind. History reveals few movements fraught with more bitter irony.

INDIA'S NEW VICEROY.

Lord Willingdon's return to India was in the nature of a triumphal entry. The new viceroy is no stranger to the problems that lie in the way, but his first utterance upon arrival at Bombay was to pledge himself to exert every effort for a free India with full dominion status in the British Empire. Undismayed by the renewed demonstrations of racial antipathy between the Moslems and the Hindus, and Mahatma Gandhi's failure to effect a settlement of the communal issues, the new viceroy gives unconditional promises of aid for India's political aspirations.

Fresh from the governor-generalship of such a self-governing country as Canada, Lord Willingdon made eloquent appeal to the people and princes to help him "lead India rapidly toward the goal of responsible government and a position of absolute equal partnership with other dominions under the British crown."

Before coming to Canada Lord Willingdon was governor of Bombay and Madras. Returning after six years, both he and Countess Willingdon were given unusual testimonials of welcome. Their frank and unaffected cordiality toward old friends and associates and the absence of much of the formality of official receptions seemed to be a happy augury of sympathetic understanding between the viceroy and the people of India.

Even more impressive than the official interchanges and solemn promises remained the cordial personal relations at once established by England's new ruler in India. He delayed formal ceremonies while he greeted maharajas, nawabs, baronets, knights, sardars, ministers of state and many lesser citizens. Altogether from the cable reports it is gathered that the task of reestablishing good relations is in the best of hands, and the new viceroy will do all he can, not only to improve the feeling in India but to forward the negotiations at the forthcoming sessions of the round-table in London that will endeavor to make more definite adjustment of Indian problems.

The less favorable conditions threatening negotiations are found in the fact that Gandhi will be handicapped because he has been unable to reconcile the religious differences that he himself considered vital and that he may not long be able to restrain the more aggressive political leaders. Vallashi Patel, president of the Indian National Congress, is clamoring for action. He wants to renew the "civil disobedience" campaign, claiming that the British have not lived up to the agreement made between Gandhi and Lord Irwin for the release of all political prisoners. So, while quiet again reigns for the moment, the situation in India is still a very delicate one.

SILVER'S LAST STAND.

The problem of silver is to be investigated in the far reaches of the world by three members of the Senate. The committee on foreign affairs appointed a subcommittee to study commercial relations with China, and this subcommittee has selected a triumvirate that will, between now and the assembling of the solons in December, prepare themselves to elucidate the enigma of demonetization of silver and report just what relation its fall from high estate has to do with the world-wide economic depression.

The last Congress adopted a resolution authorizing the President to call an international conference on silver with a view to considering the effects of uncoordinated selling, not to say dumping, of silver on the market by nations that were its erstwhile friends, and whether stabilization measures, if not remonetization honors, might not be worked out to help a sick commodity which India no longer loves and China is too poor to buy.

Since the President and members of his official family have had their hands more than full recently with sick wheat, cotton, sugar and oil, nothing has been done about an international consultation that would likely turn out to be only a post mortem. However, Congress is to have some first-hand information as to how the situation in other lands looks as viewed through senatorial glasses.

The silver miners who appeared before the Senate committee were unanimous in their testimony that something must be done in behalf of their metal. Silver must be rehabilitated, they think, if the existing depression is to be remedied. The foreign affairs subcommittee has delegated Senators Swanson, of Virginia, and Shipstead, of Minnesota, to visit European countries this summer to institute investigations with regard to silver. The chairman of the committee, Senator Pittman, of Nevada, will go to China to see why the yellow people can not consume more white metal. It is a valiant campaign to restore to special favor a product that, along with many other commodities, has reached the limbo of overproduction.

Various suggestions are being made to remove part of the traffic from Pennsylvania Avenue leading to the Capitol. Maybe the problem could be solved by allowing bootleggers to establish a plant in the vicinity of the Capitol.

When a committee of the National Republican Club criticizes Mayor Walker because it does not like the way he spends his unofficial hours it is a sign that it has no case against him as Mayor of New York.

If prohibition is repealed, says Henry Ford, wages will be reduced. He must have been thinking of policemen.

It's a big revolution nowadays that commands attention for two whole days.

FOUR-DAY LINERS

From the New York Herald Tribune.

The Cunard Line's plans for a second superliner similar to the one now under construction on the Clyde, centers attention once more on Laurence R. Wilder's spectacular proposal in 1928 to build a fleet of American flag liners that would make the Atlantic crossing in four days flat.

Although Mr. Wilder's proposal was ridiculed at the time, events have since proved that his program to place the American merchant marine in a dominant position on the transatlantic was entirely feasible. Many of his ideas as to speed, luxury, government insurance, quick turn-arounds and other matters have been incorporated in part by the North German Lloyd with the Bremen and Europa and will be followed to a greater degree in the super-Cunarder now under construction and her proposed sister ship.

While little has been heard from Mr. Wilder since he failed to carry out his program, it is reliably reported that he still has faith in establishing a fast American-flag express service on the north Atlantic, and is now working on a plan that will be just as spectacular and as far in advance of the times as was his original proposal to build a fleet of 32-knot Atlantic liners equipped with airplanes to shorten even further the ocean voyage.

The Cunard Line's program was revealed by Sir Percy Bates, chairman of the board, on his arrival here last Friday. While he refrained from mentioning the speed at which the Cunard Line plans to operate the ships, he did say that the company would maintain a weekly express service from both sides of the Atlantic with its two superliners.

This means that the ships probably will have a maximum speed of 32 knots and will make the Atlantic crossing in four days flat. Because of improved methods of operation the ships will be able to make quick turn-arounds instead of lying idle at New York or Southampton for two or three days. Every hour a liner remains in port means a loss in revenue.

While the Cunard Line undoubtedly will attempt to regain the Atlantic speed honors which the Mauretania lost to the Bremen and Europa, shipping experts are of the opinion that the British ships will have to show a speed of at least 32 knots in order to win back their laurels. They base their opinion on the belief that the two German liners have never been pushed to their utmost, but have merely been operated at a speed just fast enough to hold the speed records. The experts think that when the new supertonnage enters service the Bremen and Europa will be able to do 32 knots whenever called upon to meet the challenge of their rivals.

These various building programs on the part of the Cunard, French, Canadian Pacific, Navigazione, Generale Italiana and Lloyd Sabaudo lines, each one of which have at least one superliner either nearing completion or in the initial stages of construction, also focuses attention on the fact that the United States has not, as yet, done anything in the way of going ahead with its proposed superliners. The United States Lines completed its plans for two monster ships, but it is unlikely that they will even be built until Congress increases the rate of mail pay for the speed at which these ships will be operated.

Advocates of a powerful American merchant marine have frequently declared that the United States will never be a truly great maritime power until it is represented in the highly competitive transatlantic trade with superliners that will equal and even surpass the outstanding ships flying foreign flags.

In these times of naval disarmament the supership plays even a more important role, as many vessels of this class would be valuable to the Navy in the event of an national emergency. With their great speeds and cruising radius, to say nothing of a battery of guns which are provided for when the vessels are designed, they would prove effective as naval auxiliary units.

POST HASTE.

If the Devil Dogs return from Central America with a hang-dog expression don't blame the Navy Department.

Precautionary diagrams might be distributed generally down south in Spanish, Indian, Maya, Aztec and Inca so that outlaw bands will not confuse international principles with unbridled pillage rights.

Several American organizations are always quick to applaud any international equalization policy—particularly those leveling the United States to the status of Central American republics. Their initials do not include D. A. R.

The new Spanish republic will doubtless expect to rate American recognition under our South American rather than our Central American rules.

The Secretary of State's office was rather cluttered up yesterday with contributions from busybodies who insist on quoting declarations from Jefferson, Cleveland, Roosevelt, Coolidge, Hughes and Hoover on the protection of American life and property abroad.

An indignant protest denies that Chairman Shouse has aspirations for the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination. He has his eye on another job, one step up.

Washington clean-up week has started—now don't wait for Saturday.

The Soviet, having demonstrated that it can't make workers all of a piece, will now restore piece work.

There is no "manana" business about the way the new Spanish government is stepping on the gas instead of spouting it. If it can hold the pace it should beat the Communists.

It begins to look like a game between Nicaragua and Honduras to see which can attract most American warships. P. H.

JUST FOLKS

JANET'S VALUE.

How much do I think of you? Well, I don't know
How to tell precisely, but let us suppose
That a fairy should hop from the bud of a rose
And waving her wand, saying: "Presto! Behold!
Here is a mountain of silver and gold!
It's all yours if you'll just let your little girl go!"
I'd shout: "I'll not trade you the tip of her nose!"

Then if she should show me a castle complete,
All furnished and ready and fit for a king
With servants my dinners on salvers to bring,
And say: "You may live here your whole life long through,
But give me that Janet the Lord gave to you,
And let mine be her kisses so tender and sweet."
I'd say: "Don't be silly! I'll do no such thing!"

How much do I love you? Well, that I can't say,
But for all that a fairy could conjure up here,
Great ships on the ocean; the tall buildings near,
The gold in the banks; all the lands you can see
And to be just as rich as I've wanted to be,
For all you can think of or dream of today
You can always be sure I'd not trade you, my dear.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

REPUBLICS were established by the blunders of kings.

The people were content as subjects while they believed in the divine right of their rulers. They lived in poverty and endured the burden of taxation without thought of rebellion so long as the king's follies, extravagances and sins were staged in the grand manner, with pomp and ceremony befitting a monarch.

But they did not forgive blunders. Victories preserved the throne; defeats doomed it. To err is human, and a king who makes mistakes is not an instrument of Providence.

When the peasant's thick skull at last was penetrated by the revolutionary idea that kings were capable of stupidities and errors as human as his own, he never again jerked a forelock without resentment. He was ripe for rebellion.

Arms can support any authority while the people are afraid, but no government is long secure if the people do not respect it.

There was a time, not many years ago, when all Americans respected their Government. It was not a feeling of patriotism or loyalty, but a wholesome faith, born of experience, in the Government's unlimited power.

"You may break a State law and get away with it," men said; "but when Uncle Sam gets after you you're a goner."

People respected law because they saw omnipotent and unfailing power behind it.

Then prohibition came, and with it a plague of blunders. Methods of enforcement were without dignity, honor or justice. The poor and the weak were punished and the rich and strong were immune.

Government's unwillingness to enforce the law was interpreted as inability to enforce it. The king was revealed as a mere man, to be judged by human standards.

And then came the comedy of errors called farm relief, culminating in an experiment that every citizen of sound sense recognized as folly.

The people's money was used to buy and hold a surplus that must inevitably hang over the market as a threat and thus depress prices so long as it exists.

Having exposed his weakness, the king now exposed his stupidity.

New York Herald-Tribune.

The unofficial suggestion in Washington that the administration has reached a determination "not to intervene in the internal affairs of any of the Carribbean countries" seem clear misinterpretations of policy which are certain to be approved by no one. The announcement is so set about with reservations to the effect, for instance, that the President is "not abandoning the right to protect the lives of Americans abroad" as to make it wellnigh meaningless. Unfortunately, however, those parts of the declaration which suit Latin-American aims will be cabled to our Southern neighbors, there to arouse hopes which are sure to be dashed to the ground. Another opportunity is being afforded the anti-American politician to charge the United States with hypocrisy.

The Missouri Senatorship.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

Inasmuch as Col. Bennett C. Clark and Senator Harry B. Hawes, of Missouri, have been close friends politically, it is to be presumed that the former's announcement that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for senator from Missouri in 1932 means that Hawes will not seek reelection. Col. Clark, apparently, will have a clear track next year, as far as Senator Hawes is concerned.

Nationwide interest attaches to the announcement of his candidacy by Col. Clark because he is the son of the late Champ Clark, who was Speaker of the National House of Representatives, and for a generation one of the foremost of the national Democratic leaders. The young man's progress toward the realization of his ambition to sit in the Senate will be watched sympathetically by the Democracy of the whole country.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Father Who Has Observed Mistakes of the Past Turns His Guns on Pacifism.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In a letter that appeared in The Post, "a father," pacifist, trained his guns on those who love the homeland well enough to rise in its defense, without notice, if necessary, and are ready to act intelligently when such an emergency arises, because they have in their youth taken some fundamental training to render them efficient.

"The wise man foreseeth the evil and hideth himself, but the simple pass on and are punished," says an old proverb. Why not buy an umbrella and a raincoat, while the price is low, rather than wait until the storm has arrived and have to wait to have some made? If training camps taught the boys to murder helpless individuals, as suggested—which they do not—or if the Army were not a noble calling, his argument might have some weight. But it is an organization of defense for the protection of his family and his property and himself, as well.

One who will call an honest American citizen a "loafer" is beneath notice, and to so designate one whose sole care is to defend our homes against the ravages of war, by staking his life as a hazard, is contemptible. Forces that can not be controlled by our Government are at work in various parts of the world and may break from their present moorings without notice. They will not slacken their advance to give us time to draft and train an army with the inefficient force now at hand. Should the advance be directed toward the "richest country in the world," under these conditions, we would be found in the same rut where we have always been when drawn into a war, because we are "a pacifist nation and never ready for an emergency. Wise forethought would provide against such emergencies.

We got into the World War barely in time to save the Allies from utter destruction, and at what cost in blood and treasure! Those who are in a position to know say that had we begun intelligent preparation at once, when the war started, the cost to the United States would have been less than 25 per cent of what it was, in men and money. Be that as it may, the lesson taught us there has hung upon us a burden so heavy that our children's children may not see the last of it lifted.

Pacifists are always unreasonable. Greely called for "peace at any price," but Mr. Lincoln saw that a permanent peace and a united country was worth a continued struggle and he pursued that road, though difficult, and the pacifists of today are enjoying what Greely and his followers were ready to accept as a temporary truce, even though it divided the Nation. This "father" may not be a grafter in a financial way, but he is the worst kind of a moral grafter, for he scoffs at those who, with a far vision would protect all that we hold dear, and attempts to dissuade those who are willing to assist. ANOTHER FATHER.

Tribute to Heroic Dead Should Be Restored at the Gate of Arlington.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Before the present gates were placed at the Fort Myer entrance of the Arlington Cemetery, above the old gates there was an arch, on which was inscribed the first stanza of a well-known poem:

"On Fame's eternal camping-ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And Glory guards, with solemn round,
The bivouac of the dead."

It is difficult, if not impossible, to provide a more suitable inscription, and it was so appropriate and appealing that many visitors copied it, midst falling tears, for some of their loved ones were "tented" there. Of the thousands of graves, a comparatively small number bear any mark, more than a small stone, large enough only to carry the names of the soldier, his regiment or battery, and the State from which he came—if known.

The restoration of that inscription at the gate would honor all, alike, even tho' the family from which one came could not raise a monument to his memory. Those in charge of such details at that cemetery should at once replace that beautiful tribute, that glorious sentiment in fitting presentation and in permanent form, and it should certainly be done before the beginning of the bicentennial celebration begins. Newly Laid Cement Sidewalks Defaced by Young Hoodlums.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There appeared in The Post of April 17 a very interesting letter relative to vandalism of young hoodlums. One topic not mentioned was pavement defacing.

I doubt that there is a square of newly constructed pavement that does not bear the inscription of some vandal. "Fools' name like fools' faces are always seen in public places." I might add, "and on public sidewalks."

Many towns and cities place assessments upon property owners for renewals of pavement. In cases where these renewals are defaced, warrants are issued and the vandals meet the Juvenile Court judge. H. M. K.

HOOVER DAM AWARD SIGNED BY WILBUR

Preliminary Work Already Begun on Project to Cost $49,000,000.

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur yesterday affixed his signature to the largest engineering construction contract ever awarded, that of the $49,000,000 agreement for building the Hoover Dam.

The contract was signed in the presence of W. A. Bechtel, first vice president of the Six Companies, Inc., who made a 4,000-mile trip from San Francisco to interview Secretary Wilbur in regard to the contract, and Edward J. Harding, managing director of the Associated General Contractors of America.

Six Companies, Inc., was formed especially to undertake construction of the project. Mr. Bechtel said yesterday his company had already expended more than a quarter of a million dollars and that preliminary work is already under way.

The first steps are to construct roads and railways, and this labor is now going on. He said yesterday that the company expected to have more than 1,000 men at work within 90 days. At the peak of construction more than 2,500 will be employed.

After preliminary work of opening rail lines and roads, work will be started on two diversion tunnels to care for the flood hazard along the Colorado River. He estimates that it will take at least a year to complete the tunnels.

Mr. Bechtel said he expected work on the dam to do much toward relief of unemployment and that officials in charge were attempting to establish a liberal wage scale on the project. Considerable savings could be effected on wages for the next year or so, he declared, but the company would make no attempt to pick up labor at the lowest price.

It is hoped to make labor conditions so agreeable, according to Mr. Bechtel, that there will be little turnover in labor. Despite the intense heat of the canyon, it is planned to make conditions in Boulder City, Nev., where most of the workers will live, as agreeable as possible. Mr. Bechtel said cooling systems would be installed in the eating and bunk houses to afford comfort for the workers during their time away from the job.

Montgomery Court Clerk Takes Office

The former chief deputy clerk of the Montgomery County Circuit Court, Clayton K. Watkins, was yesterday sworn in as clerk, to succeed Preston B. Ray, former clerk, who died last week. Mr. Watkins was named Saturday by Chief Judge Hammond Urner and Associate Judges Robert B. Peter and Arthur D. Willard to take his former chief's place.

Immediately after taking oath of office, Mr. Watkins appointed Chief Deputy Miss Margaret E. Scherrer. Other members of the clerical force who were in office at the time of Mr. Ray's death were reappointed. They are Miss Helen Kirkland, Mrs. Warner E. Pumphrey, Miss Elizabeth Virts, Mrs. John E. Ward, Mrs. Lester Bogley and Robert Hughes. Another deputy clerk will be appointed soon, Mr. Watkins intimated.

Hoover to Visit Norfolk Sunday

Plans on Taking Part in Annual Pilgrimage to Cape Henry.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover plans to spend next week-end taking part in the annual pilgrimage to Cape Henry in celebration of the founding of the first white colony in America.

Unless Government business prevents, he will leave for the historic tidewater section of the Old Dominion Saturday afternoon or night and arrive in Norfolk Sunday morning. He will return to the Capital Sunday night.

The invitation to the President to attend the pilgrimage was given several months ago by a group of Virginians who called at the White House with Representative Lankford, of that State. It will be the third week-end in succession the President has spent away from the White House.

Dates for Apple Festival Are Set

May 5 and 6 Are Selected; Girl From England Will Preside.

Winchester, Va., April 20 (A.P.).—The Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival will be held here May 5 and 6, when the 11,000,000 apple trees in Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland are expected to be in full bloom.

Miss Patricia D. Morton, of Winchester, England, will preside over the fete as Queen Shenandoah VIII, while more than 100 princesses, representing cities, counties and States throughout the Middle Atlantic and Southern States will form the regal court.

Festival dates were announced today by Nelson F. Richards, director general of the festival, after a careful survey to determine the blooming time for the trees. The northern part of the Shenandoah Valley is a veritable flower garden during the blooming period.

It would cost $2,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

Castles Give Farewell to Takamatsus

Negro Spirituals Sung by Hampton School Choir After Dinner.

SETTING forth today on another trail to the Land of the Rising Sun Prince and Princess Takamatsu will leave the Capital for Philadelphia, Boston and Montreal carrying with them memories of the last charming gesture extended them as emissaries of the reigning house of Japan—the dinner given last night by the Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr. It was informal with only a few guests invited to meet the royal prince and his bride.

Probably as closely associated with the Empire of Japan as any members of the State Department, the Undersecretary and Mrs. Castle brought together a group charmingly congenial and later in the evening a few additional guests came.

As special Ambassador to Japan during the two or three months of the London naval parley a year ago Mr. Castle's association with the flowery kingdom had a bond more recent than might otherwise have been hoped for within the circle of hosts in Washington, resulting in the small and informal dinner which found the evening's climax in a program of Negro spirituals by the Hampton Institute Chorus, of Hampton, Va.

Envoys, both of the East and West, seem to have a penchant for this appealing music of the Hampton singers. In the days of Mr. Alexander Kirk's famous parties at his house in Georgetown the choir, with its Negro songs, often was the medium of entertainment for his guests. Mr. Kirk is now counselor of embassy at Rome, although he still maintains the interesting house, formerly the Dumbarton Club.

Mr. Kirk's guests, like those of the Undersecretary and Mrs. Castle's, were always few but famous, constituting either a certain distinguished set of Capital society or the smartest and most conservative of the intelligentsia. The drawing rooms in the Georgetown house proved an effective setting for guests fond of music that was "different." Low oriental divans and tables, deep and supmtuous, collected from various parts of the world, formed furnishings, which half a dozen years ago were dubbed "modernistic."

Moseleys to Entertain Hurleys With Dinner.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley will be the guests of honor at a large dinner to be given at the Shoreham Hotel on Wednesday evening by Gen. and Mrs. George Van Horne Moseley.

More than 100 guests from the official and residential circles of Washington will attend the dinner.

Mr. Alexander Legge, president of the International Harvester and former chairman of the Federal Farm Board, is at the Willard.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge will be the guest of honor at the luncheon to be given on Saturday in New York by the New York Alumnae Club of the Pi Beta Phi in celebration of Founder's Day. Mrs. Coolidge is a member of the sorority.

Mrs. Nicholas Brown will sail for Europe on May 5, and does not plan to open her Newport home, Harbour Court, this season. She will return to this country in September. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, are in Rome. Mrs. Brown was before her marriage last fall, Miss Anne Kinsolving, of Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith W. Brookhart, jr., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter on last Friday. Mr. Brookhart is the son of Senator and Mrs. Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa.

Mrs. John W. Morse and Miss Frances Morse, are at the St. Regis Hotel in New York.

Maj. and Mrs. Frank L. Purdon, of Fort Howard, Md., are at the Willard.

Mrs. Fechet, wife of Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton.

Senora Jose de Conto Aguirre, wife of the Naval Attache of the Brazilian Embassy, was the guest of honor at a luncheon at the Shoreham Hotel yesterday by Mrs. R. H. A. Carter and Mrs. Lynn H. Rutter. The party played bridge in the hotel's cardrooms later in the afternoon.

The guests included Mrs. William D. Leahy, wife of Rear Admiral Leahy; Mrs. Lewis Coxe, Mrs. Richard H. Johnston, Mrs. Arthur Dunn and Mrs. Pierre Wilson.

Cram, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sargent Cram, of New York, will take place on the afternoon of May 5 in St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City.

Miss Fell and Miss Drexel were sister debutantes the past season in New York, where Miss Fell spends much of her time.

The other attendants whom Miss Drexel has chosen will be Mrs. Rodman Wanamaker 2d, of Philadelphia, the former Miss Alexandra Van Rensselaer Devereux, for her matron of honor, and her sister, Miss Marjorie G. Drexel, for her maid of honor.

The other bridesmaids will be Miss Eleanor Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, of New York; Miss Edith Cram, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Gertrude S. Vander Poel, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Oakley Vander Poel, and Miss Isabel Davies Thacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Gourlay Thacher, all of New York, and Miss Pauline Munn, daughter of Mrs. M. Paul Munn, of Philadelphia and Paris. Mr. John S. Cram, jr., will be best man for his brother.

The ceremony will be followed by a reception in the ballroom of the Pierre for relatives and close friends of the family.

Comdr. and Mrs. A. M. Charlton entertained at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel on Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Julius Philippi, of Rio de Janeiro, who will leave for New York within the next week. Mr. and Mrs. Philippi plan to return to Washington in May for a stay before returning to South America.

The poetry group of the District of Columbia League of American Pen Women will have a guest program tonight in the Stonleigh Court studio. Ada Borden Stevens, poet and editor, will be guest of honor.

Mrs. Myers Will Recite In Costume

New York Soprano Will Be Heard Today at Country Club.

The National Woman's Country Club will entertain at a luncheon tomorrow at its clubhouse on Bradley boulevard. Following the luncheon, guests will adjourn to the lounge to hear a costume recital given by Mrs. Josephine Forsythe-Myers, soprano, who in private life is the wife of Mr. Philip Andrew Myers, of New York. Mrs. Myers will be accompanied by Mrs. Mary Izant-Couch, of Washington, who will also give two groups of piano solos. Mrs. Myers' program will include folk songs in England in which she will appear in an early English costume; folk songs of the Emerald Isle in Irish costume, accompanying herself on an ancient Irish harp; and a group of old French ballads.

Mrs. Myers will sing for the first time in Washington.

Among those who entertained at the National Woman's Country Club yesterday were Mrs. Arthur MacArthur, jr., Mrs. Royal D. Mead, and Mrs. John W. Guider.

Mrs. Edwin S. Bettelheim, wife of Capt. Bettelheim, entertained a company largely made up of army officers' wives at luncheon yesterday at the Shoreham Hotel in compliment to her house guest, Mrs. George F. Unmacht, of New York, wife of Capt. Unmacht.

The guests were Mrs. H. Edmund Bullis, Mrs. Stirling Kerr, Mrs. George S. Smallman, Mrs. H. A. Seran, Mrs. C. C. Pierce, Mrs. John Thomas Taylor, Mrs. Louis Turner, jr., Mrs. Frederick Warren, Mrs. Bolivar J. Lloyd, Mrs. William A. Caldwell and Mrs. J. A. Matlock.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Storey, of Chicago, who will be guests at the dinner to be given this evening at the Mayflower by the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur for President and Mrs. Hoover, are staying at the Mayflower until Friday.

Prince Bongs To Play With Royal Youth

Envoy Kridakara's Son to Entertain Cousin of King of Siam.

Speeding eastward across the continent with the suite of the King and Queen of Siam is a little prince from Washington, Bongs Amoradat Kridakara, son of Lieut. Gen. Prince Amoradat Kridakara, Minister of Siam, who is official "juvenile entertainer" on the "king's highway," that long stretch of railway between Seattle and New York, being traversed by Siam's monarch.

The young prince accompanied his father for the express purpose of entertaining on the long journey the young cousin of the king, Prince Chirasakti, who accompanied the suite.

The king and queen were met on their arrival in Canada by the Siamese Minister.

Throughout the trip, officials with small sons, will plan for them some means of entertaining the small prince, as well as the son of the minister. In Vancouver Sam and Peter Cromie, sons of the publisher of the Vancouver Sun, trotted out their choicest possessions for the amusement of Prince Chirasakti during the brief stay there. The young prince is interested in the small models of aircraft which all American and Canadian boys of his age take pleasure in operating and inventing.

The royal party will come to Washington Wednesday, April 29, and they will be received by the President and Mrs. Hoover that afternoon and the same evening will be entertained at a state dinner at the White House. This dinner will be the only state entertainment in which the king will take part during his stay, as his health will not permit the usual round of festivities which would ordinarily be accorded a reigning monarch.

Capt. and Mrs. S. A. Greenwell will entertain a company of eighteen at dinner this evening at the Shoreham Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Conrad will return to Washington the latter part of the week from White Sulphur Springs and will be at the Mayflower for an indefinite period. Mrs. Conrad is the former Mrs. Frank W. Bacon, of New York and Washington.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. B. H. Fuller are making a motor trip through several of the Southern States and will return to the city about May 4.

Mr. Su-Lee Chang, attache of the Chinese Embassy, was host to a party at the dinner dance at the Shoreham Hotel on Saturday.

Mrs. Dennis to Give Tea For Kentucky D. A. R.

Mrs. William F. Dennis will entertain a tea this afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock at her home, 1757 R street, when the guests will be Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, president general; the national officers, the vice presidents general and the delegates from Mrs. Dennis' State, Kentucky.

Miss Dorothea Lane has as her guest for a week Miss Elizabeth Ransley, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Harry C. Ransley, of Philadelphia, who is here attending the D. A. R. congress.

Miss Ransley is the youngest chapter regent of the organization.

Mrs. James Ellwood Jones has returned to her home on Belmont road, where she has joined Mr. Jones and their children after a trip to her former home in Pittsburgh.

Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo will be the guest of honor and speaker at the dinner party which the Woman's National Democratic Club will give on Friday evening. He will discuss "'Development of American Life."

The club entertained at its weekly forum luncheon yesterday. Dr. William Knowles Cooper talked of "Present Trends in Government."

The Art and Archaeology League of Washington has issued cards for the next meeting to be held on Saturday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, when Mr. Charles Hazlehurst, will give a talk in the Washington Cathedral on the subject of the Stained Glass Windows, by Lawrence Saint.

Following the talk members and their guests are privileged to visit the bishop's garden.

Mrs. Marie Moore Forrest will be hostess at the dinner tonight at the Arts Club, preceding the presentation of the drama by Sutton Vane, "Outward Bound," by the Arts Club Players.

New Military Attache From Paris Arrives

Col. Francis J. Pillon Comes to Succeed Maj. Lombard.

The new Military Attache of the French Embassy, Col. Francis Jules Pillon, with Mme. Pillon, will arrive in New Yorw today aboard the Ile de France, and will come to Washington immediately. Col. Pillon will fill the vacancy of several months occasioned by the retirement of Brig. Gen. Raymond Cassanave. He has been chief of staff to the military governor of Paris, and will serve also as French Military Attache to Mexico, Panama and Cuba. Col. Pillon will relieve Maj. Emmanuel Lombard, Assistant Military Attache of the Embassy, who has been acting in his place until the arrival of his chief.

Also arriving tomorrow on the Ile de France is Capt. Prince Shimadzu, Japenese Naval Attache in London, who is en route to his home in Japan. Capt. Shimadzu will come to Washington on Thursday, or Friday to pass a few days before continuing his trip to the Orient.

Countess de Chambrun, the sister of the late Representative Nicholas Longworth, will arrive in New York tomorrow on the same ship and will proceed immediately to Cincinnati. The countess, who was formerly Clara Longworth, was in Tunis, where her husband, Count Adelbert de Chambrun is military commander of Tunisia, when she received word of her brother's death. The trip from Africa to France was made by plane, from where she took the first available boat for this country.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cumming Story are at the Willard attending the D. A. R. convention. Mrs. Story was a former president general of the D. A. R.

Mrs. Mary C. Waters, who has spent the past several years in South America and Europe, is in Washington for several weeks and has opened her apartment at the Kedrick. Mrs. Waters will return to Paris the end of May.

Neuritis

There is no pain like Neuritis. There is nothing quite so torturing—so utterly unbearable as Neuritis. It robs life of all joy—and makes people desperate. But Neuritis is not hopeless—it responds to proper treatment. A well-known physician has written us, "Have been drinking Mountain Valley Water for six weeks for Neuritis and am feeling better than I have for two years." Mountain Valley Mineral Water from Hot Springs, Ark., brings relief in Neuritis because it gets at the root of the trouble—it tends to neutralize the acids which are irritating the nerves and retards the further accumulation of these acids by aiding healthy, normal elimination through the kidneys. Renew your hope—learn how Nature can help you. Phone for our booklet today. Met. 1062.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

LAST season my garden was overrun by ants. My peonies, while perhaps not actually injured by ants, were so covered that I hesitated to bring the cut flowers into the house for fear of getting ants in my kitchen. Have you any suggestions that will prevent the increase of these insects this season? MRS. R. T. P.

The easiest way to get rid of ants is to use a scientific preparation, which, while a patented product, is very efficacious. If you care to write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I shall be glad to tell you the name of this product.

Please tell me the best remedy for rose bushes which become covered with mildew year after year.
MRS. CHARLES G. Y.

The best remedy for rose bushes which are covered with mildew or attacked by black spots, is to dust them with Massey dust. This is a dust composed of nine parts of fine dusting sulphur and one part dry lead arsenate. This dust must reach both sides of the leaves and cover every stem. Apply it when the foliage is damp so that it will adhere. You will have to make several applications several days apart. If your roses are attacked by black spot, collect and burn all fallen leaves, as this will prevent the spread of the disease.

Please tell me whether herbaceous or perennial plants require rich soil. I have just moved into a new home and want to make a good beginning. I am willing to spend both time and money on this first work. Later I suppose I shall again apply to you for aid. JOSEPHINE H. W.

Nearly all plants in herbaceous borders are gross feeders and must be grown in deeply cultivated, well-manured ground. In poor soil they are soon affected by summer drought. If possible, apply a liberal dressing of well-decayed cow manure to your soil. If you can not get well-decayed manure, use both sheep manure and bonemeal. The soil must be deeply and thoroughly prepared. Usually good soil extends down for only a foot and you know some perennials are deep-rooting. Most plants suffer in midsummer when their roots are not in cool moisture-laden soil. Therefore, you should dig the ground to the depth of twenty-four inches and incorporate a great deal of manure with the lower strata of subsoil. While lime is not a plant food, it does make heavy soil looser, makes a sandy soil more compact and sweetens sour soil. I think in a garden which is being planted for the first time it is well to add a little lime, though it would be well to use it sparingly. Your seedsman, who knows soil conditions in your locality, will tell you the proper quantity of lime to use.

Please tell me when to divide roots of bleeding heart.
HARRISON T. P.

These shoots or the roots should be divided just before they start growth.

Please tell me how to propagate heather. I will buy started plants if you think it is best. JAMES T. W.

The propagation of heather is rather difficult for the amateur. It is best to purchase started plants from your dealer.

Are mallows hardy?
MARJORY B. T.

Yes, and they are adaptable. While they prefer a moist soil, they will do equally well in a dry soil in sun or partial shade.

Jane Regny INTERPRETS the MODE

New York, April 20.

A VERY famous couturiere told me there was no fabric like lace for slenderizing a figure and youthifying a woman. Maybe that's what there is about it that makes it the favorite fabric for dressy summer wear. Every season it crops up with renewed vigor, and this season it has even refused to be used just for dressy wear and has gone and got itself woven in wool for daytime wear, too.

Jenny has one ensemble in her collection of creamy beige wool crepe with wide bands of wool lace incrusted in the sleeves of the coat and in the skirt of the dress. Wool lace formed the yoke of the dress, too.

Then there are the lacy jerseys and lacy wools which aren't really laces, but are still less wool—which go to form whole transparent daytime dresses and at least have this in common with lace—they have "holes" in their weave. They are lovely fabrics for cool attire on warm spring days, being lacy, or warm attire for cool summer days—being, after all, woven of wool!

Lace in silk or cotton goes to make many late afternoon and dinner dresses in almost all the collections. Cire or shiny lace is popular for both afternoon and evening wear, and every collection of the Paris Haute Couture had several lace evening gowns, mostly in black, though several houses showed lace evening gowns in golden beige and also in a striking light blue.

There's this about lace, too. It adapts itself so beautifully to almost every degree of formality—from the sumptuous and frothy white lace evening gown to the simple black lace dinner frock.

And, oh, I must tell you about the wonderful evening ensemble I saw at a Gala. The gown was in white taffeta, and a knee-length, wide-sleeved black lace evening coat was worn over it. And stunning it was, too!

* * * *

The great hanger mystery has been solved! No-o-o, not a murder hanger, if you see what I mean, but the mystical problem of what to do with plain hangers that you find in hotels and places that are so bad for your loveliest dresses. It's a trick tie-on covering gadget in chief of the leaflet of gadgets that save time or loveliness that I have prepared for you this week—and for which you'd better sit right down and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. There are milyuns of other gadgets, too, and you'll love them for yourself and for gifts for parties and birthdays. I couldn't begin to tell you what lots of scopes these gadgets cover—what heaps of minutes they save for you to devote to your own loveliness!

* * * *

Stately, gracious—o-o-o-h, all the adjectives in the world wouldn't describe the individual charm of Jane Regny's evening frock that I just had to sketch for you today! It's of glowing yellow crepe romain that lends itself wholeheartedly to intricate draping, which, as you can see, is the whole secret of the frock's beauty. Like a demure, flirtatious fan is the pleated motif at the waist, contradicting the sweep and swirl of the incrusted skirt.

* * * *

Of course, you'll want to read Dare's weekly fashion letter regularly. Look for it in each Sunday's big Washington Post.

YOUR NAME—WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE family name "Brand" is common in both England and Germany. "Brand" appears to have been widely used as a personal name in ancient times in all Teutonic lands, and at the present time it is still so used in Iceland. Its original meaning is "the firebrand" and "the sword." Hence, it belongs to that large group of personal names, so common among the northern European races, which designate weapons and armor. The Hundred Rolls includes the names of John Brand and Robert Brand. In England "Brand" is often merely a variation of "Brant." In Germany "Brand" is often used as a place-name, and as such may be translated "the place which has been cleared by fire." Many German families which bear this name have received it because of an original residence near such a place. It is also true that many German families named "Brand" may trace that name back to the above-mentioned Teutonic personal name meaning "the firegrand" and "the sword." A fairly common modern German variation of this name is "Brandes" which means "the son of Brandt."

The family name "Brandt" is sometimes found in German countries as a variation of "Brand" and "Brandt," but for the most part the spelling "Brant" indicates at least immediate English ancestry. In England, also, "Brant" has very often become confused with "Brand," but there is evidence that in some cases "Brant" is derived from the Old English adjective "brant" meaning "high" and "lofty." In such cases, mostly of northern English origin, it was first applied as a nickname to proud or pompous persons. The Hundred Rolls mentions a certain Wymer Brant.

Helping the Homemaker

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER.

An April Luncheon Menu.

Chilled Diced Fruit
Asparagus Mousse
Creamed Mushrooms
Hot Rolls Currant Jelly
Cheese Loaf Salad
Strawberry Tarts Coffee
Salted Nuts

Asparagus Mousse.

4 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons flour
3 cups milk
4 eggs, beaten
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 cups diced, cooked asparagus
2 tablespoons chopped pimentos
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1 teaspoon chopped onions

Melt butter and add flour. Blend and add milk and cook until thick sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add eggs and beat three minutes. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into shallow pan which has been well buttered. Set in pan of hot water and bake 40 minutes in moderate oven.

Cheese Loaf Salad.

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin mixture
1 cup boiling water
½ cup pineapple juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup yellow cream cheese
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup broken nuts

Pour water over gelatin mixture. Stir until dissolved. Add pineapple juice and salt. Mix well and cool. Allow to thicken a little. Fold in rest of ingredients. Pour into individual molds rinsed out of cold water. Set in cold place to stiffen. Unmold carefully onto lettuce leaves. Top and surround with mayonnaise. Serve at once.

Strawberry Tarts.

2 cups flour.
2-3 cup lard.

Mix flour and salt. Cut in lard with knife. Mixing with knife, slowly add water. When dough becomes stiff divide it into eight pieces. Roll out each piece and fit into shallow tart pan. Prick well and bake.

Strawberry Mixture.

3 cups berries (large and firm)
1½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup water
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1½ cups whipped cream

Wash and hull berries. Add sugar and flour. Mix well and add water. Boil gently three minutes. Stir with fork. Add salt and butter. Cool and chill. Pour into baked tart cases and top with whipped cream.

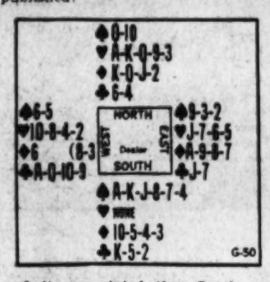
WORK ON BRIDGE

THE PROBLEM ANSWERED.

Yesterday the following hand was published:



and it was stated that South was the Declarer playing four Spades in a recent Contract tournament. The bidding had been: South, one Spade; West, two Clubs; North, three Hearts; South, three Spades, and North, four Spades. At only one table were East and West able to save game, and the play at that table, which was not given yesterday, was as follows:

To trick 1 West led the singleton Six of Diamonds. He had bid two Clubs on the first round and had not been assisted by East after North bid three Hearts; so the singleton seemed better than leading from the Ace-Queen-Ten Club suit. North (dummy) played the Jack of Diamonds, East the Ace, and South (closed hand) the Five—a false card.

East, in view of West's Club bid, assumed the Diamond lead to be an effort to produce a Club lead up to the weak Clubs in dummy; so to trick 2 East led the Jack of Clubs, South who marked West's Diamond as a singleton and therefore wanted to get the lead out of the East hand, played the King and West won with the Ace.

West now felt reasonably sure that his Club Queen would take another trick; but he could not see where the game-saving fourth trick was coming from unless East could be put in again to lead a Diamond for West to ruff. If East had the Seven of Clubs, or no Clubs and at least one trump, the desired Diamond lead could be obtained; so West led the Trey instead of the Queen of Clubs to trick 3, and to his great delight East played the Seven and won the trick.

East then guessed that West wanted a Diamond (he had no other lead anyway), so he led a Diamond to trick 4 which West ruffed and saved the game.

What Today Means to You

"TAURUS"

IF April 21 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 12:10 p. m. to 1:50 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 7:45 p. m.

Although April 21 is from an astrological viewpoint, good for new ideas, and fresh interests, the mind will be less acute and efficient than usual. Opportunities will present themselves, and success or failure depends entirely on their reception. A change, affecting business interests, is foreshadowed.

Children born on this April 21 will possess great ability and natural aptitude. They will be heavy readers, industrious students, and intelligent workers. They will be shrewd, careful, and take very few false steps. They are made for success, and, in addition, their dispositions will compel happiness.

Born on April 21, you will have a very peculiar temperament, a deep nature, and hard to comprehend. You are secretive and cautious, and are never happier than when mixed up in some intrigue. You are to be trusted, yet few wish to confide in you. Trustworthy though you be, there are not many willing to trust you. Fatalistic in your ideas and conceptions you take risks others would avoid, and rather live for the day than for the future.

You are a rather merciful judge of your own acts. Others, however, who err can never expect leniency at your hands. You are inflexible and stern and can without a qualm see others suffer, if in your opinion, they deserve it. To your friends, and these are very few, you are loyal and steadfast. The signs denote that material success awaits you. This success, when it comes, will lack the comforting accompaniment of well-wishers. You are, in later life, destined to travel extensively, and under this mellowing influence, your outlook will change, and spontaneity and naturalness will gradually wear away reserve and coldness.

Your home life does not hold out much promise of happiness during its early years. Later on, however, you will learn to appreciate, in thought, word and action, the affection and devotion of your family, and happiness will prevail.

Successful people born April 21:

James R. Kendrick, a president of Vassar College.

Charles S. Bull, physician.

Raymond Collyer Knox, chaplain Columbia University.

John R. Spears, journalist and author.

FRANCES M'DONALD

Difference of Opinion

NOTHING quite so interesting as human opinion. Given a set of circumstances and half a dozen humans and you have half a dozen reactions to observe.

A few days ago a man of 35 wrote this department regarding his system of "trying out" girls he met, and citing his experience with one girl whom he loved but deemed unfit to be his wife. She had withstood all his efforts to break down her morale and smirch her character although this campaign of his had lasted nearly a year—but—he discovered she smoked! So that barred her from the unique distinction of becoming his wife. Now any regular reader of this column would know without being told about what sort of heart-warming welcome the department would extend to a gentleman of that particular brand. And we extended it feelingly. We told him among other things that if his mother had made a good job of being a mother he would not now be prowling about trying to tempt young girls who refused to drink and cheapen themselves. He had made the interesting dicovery that if a fellow persisted hard enough and long enough the average girl would—if she liked him—eventually fall. Then he was through. By the way there is a young man a few hundred miles from here waiting right now to be hung who had exactly the same attitude towards girls. But that is another story. Our hero is still going strong and will be until some girl's brother asks him some evening to step outside for a moment. After that he will not be very strong for a long, long while.

So we told him a few home truths—including the fact that his mother was a failure as the mother of a man. And now comes the interesting part. Women write in to defend the man! One woman even "dares" us to print her letter! Why should we be ashamed of her letter? We did not write it. And we are glad to print it. It illustrates the strange reaction of humans to given circumstances. It may even help explain the women who send letters of sympathy to Dicky Loeb and Nathan Leopold who had butchered a little boy for fun. But let us to the lady's letter:

"I do not blame that young man one bit in this age of cigaret-smoking drinking, loose-moraled girls for being cautious as to the selection of a wife and think you were very rude to him to say the least. And I think he had a fine mother to teach him to abhor such girls. I dare you to print my letter and let the young man know how one woman feels about the case."

So. There is the load of sympathy for the dear young man who admits that the girls he respected neither smoked nor drank nor allowed petting. And now for a line from a man:

"I noticed that letter from the reptile who believes in "trying them." I would like him to "try" my sister just once. These unprincipled cads are a very small minority. They are known to other men and ostracized. You hit the nail right on the head when you told him he did not respect his mother or he would respect womanhood. I never knew one of these who did not have a weak, yielding, dumb woman for a mother. Good women. But negatives. And the sons are what you would expect. We had a few at school. Their only associates are women, for men will not stay in their vicinity. Do not lay their deeds to the whole sex. They are the tattered fringe of the sex. The outcasts."

And may we add that when they do marry they are the hen-pecked husbands of women who know them for what they are and treat them accordingly? Which is just about what they deserve.

PLEASE don't ever think a sanitary pad is "just like Kotex" because it looks the same. You need more than surface resemblance.

You need the purity of Kotex. Your health requires its hygienic safety. Its care in making.

No sanitary protection that fails to meet these standards should ever be considered. You know Kotex is safe. You know hospitals use it.

This assurance of safety is beyond price. Don't give it up for the sake of a few pennies, when this saving means you must take some questionable substitute of whose makers you know nothing. HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Sernsky

Feather-Brained

IN THE DAYS OF COURT-JESTERS, A FEATHER IN THE CAP WAS THE INSIGNIA OF A JESTER OR COURT FOOL. THAT STARTED THE EXPRESSION "FEATHER-BRAINED" TO INDICATE A WEAK-MINDED OR FOOLISH PERSON.

Johnny Cake

WHEN FOLKS STARTED A LONG JOURNEY IN THE DAYS OF COVERED WAGONS, THEY MADE A SUPPLY OF BREAD FROM CORN MEAL AND CALLED IT "JOURNEY CAKE." WE HAVE CORRUPTED THE NAME TO JOHNNY CAKE.

Hoist By His Own Petard

THIS EXPRESSION COMES FROM THE FACT THAT A PETARD WAS A CAN OR BOX CONTAINING GUNPOWDER AND WAS USED YEARS AGO FOR DEMOLISHING GATES AND BARRICADES. THE DANGER WAS THAT ONE WHO PLACED THE PETARD MIGHT BE BLOWN UP.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

FEEDING FINICKY CHILDREN.

MOST of the children who have finicky appetites are of the linear build. Drs. W. P. Lucas and H. B. Pryor, in studying 110 such children, found four-fifths of the number of this type. This is the child with the narrow type of body—narrow shoulders, chest, abdomen and hips. The trunk has something of an hour glass shape. They are generally tall, but not always.

When a poor eater is found to be of this body build, Drs. Lucas and Pryor advocate dieting him. Especially are they of this opinion when the child, in addition to being narrow and long, and having a finicky appetite, is found to have the constipation habit, to tire easily, and to become irritable. Such children are usually quick, energetic, overactive and "on edge."

In this study of a considerable group it was found that most of them had basal metabolism which was too high. Most physicians would use still another term in classifying such children, calling them thyroid. When a child is found to be in this class, Drs. Lucas and Pryor say he should be dieted. Their main item of advice is to give no high fat foods. They withdraw milk and cream, and they soft pedal cod liver oil, bacon, sardines, olive oil, gravy and salad dressings.

The allowance of milk per day is reduced by one quart. In place thereof they give one quart of fruit juice or its equivalent. They oppose giving coarse foods, or foods which leave much residue. This means that they squeeze the juice from fruits and discard the pulp. They do not allow fruit rinds or cores. Instead of giving coarse vegetables they give strained vegetable soups or, if vegetables are given, they are well pureed. Considerable vegetables, given one way or another, are required to equal one quart of fruit juice daily.

In addition, such children are not stimulated to play. At least, they are not encouraged to engage in hard competitive plays. They should have plenty of rest. Measures of relaxation are promoted. The daily nap should be continued as long as possible.

CONDITIONS OF HEART.

Mrs. R. E. S. writes: Some time ago you mentioned certain conditions of the heart that can now be easily determined by some newly perfected instrument. Will you repeat the technical name for this condition of the heart, and, also, the name of the instrument?

REPLY.

I presume you have reference to various diseases of the nerve control of the heart, to myocarditis, angina pectoris, and coronary embolus and thrombus. The apparatus is called an electro-cardiograph.

WATCH HER DIET.

M. F. writes: I have a four-year-old girl who gets attacks of acidosis. What should her diet be?

REPLY.

If the attacks are due to acidosis it is probably of the kind which comes from eating too much fats. Give her the diet that children of her age in your neighborhood get. But limit markedly her intake of the following foods: Oils, fats, greases such as cod liver oil, olive oil, butter, cream, salad dressings, fat meat, and gravy. Increase her allowance of cereals, breads, potatoes, peas, beans, bananas, hard candy, and most vegetables, fruits, and fruit juices.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE working arrangement that has been in effect at the Fox Theater for the past five weeks was definitely rendered null and void yesterday by the induction into office of the new managing director, Mr. Harry Crull.

Mr. Crull takes over the reins at once—under the supervisory guidance of Charles E. Kurtzman, personal representative of Harry Arthur, general manager of the Fox Theaters Corporation, who accompanied him to the Capital yesterday. David M. Idzal, who has been playing a return engagement at the Fox for something over a month, returns to his permanent post as manager of the Fox in Philadelphia.

The new manager of the local Fox is heralded as a man with important experience in theater operation. He has been with Fox for the past year, as manager of the Audubon in New York City, and prior to that held executive positions with the Stanley-Fabian—corresponding in New York with the old Stanley-Crandall Co. in Washington—and Keith circuits.

The Fox last week installed a marble-mounted bronze plaque on the landing of the grand staircase, setting out in bold relief a bust of the Father of His Country and a portion of his Farewell Address.

Now the RKO-Keith Theater has installed in its lobby an exact replica in enduring bronze of the Declaration of Independence. Mounted on an ebonized background, draped in the American colors and surrounded by thirteen stars, representing the original colonies, it is attracting wide attention.

Phil Cook, the popular radio entertainer who comes to the Fox for a week of personal appearances beginning May 1, once successfully presented, single-handed and unassisted, a skit in which he impersonated 24 separate and distinct characters.

This must be the lad who during the war brought in a whole company of German prisoners by the simple expedient of "surrounding" them!

Personal nomination for the kindliest and most perfect gentleman, by instinct and training, in the films—John Boles.

Mr. Boles, by the way, left Washington after his week of personal appearances at the Rialto, last Saturday afternoon for a one-day visit with his parents in Greenville, Tex., whence he will proceed directly to Universal City to begin rehearsals for a new picture.

"Seed," Universal's picturization of the Frank Norris novel, in which Mr. Boles is featured with Lois Wilson and Genevieve Tobin, was given one of those billion-candlepower premieres at the Carthay Circle Theater in Los Angeles last week while John was singing on Ninth street. He was represented by proxy on the gala occasion by Mrs. Boles and a long wire dispatched from the Shoreham Hotel in this city. Miss Wilson, cast as his wife in the picture, was accorded an ovation.

It is announced that Philip Merivale, the sterling actor, who recently premiered a trifle disadvantageously in the Capital in a brief tryout of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's "Dr. Harmer" and before that in "Death Takes a Holiday" will have the leading role in a revival of George Buchner's drama, "Danton's Death" next season. The Max Reinhardt staging of the piece will be used in this country and it is reported that the Shuberts plan to make this in every respect one of their most imposing fall productions.

When the final "cut" was called on the John Barrymore production of "Svengali," the Warner Brothers new dialogue version of Du Maurier's "Trilby," no less than 253,700 feet of celluloid had been run through the cameras. This is approximately equivalent to 50 miles of film. Since this colossal footage must be shrunk to somewhere between 7,500 and 10,000 feet for satisfactory commercial exhibition, the film cutter takes on new stature as a gentlemen of importance on the lot.

It was a similar task on Chaplin's "A Woman of Paris" that first attracted attention to Monta Bell, former Washington newspaperman now again directing for Paramount, and his expert job that started Adolphe Menjou on the road to fame, fortune and a few squabbles with his producers.

Opposite Barrymore in "Svengali," incidentally, appears little Marian Marsh, a youngster coached into her big chance by a disappointed older sister, for whom the promise of stardom never came true. Miss Marsh, of course, appears as Trilby, the role created in the silent film a few years ago by Andree Lafayette, a French importation who made the one picture and quickly faded from view.

Flo Ziegfeld has selected 2 girls out of 500 applicants for his new "Follies." At this rate—assuming he plans to use the usual 60—there are only 14,500 more girls to be interviewed! Chic Sale has been mentioned as one of the possible "Follies" comics.

General Electric Refrigerator

Survives the Supreme Test—FIRE!

Mr. Mallos, owner, holding tray of ice cubes still frozen after 3 hours of intense heat.

G. E. Refrigerator itself, blackened and seared, but still mechanically sound—the famous "Monitor Top" mechanism unimpaired—the steel cabinet unwarped.

"Monitor Top"

Operates Perfectly—After 3-Hour Fire

Early yesterday morning the Orange Tea Shop at 6990 Wisconsin Ave. N.W., was destroyed by fire, practically reduced to a total loss.

BUT, despite the rapid flames, sweeping every foot of the shop, the GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR REMAINED MECHANICALLY PERFECT.

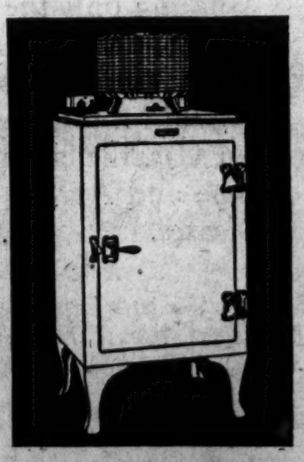
When the doors of the refrigerator, blackened by the tremendous heat, were opened, ice cubes were still frozen . . .fresh meats untainted . . . the proper temperature had been maintained.

That a refrigerator could remain in a working condition . . . could maintain an ice-making temperature through such a destructive fire seems incredible . . . yet it is true.

Mr. Mallos, owner of the store, said:

Though my store was swept by fire, practically every piece of equipment reduced to ashes, I was amazed to find that my General Electric Refrigerator was still perfectly sound. Despite the most intense heat, my foodstuffs were untainted by smoke and a supply of ice cubes was still on hand. So far as food was concerned, I might have opened my business as usual . . . I was told the General Electric Refrigerator could survive the hardest of "hard knocks." Now I know it. Simply by attaching a new connecting cord, my General Electric began refrigerating.

The General Electric Co., having devoted 15 years to perfecting the General Electric Refrigerator, has confidently claimed that their product can survive any physical test.



A General Electric Refrigerator in the Orange Tea Shop—no different from thousands of other General Electric Refrigerators in similar shops—has indisputably substantiated this claim. . . .

The Washington Public has never doubted the ability of the General Electric Refrigerator to survive the test of Time—three years of flawless performance in more than 1,000,000 American homes have proven this ability.

Now, no Washingtonian need ever doubt the ability of the General Electric Refrigerator to survive a greater, sterner test—THE TEST OF FIRE.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

By JACK ESPEY.

FOUR intersectional games, three of which will be played in Washington, have been scheduled for the 1931 George Washington University football team. Nine games in all have been arranged and seven will be held for the entertainment of local fans.

Tulsa University, which the Colonial eleven met last fall at Tulsa, Okla.; Butler University, of Indianapolis, Ind., and North Dakota University are the three teams booked for local appearances. The fourth intersectional contest will be played with Iowa University at Iowa City.

Other games have been scheduled with Shenandoah College, Elon College, Boston University, Salem College and Broaddus College. With the exception of Boston, all of these teams will engage the Buff and Blue here. Griffith Stadium likely will be the scene of all of the George Washington home games. Boston is to be played in the Hub on October 10.

Elaborate Plans For 1931.

No George Washington eleven of the past was scheduled for so many intersectional games, and it is believed that the Colonial authorities are planning for an additional number for the 1932 season. It has been reported that G. W. will bring five or six of the best teams in the country here in 1932, representing three or four sections of the country on the football map.

Tulsa, Butler and North Dakota U. are rated in George Washington's class, or perhaps a little higher. But George Washington expects to have its strongest team in history next fall to cope with them.

The Colonials will open their season on September 26 against Shenandoah and will close on Thanksgiving Day against North Dakota U.

Tulsa Game Due At Night.

Night games again are planned for the Colonials, who got their baptism in nocturnal football last fall. The Tulsa game, scheduled for October 16 (Friday) will open the night series.

George Washington concludes its spring practice this afternoon in an intrasquad game which is to be held on the Tidal Basin gridiron, beginning at 3 o'clock.

Following is the schedule:

September 26—Shenandoah College here. October 3—Elon College, here; 10, Boston University, at Boston; 16 (Friday night), Tulsa University, here; 24, varsity-freshmen; 31, Iowa University, at Iowa City.

November 6 (Friday night)—Salem College, here; 13 (Friday night), Broaddus College, here; 20 (Friday night), Butler University, here; 26 (Thanksgiving Day), North Dakota University, here.

Yankees Win As Ruth Hits 2 Homers

Athletics Slug Johnson for 4-Run Lead Near Start.

NEW YORK, April 20 (A.P.)—Two mighty blows by Babe Ruth, each coming with Lyn Lary on base, provided the winning margin by which the Yankees squared their series with the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 4, today. They were the Babe's second and third of the young season.

The Athletics spotted their ace right-hander, George Earnshaw, a four-run lead in the first three innings at the expense of Henry Johnson, but they were stopped cold thereafter by Gomez and Wells. The Yanks nicked Earnshaw for three runs in the fourth and Ruth's second homer in the eighth put on the finishing touches.

Braves Win, 1-0, After 4-3 Defeat by Giants

Boston, Mass., April 20 (A.P.).—The Giants and Braves divided honors in their patriots' day doubleheader, Bill McKechnie's boys coming back to win the afternoon battle, 1 to 0, after the giants had taken the morning tussle, 4 to 3. Thirty-five thousand saw the veteran, Harry Seibold outpitch Carl Hubbell in the afternoon, holding the Giants helpless until the Braves could shove across the winning run in the ninth. Spohrer's long fly to Lindstrom with the bases loaded scored Richbourg with the deciding run.

A wild pitch by Bruce Cunningham provided the Giants with the winning run in the eighth of the morning contest.

Cincinnati, April 20 (A.P.).—Nick Cullop's home run over the distant left-field fence with two runers on the paths today gave the Cincinnati Reds a 7-to-5 margin over Pittsburgh and their first victory of the season. Red Lucas, local pitching ace, was hit hard, but went the distance.

The Inevitable

Boston Gets 18 Hits; Nats Score 2 in 6th to Gain Tie.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE Nationals looked badly for the first time this season yesterday when, with their pitchers not pitching, their fielders not fielding particularly well, and their hitters not hitting, they proved to be the softest kind of pickings for the lowly Boston Red Sox. The final score was 13 to 3, the defeat dropping the Johnsons into a triple tie for the lead.

"General" Alvin Crowder made his second start of the season and he suffered from the same trouble which proved his undoing in his debut—lack of a hop on his fast one. As a result, he had to try to get by on slow, half-speed and curve deliveries and the score tells how he came out.

Despite his "nothing" ball, Crowder managed to hold his own until the seventh, but then came the blow-off, a 7-run allen rally, and away went the ball game. Wally Tauscher went to his relief, but he had little success and later both Carl Fischer and Bobby Burke saw action, four more runs being molded from the latter's slants.

Red Sox Pound Nine Doubles.

Doubles bounced off the allen bats in bunches, exactly half of Boston's eighteen hits being good for two sacks, with Rhyne, Pickering and Berry getting two each. The last named was the hitting hero of the game, being credited with a brace of singles in addition to his two-baggers.

Jack Russell was on the hill for the visitors and he was always master of the situation. He held the Nats to eight hits, which were kept fairly well scattered, and finished the game just as strongly as he started.

Doubles by Berry and Rhyne gave the visitors a run in the third, and singles by Rhyne and Scarritt, with Harry Rice's two-base error on the latter blow, made the Sox 2-up in the sixth. In the home half the Nats put themselves back in the game by knotting the string, molding two runs from singles by Myer and Sam Rice, Manush's sacrifice, Cronin's fly deep enough to allow Myer to score after the catch, and Judge's double.

Oliver Starts Rally For Red Sox.

Hardly had the cheering for this rally died down when the aliens made their strike. After Oliver had opened with a single, all hands were safe on a questionable decision when Judge tried to make force-play at second from Creeden's sacrifice. Then Berry doubled the runners home and Crowder went to crying room, Tauscher succeeding him.

The rookie proved no better and, after he had made an error on Russell's attempted suicide, Rhyne, Webb and Pickering had doubled and Oliver, up a second time, had singled, he gave way to Fischer, who stopped the rally. For no reason at all, the Sox scored four more times in the last two frames, while the Nats added one more to their total, this run being made from Judge's single and Bluege's triple in the ninth.

Judge and Sam Rice cracked out two hits each for Washington for any local honors which may have been gleaned from the game.

Lisenbee Is Probable Choice of Red Sox; Hadley Better.

WASHINGTON'S home stand ends at Griffith Stadium this afternoon with the Boston Red Sox still here. Immediately after the game Manager Walter Johnson leads his men to Philadelphia, where they will meet the Athletics in the Quaker City opener tomorrow afternoon. Fred Marberry, who turned in such a great relief shift against the Athletics when they beat Lefty Grove last Saturday, is due to make his season's debut as a starter today. He likely will find Horace Lisenbee, former teammate, opposing him.

As the two teams have divided the brace of contests played so far, victory this afternoon carries with it the series edge, and, needless to say, Johnson's charges will be out there putting up a battle.

While the Nationals have to take their opponents as they come along, they are looking forward to this second set with the world champions with much interest. They look upon the Athletics as the main hurdle they must clear, and are full of confidence of their own ability to win their share of games from the Men of Mack. As all Washington fans know, the Nats took three of the four games played with the champs in the last series, and they should have cleaned up the series, they think.

Hadley's Cold Improves.

Irving Hadley's cold in his shoulder was a little better yesterday, but he believes that his flipper will be in top condition by tomorrow and he may draw the assignment in the Philadelphia inaugural. He hopes to repeat the dose he gave the Athletics here last week, when he allowed them but four scattered hits and a lone run.

Pitcher Ad Liska, who thought that the Youngstown muscle manipulator had cured his ailing shoulder muscle, reported yesterday that he was as bad off as he has ever been. He suffered from a similar trouble four years ago while with the Lincoln Club and a Lincoln "miracle man" cured him.

Last night, he left to visit this same man, paying his own expenses. He will rejoin the Nationals here Sunday. Mrs. Liska went as far as Minneapolis with him, where she will visit her parents.

Pitcher Joe Smith, sent to Hagerstown by the Nats, has been returned and President Griffith is trying to place him with some club of low classification.

Joe reports that the Hagerstown manager is trying to turn Infielder Charley Montague, one of Joe Cronin's proteges, into a left-handed hitter. As Charley did not hit particularly well right-handed while with the Nats this Spring and has never tried to bat left-handed, he too, likely will be back here ere long.

Manush Sticks To Guns.

Outfielder Heinie Manush reported that he was not feeling well yesterday but he refused to remain out of the game.

Harry Rice, who is specializing in triples this year, poked out his third of the young season in the second round, this being the first Nat hit of the day. Pickering's good stop of Bluege's bad bounder prevented this from being turned into a run.

Catcher Roy Spencer certainly is hitting the ball high, wide and handsome these days. In the third

Henigan, 39, Boston Victor; De Mar in 5th Place.

BOSTON, April 20 (A.P.).—After failing ten times, James P. Henigan, little 39-year-old Medford runner, today won the thirty-fifth running of the Boston Athletic Association marathon from the best field that famous classic has attracted in many years.

Smiling Jimmy, father of five children, ran and walked the 26-odd miles from Hopkinton to Boston in 2:46:45 2-5, the slowest winning time since J. J. McDermott, of New York, won the B. A. A.'s first race, a 25-mile affair, back in 1897. Henigan broke the tape two minutes ahead of Fred J. Ward, of the Millrose A. A., New York, who made a gallant finishing drive, coming up from fifth to second place during the last 5 miles.

Karl Koski, the New York Finn and one of the greatest marathoners in the world, finished third, as he did last year. His time was more than six minutes slower than that of the victor.

Veteran De Mar In Fifth Place.

David Fagerlund, Koski's Finnish-American A. C. teammate, placed fourth and Clarence De Mar, the 42-year-old Keene, N. H., teacher and seven times winner, came home in fifth place. De Mar, the popular favorite, could not explain his failure.

"It was not the heat," he said. "I liked that. I can't explain. Nothing seemed to click for me and I had no fight. Why, I was running better than ever before just a week ago."

Henigan was the only runner in the pack of 187 who did not complain about the temperature, which ranged from 77 to 82 in the shade along the sun-baked course. Jimmy ran the same kind of a race he did a year ago. In fact, he was a bit slower, but the unseasonable weather so affected the field his efforts today won first place instead of the eighth they gained him in 1930's race, won by De Mar.

Robins' Punch Returns; End String of 5 Defeats

Philadelphia, Pa., April 20 (A.P.).—Brooklyn's vaunted batting punch finally burst loose in all its glory today, the Robins hounding four Philly pitchers all over the lot and winning, 10 to 5, after five straight defeats.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, April 20 (A.P.).—Jimmy Foxx stuck his game left leg into the sunshine and watched the turbulent Yankees tune their batting eyes in practice for the second game of the series with the Athletics.

"Yes, they can hit," he said, "but what will they use for pitchers?"

"They're uncertain spots, these Yankees, and you can't win pennants that way. Look at Tony Lazzeri out there! How'll he go over a full season at third base? How about second base and Chapman's fielding? Look at left field. They've got two men playing out there.

Cleveland Club Dangerous.

"Nope! For me I'll take Cleveland. That's the club we'll have to beat. They've got a hitting club. They've got pitching. They're young and tough. Cleveland will be dangerous every step of the way."

Jimmy, in uniform, but still incapacitated by a set of torn ligaments in his left knee, suffered in the Washington series, expects to be out of the hospital squad and back at first base for Connie Mack by game time Wednesday. In the meantime, he has a chance to sit and ruminate in the sun, and so he gets time to think about this American League pennant race.

"Now, here's how I figure Washington," he went on. "They were pretty good last year, but they weren't good enough to win. They'll be pretty good again this year, no better and no worse, and still they won't be good enough to win. Joe Judge and Sam Rice aren't getting any younger and they aren't getting any better, either.

"As for us, I think the Athletics will do better than ever.

Won Last Year Despite Breaks.

"We had our share of the tough breaks and injuries last year and still we won all right. Rube Walberg has found himself again, and don't forget that Mule Haas, Jimmy Dykes and Bing Miller didn't hit within 15 or 20 points of their normal strides last summer. This year they're right again and we're going to be that much tougher.

"Hank McDonald, the Coast boy, will help our pitching staff a lot. Lefty Grove is a wonder, a team in himself. George Earnshaw is the same old George. We've got real strong reserves. What more could we want?"

Connie Mack nodded wisely. "We haven't been hitting," he said, "but we will. I'm sure of that."

Charlotte Hall Nine Beats G. U. Prep, 12-7

Charlotte Hall's baseball nine visited Garrett Park, Md., yesterday and handed the diamond crew of Georgetown Prep a 12-7 lacing in a game which was called in the eighth inning by mutual agreement.

Both teams had a big seventh inning, scoring four runs apiece, but the consistent work of the winners in the other sections of the game told the story.

MYNHEER WINS BY NOSE IN STIRRING GRAW FINISH

Fans Protest Decision of Judges

Mynheer Holds Lead in Thrilling Blanket Finish.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE de GRACE, Md., April 20. W. E. Caskey, jr's., Mynheer, showing much of the speed of his sire, Master Charlie, raced a mile and 70 yards in 1:43 to win the Virginia, feature of the program offered here today by the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association.

The 3-year-old gelding with 109 pounds up and Tommy Luther in the irons, and held at odds-on favoritism, justified the confidence placed in him by the big crowd by leading home William Zeigler, jr's., Ilium, with the Glen Riddle Farm's Great Gun third.

The official placing brought a storm of protest and boos from the fans, many of them thinking Ilium had won, while others were just as sanguine that Great Gun had won.

Ilium outran the field of seven to the first turn, but nullified his advantage by running out at the turn into the back stretch. This allowed Mynheer, who was second, to take a short lead. Ilium came again when straightened out and had a half length lead over Mynheer as they left the back stretch. The odds-on favorite raced to even terms with Ilium turning for home and they fought it out right down the stretch. At the sixteenth pole Great Gun joined the leaders and the battle between the trio of leaders had the fans shouting. The finish was so close that no one but the judges could separate them.

Falcon Wins Secondary Feature at 9 to 1.

The Mayflower, secondary feature at a mile and 70 yards saw a decided upset when Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Falcon, paying $18.10, won handily from W. E. Caskey, jr.'s William T., the odds-on favorite, after covering the route in 1:43 3-5.

Stevens shot Sir James on top of the field of six as they swung around the clubhouse bend, but Watters went right along with Sun Falcon. Half way down the back lane Sun Falcon was within a half length of the lead, while William T., in the fifth position, was six lengths further away.

As the field left the back lane, Sun Falcon had assumed command, but when William T. made his big bid he was forced to go around his field. He was running very fast to be third as he swung for home.

Watters, seeing the favorite charging on Sun Falcon, went to the whip and the 4-year-old brown son of Sun Briar-Hawkshead, responded to hold William T. safe in the final sixteenth.

Tarquin Beats Home-Bred Two-Year-Olds.

The day's four and one-half furlong opener, exclusively for 2-year-olds, foaled in this Sate, found Major G. L. Striker's Tarquin, bay son of Trojan-Dorothy Gilpin, winning handily from B. H. Brewster, jr.'s Major General, with whom he was coupled in the wagering.

Tarquin raced the distance in the slow time of 0:55 2-5. Third money went to Al Weston's Jaffa, who broke on top and led to the eighth pole where he stopped badly, allowing Tarquin and Major General to go right on by him.

Eaby, who rode Jaffa, started pulling his mount up when beaten and almost pulled the filly right out of the money. In fact, she was lucky to land third place by a nose from Ral Parr's Lilly Bet, one that came from far back the last quarter.

Smith's Lax Ride Costs Abduction Race.

A. P. Canale's Light Mint raced 6 furlongs in 1:14 1-5 in the second to lead home Mrs. C. E. Simmons' Laura Negley, with J. Wood Garth's Snooty third. The best horse in the race, Abduction, was an also ran.

E. Smith, who was astride Abduction, brought the wrath of the fans down on his head when he broke the colt slowly, but soon raced to the lead, although standing up in his stirrups, Turning for home, Smith was helpless and Abduction bore out. He might have hit the outside fence but for the fact that Laura Negley was outside of him.

Once straightened out in the home lane, Abduction came again, but ran into a pocket, to finally be pulled up to keep from being knocked down.

Blimp, Never Headed, Wins by Neck.

Blimp, 4-year-old bay son of Underfire—Corona, racing for the Colgate Stable, stepped 6 furlongs in 113 to win the third by a neck from the Loma Stable's Chlo Boy, with the Sagamore Stable's Coin Collector third.

Tommy Fowler sent Blimp on top at the rise of the webbing. Holiday and Coin Collector elected to go along with him, but Blimp was enjoying a two-length lead as the field raced around the first turn.

In the meantime Chlo Boy was gradually picking up his field, but was allowed to go very wide at the stretch turn and, although he finished fastest of all, he was almost beneath the judge's stand to lose by a neck.

Otto (Brick) Torrell's Gilded Arch, 3-year-old bay son of Archgift—Gilt Brook, raced a mile and one-sixteenth in 1:48 2-5 to win the sixth and net his backers $10.10.

B. Hanford shot Gilded Arch on top at the rise of the barrier and skimming the railings the rest of the way home won driving from R. O. Egan's Sand Bell with P. H. Aichele's Talented Prince, the favorite, third.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TARQUIN (Stryker-Brewster entry), $3.60, $2.80, $3.40; MAJOR GENERAL (Stryker-Brewster entry), $2.80, $2.40; JAFFA, $4.20.

TARQUIN moved up stoutly rounding the far turn and easily disposed of JAFFA in final furlong. MAJOR GENERAL broke slowly and was taken to outside of leaders in run through the home stretch. Finished full of run and was catching the winner at every stride. JAFFA, breaking fast, raced on her own courage all the way. Eaby had her under slight restraint in early stages and she collapsed when challenged. LILLY BET closed full of courage and would have been third in a few more strides.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good, from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:05. Off at 3:07. Winner, A. F. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LIGHT MINT, $44.40, $18.60, $13.10; LAURA NEGLEY, $6.70, $5.00; SNOOTY (field), $12.50.

LIGHT MINT, outrun to top of home stretch, closed in resolute fashion next the rail and was up in last hundred yards to outlast LAURA NEGLEY in final drive. LAURA NEGLEY, racing head and head with the pacemaker from the start, was carried extremely wide entering home stretch where she lost lot of ground. SNOOTY closed full of courage on the outside. ROYAL ROCK saved ground all the way home. In stretch, where he lugged the rail. ABDUCTION broke well but his rider was of no assistance to him. He was caught in a jam 50 yards from finishing mark and was pulled up.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good, from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:34½. Off at 3:39½. Winner, Colgr's Stable's b. c., 4, by Under Fire—Corona. Trained by C. Holland. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:13.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLIMP, $6.50, $3.30, $2.60; CHLO BOY, $3.80, $3.10; COIN COLLECTOR, $3.20.

BLIMP broke rapidly and outrunning his opposition drew away into a long lead rounding the far turn; he saved ground entering home stretch and finishing next the rail was driving to the limit at end to stall off CHLO BOY. Watters kept taking latter back in early stages, until he was last of his field. When he made his run he went extremely wide and finished with a rush well toward the outside rail. COIN COLLECTOR, slow to get going, moved up in resolute fashion at top of the home stretch only to weaken when put to a drive.

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,500; the Mayflower. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good, from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:09½. Off at 4:11½. Winner, Willis Sharpe Kilmer's br. c., 4, by Sun Briar—Hawkshead. Trained by A. Schuttinger. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:38 3-5, 1:43 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN FALCON, $18.10, $4.80, $3.10; WILLIAM T., $2.40, $2.20; ROCKET GLARE, $2.70.

SUN FALCON, off forwardly, moved up on the outside rounding the far turn; wore SIR JAMES down rounding the far turn and drew away at top of home stretch. Stood a drive all last sixteenth to stall off WILLIAM T. Latter rated along under slight restraint until rounding far turn, where he began improving his position; made a determined challenge at furlong pole after going a bit wide but hung under punishment at end. ROCKET GLARE outlasted the tiring SIR JAMES. Latter, a rapid beginner, showed lot of speed but tired after going six furlongs.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,400; the Virginian. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start poor, from stall gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:40. Off at 4:40. Winner, W. E. Caskey, jr.'s, b. g., 3, by Master Charlie—Grace Cole. Trained by W. E. Caskey, jr. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $135; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:40 2-5, 1:45.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MYNHEER, $3.20, $2.30, $2.20; ILIUM, $3.80, $2.70; GREAT GUN, $3.90.

MYNHEER and ILIUM raced like a team most of the journey. The latter rant next the rail all the way and hung on with determination, under a weak finish. MYNHEER dropped back at turn out of the back stretch but came again making the turn for home. ILIUM hung on well, made several determined challenges and looked to have gotten up in time. GREAT GUN had a rough journey. He was blocked at turn out of back stretch but finished in resolute fashion under punishment and was catching the leaders at every stride at end. The barrier failed to function and the field broke through the barrier. DURVA was left.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good, from stall gate. Won ridden out; place, same. Went to post at 5:09. Off at 5:13½. Winner, Otto Terrell's b. c., by Arch Gift—Gilt Brook. Trained by H. Rosecher. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:41 2-5, 1:48 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GILDED ARCH, $10.10, $7.00, $4.70; SAND BELL, $12.40, $7.40; TALENTED PRINCE, $3.30.

GILDED ARCH, outrunning his opposition from the start, drew away into a commanding lead first quarter. He saved ground at all of the turns. Had to be ridden out at end to stall off SAND BELL'S Challenge. Latter moved up stoutly entering home stretch, but hung under punishment in final furlong. TALENTED PRINCE weakened after making his effort rounding the far turn. DELCO DEL showed lot of early speed but tired and was eased up last 50 yards.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, 1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good, from stall gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:44½. Off at 5:53½. Winner, P. O. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARY DALE, $4.50, $2.60, $2.40; SILVER SCEPTER, $2.60; FAIR MARGERY, $2.20.

MARY DALE, closer up than usual in early stages, moved up stoutly on the outside rounding the far turn; held SILVER SCEPTER safe when it came to a drive in home stretch. SILVER SCEPTER, a forward contender from the start, weakened when put to a drive in stretch run. He was well ridden and met with no mishaps. FAIR MARGERY, in hand first six furlongs, easily disposed of JUDGE CAVERLY at top of stretch but hung when Simpson called on her. JUDGE CAVERLY was used up making the pace. PLAYABIT unseated his rider at post and galloped about a mile before he was caught. JOHN ROBERT broke well but showed no speed; he was sore going to the post.

WHITNEY HAS THREAT IN RIDEAWAY

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., April 20.—Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, who owns Equipoise, favorite for the $10,000 Cheaspeake on Saturday, as well as for the Preakness and Kentucky Derby next month, appears to have another ace in his barn in Rideaway, chestnut son of Wildair—Bubble.

Rideaway went on the track this morning and worked a mile in :24, :48 1-5, 1:01, 1:14 2-5, 1:41. The trial was accomplished so handily that it is the impression that the colt could have equalled 1:40, if asked for it.

Equipoise, a galloping winner earlier in the meeting showed yesterday that he still retains his speed by stepping seven-eighths in :24 3-5, :50 3-5, 1:03 2-5, 1:16 1-5, 1:28 4-5.

The Nevada Stock Farm's Siskin, bay son of Epinard—Buddy Light, who is an eligible for the Chesapeake, Preakness and Derby, also took the track this morning for a mile spin. He was timed in :24 4-5, :49, 1:01 4-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:42 3-5.

The Middleburg Stable's Sunny Lassie, brown daughter of Sun Flag-Scotland Yet, was given an easy mile workout of 1:47 2-5 this morning.

Magnifico, chestnut son of Bunting—Miniato, who is another of C. V. Whitney's nominees for the big feature on Saturday showed a three-eighths move this morning in :37. He will be a starter in tomorrow's fourth race and that test will decide his chances of starting in the week-end feature.

H. Teller Archibald's Dark Hero and the Tennessee Stable's Vander Pool, both candidates for the Kentucky Derby, had workouts yesterday. Dark Hero, black son of Herocot—Sunwina, went a mile in 1:43 4-5, while Vander Pool stepped three-quarters in :48 1-5, 1:14 3-5.

A. C. Bostwick's Mate, who is figured to give Equipoise a battle for this year's 3-year-old classic arrived yesterday from Pimlico. He will be seen under silks tomorrow.

Punishment was claimed out of Saturday's curtain affair by D. P. Venziano for $2,000.

Jockey C. Kurtsinger, with five victories, three less than A. Robertson, packed his tack this morning and left for New York. Kurtsinger had an excellent chance to overhaul Robertson in the race for the $500 gold stop watch offered by General Manager Ed Burke to the leading winning rider at this meeting.

Guy Bedwell, who operates the Yarrow Brae Farm at Savage, reports the arrival of eleven weanlings since the first of the year. Eight are fillies and three colts. They claim Benton, Bulletin, Canter and Fair Gain as their sires.

The Nevada Stock Farm's Albazano broke down while working yesterday.

Jockeys G. Ellis, G. Arnold, S. Renick and S. Paulumbo, who were suspended for three days, were restored to good standing today.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

FRANK J. Marshall, famous chess player, holds the record for the largest number of games played simultaneously. In his matches against 150 opponents at Montreal in 1922, Marshall passed quickly from one table to another keeping track of each individual game with apparent ease. He won 126, drew 21, and lost 8 of the games.

Mate Picked to Win Dash Of 3-year-olds at Graw

Panetian Rated Chief Contender in Feature Today.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 20. Albert C. Bostwick's MATE and Walter J. Salmons' LADDER, highly regarded Preakness and Kentucky Derby candidates, are scheduled to make their 3-year-old debuts in the six-furlong Pagebrook Purse, which will feature the program at this track tomorrow. Opposing the two mentioned above will be George D. Widener's PANETIAN and C. V. Whitney's MAGNIFICO. The field is small, but the Pagebrook should be an interesting contest from flag fall to finish, unless MATE is up to top form.

MATE took on a lot of weight through the last winter and he is a handsome 3-year-old. Those who have seen him train are confident he is in winning form. MATE will spot his three opponents from 8 to 12 pounds in the feature, but heavy packages means little to him. PANETIAN is in great shape. She was second to Balko in the Harford Handicap and placed to Equipoise opening day of the meeting. MATE may have the filly to catch. MAGNIFICO is preferred over LADDER, despite reports that the Salmon color bearer has trained in fine fashion. LADDER may beat both PANETIAN and MAGNIFICO later on.

FIRST RACE—SPETACULAR raced in her best form Saturday when she scored rather handily over the consistent Croyden. The mare may make it two straight by winning the day's opener, a route affair for cheap platers. FAIR BETH was a surprise winner Saturday. It was the best race she has run this year. If she repeats it she will be the one to beat. RUANE was an easy winner last Tuesday, but he beat a very ordinary field. MADDER may surprise. NEALON KAY is at tops, but in a tough spot.

SECOND RACE—QUORUM has a race and the fact he displayed early speed is reason to believe he will hang on longer this time and he meets slower company in the second race, which will bring together a limit field of cheap maidens to dash six furlongs. TANSY is a quick beginner, but she is a faint-hearted miss. BEDFORD BOY is a money possibility. ENCOUNTER, from the Sagamore Stable, is reported as having worked well.

THIRD RACE—ZONDA, winner over fair juveniles at Hialeah Park last winter, is preferred in the third event. The Rancocas Stable filly was a starter in the Bowie kindergarten. That race doesn't count because she went into the air when the barrier was sprung. FLYING has been at the post two times and on both occasions she was close up. She was in a hot spot her last outing. BUNTING LAD has been showing fair speed in his trials. He was second to a good 2-year-old in New Orleans last winter. MY FERGUS is a full brother of My Broom, a winner here. He can't be so much or his trainer would not start him in a claiming race.

FIFTH RACE — Elmer Trueman sending AVALON, a fast sprinter last year, a mile and 70 yards his first start as a 3-year-old in the Glenwild purse, the day's secondary purse. AVALON has worked fast and he is the class of this field. He may go out into a long lead and steal the race. AZIZ started two times at Bowie. According to reports, she came out of her last race slightly lame. DANCING MACK.

SIXTH RACE—COGWHEEL disappointed many admirers last Wednesday when he wound up last in the final race of the day. Prior to that effort COGWHEEL had run a good race with fair platers at Bowie. The old fellow may be better than last Wednesday's race suggests. He's meeting a bad field of platers in the sixth race. OTILLA was back of Royal Charge the last time they met. The mare beat Royal Charge easily at Bowie.

SEVENTH RACE—SILVER SCEPTER is sent right back, may get up to win the curtain affair. He licked better ones at Bowie. LUCK PIECE and FOUNDATION STONE are evenly matched. Both horses were winners here last Friday. LUCK PIECE'S effort was the better.

WASHINGTON-LEE NINE WINS OVER EASTERN, 9-7

Virginia Boys Outslug D.C. Rivals

Roberson Halts Foes After Seymour Is Pounded Out.

IN its dress rehearsal for today's initial appearance in the high school series, Eastern, scholastic champions for the last two years, turned in a pediculous performance yesterday as they were swept aside, 9 to 7, by Washington-Lee High, from Ballston, Va. For the greater part of the game Eastern displayed tactics and fielding performances of an extremely low order. It was the first time in three years that W-L had defeated the local champs.

Both teams had one big inning, the sixth, but the Virginians managed to salvage enough of their reserve after their sixth to go on and win in the later innings. From the opening gun to the sixth it was a good ball game, with two of the best high school pitchers in the region serving them up to the batters in noteworthy fashion. Lanahan, for Eastern, and Seymour, for Washington-Lee, lent a worthwhile consistency to the occasion.

Lanahan during his three-inning stay on the mound showed his best form of the year in setting the Little Generals down in 1-2-3 order for the first two innings. Ellis nicked him for a long triple, with one out, in the third and scored on Ball's bounding fielder's choice, but he fanned Mortimer and Chase to end the proceedings.

The visitors barrage of hits, in the sixth, were apped off the services of Bill Noonan, Eastern beanpole flinger, whose work in the box was not near as bad as the support he was given by the Eastern fielders. McAboy as short stop, muffed three consecutive grounds in this inning, while the Eastern garden rovers let fall two potent loopers which would have saved matters for their side, if caught.

Eastern drove the smooth-working Seymour off the hill in their end of the sixth in a rally which looked more like the Eastern team. Snyder, first man to bat, singled briskly to center to start things. Smith walked. Then Seymour fanned Sansbury and Calevas, but saw this performance undone when Noonan singled to start the real rally, which saw its finish when Kessler tripled with two on base. All of Eastern's five runs came after two were out.

Lefty Robertson turned in a good bit of relief work, going in to Seymours aid and pitching practically airtight ball for the remainder of the game. He stopped the big Eastern sixth inning drive by fanning Taylor to retire the side, and later sent down four other Lincoln Park Club swingers by this same route.

Slattery's 232 Best In G. U. Golf Trials

Competition for eligibility to play on the intercollegiate team of Georgetown University ended yesterday on the course of the Woodmont Club, with a round of 18 holes completing medal play for 54 holes. F. J. Beger, of the Shackamaxon Club, Westfield, N. J., the captain of the team, and Richard Wilson, of Southern Pines, N. C., who will play second on the team, were exempt from the qualification tryout.

John Slattery, of Boston, led the field of 22 contestants with a score of 77—78—77—232 for the three rounds of 18 holes each. These fine cards gave him a lead of nine strokes over Joseph De Stefano, Newark; Louis A. Fisher, Detroit, and George Monaghan, Detroit, who tied at 241. Six players qualified in addition to Beger and Wilson, and with Slattery, De Stefano, Fisher and Monaghan well in the lead, the other qualifiers were John Rafferty, New York, 242, and Richard Boucek, Rochester, 250. The summary:

C. U. Scholastic Meet Entry Blanks Ready

Entry blanks for the interscholastic track and field meet to be held by Catholic University at Brookland Stadium on May 9 are now in the mails, directed to institutions in several Eastern States, Coach Dorsey Griffith, of the Brookland School, announced last night.

This meet is the outgrowth of the Eastern Catholic interscholastic carnival which Catholic University sponsored in 1928, 1929 and last year. It is open to any bona fide high or prep school athlete.

The entrance fee has been set at 50 cents per contestant, and the fee, along with filled entry blanks are to be sent to Louis DeSantis, manager of track, Catholic University, Brookland, D. C.

Fourteen events are listed on the program, including a 1,580-yard relay. It is proposed to conduct the preliminary heats in the morning, beginning at 10:30 o'clock, and start the semifinals and finals in the afternoon at 2:30.

Virginia Frosh Nine Beats Little Generals

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 20.—Virginia's first year nine bunched thirteen hits in last two innings to defeat Washington and Lee, 14-2. Cook, who pitched for the Young Generals, fanned ten Cavaliers before weakening. Chinn and Babcock, the two Virginia hurlers, allowed only four hits and struck out ten between them. Strange as it seems, but Chick Brewer, Virginia center fielder, went to bat twice in the eighth inning, made all three outs, yet was technically left on base. Both times he knocked into force-out plays, reaching first himself, only to be caught napping.

TYPOTHETAE LEAGUE.

Judd & Detwiler captured the title in the Typothetae League in the season just ended, finishing three games ahead of their coworkers, the Big Print Shop, who, in turn, were a trio of contests ahead of the National Capital Press. The fourth-place Washington Typographers were only a game behind in the wake of the third-place team. McPhilomy, with an average of 116, led this league in this respect, in addition to capturing high game honors with a mark of 180. Homan carried off high set honors with a total of 416 pins for the three games. The standings:

Peck Chapel, No. 1, clinched the title in the Georgetown Church League last week, when they took two of their three games with Mount Vernon, No. 1. The Peckmen needed only one victory to be assured of the title. The new champs displace the West Washington Baptist five, who have enjoyed the distinction of winning the crown for the past six years. The third-round consolation cup was won by Mount Vernon, No. 1, which was turned back by Peck, No. 1.

inning yesterday, he shot one on a line almost to the stands. Had Scarritt not been playing exceptionally deep and right in line with the shot, it would have been at least a double.

Bob Reeves, Washington favorite, gave way to Paddy Creeden at second for the Red Sox yesterday. The latter starred in both baseball and football with Boston College last year. In the seventh, Bob hit for Creeden and then finished out afield for him.

Infielder Jimmy McLeod, turned back by the Chattanooga Lookouts, reported to Manager Johnson yesterday. Clark Griffith, Nat president, is casting about looking for a spot in which to place the youngster.

Manush temporarily lost Creeden's short fly in the sun starting the fifth yesterday and gave some of the fans heart failure until, after some staggering around, he finally located and grabbed the agate.

Creeden went back of second and over toward short to make a brilliant stop of Sam Rice's bounder in the sixth, following Myer's opening single. The second-sacker was unable to recover in time to make an out, but the stop held Myer at second.

Opening the home eighth, Warstler, a better fielder than Rhyne, who was inserted at short after the visitors went into a big lead, jumped a mile to snare Sam Rice's liner with his gloved hand at arm's length.

VIRGINIA NINE BEATEN BY PRINCETON

Special to The Washington Post.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 20.—Princeton made it two in a row here this afternoon when it took the measure of Virginia by the score of 6 to 2., Trix Bennett, former outfielder, whom Coach Harry Hopper is converting into a pitcher, made his debut on the mound and managed to let the visitors down with ten scattered hits. Getting off to a bad start, Bennett settled down and succeeded in holding the visitors scoreless for six innings.

Airtight ball prevailed for the first seven innings, until the eighth, when Princeton staged a three-run rally for a total of six to the visitors' two.

St. Alban's Trounces Emerson Nine, 30-6

St. Alban's turned in a "basket ball score" baseball victory over Emerson Institute yesterday at St. Alban's when they defeated the Emersonians 30-6 in a free-hitting fracas.

Trilling, Draper and Johnson were called on to stem the tide of the Saints' hitting, but to little avail, although Draper did strike out seven of his foes. St. Alban's connected with eighteen blows and were aided at all turns by the quantity of free passes dispensed by the Emerson flingers.

Patton turned in a good performance on the mound for St. Alban's, fanning six Emersonians and holding them to four hits. He was ably backed up by Watson, who pitched the last three innings.

Eight Virginia Clubs Seek Capital City League Title

Alexandria Teams Promise to Play Prominent Part in Race; Managers Meet Thursday; Entries Still Open.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

LED by the Cardinal Athletic Club, of Alexandria, which is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary as the oldest organization of its kind in this country, seven baseball teams have applied for franchises in the Virginia section of the Capital City League. This number may be increased to eight by Thursday night, when the club representatives will gather in room 2 of the District Building to lay final plans for the opening of the season.

The teams now enrolled under the Capital City League are as follows: Del Ray, Cardinal A. C., Dixie A. C., R. P. & P. A. A., Engine Company No. 4, Engine Company No. 5 and the Virginia White Sox, all of which boast rosters composed of veterans who can provide a lively afternoon of baseball for any combination.

Teams Prepare For Race.

While most of the above-named aggregations are applying the final touches to their well-oiled machines, some of them have already inaugurated their seasons. This is particularly true of the White Sox, who have finished on the wrong end of the score only once, while winning four games.

The addition of President Sylvester Breen's hopefuls to the league is a sign as welcome as the first Robin of spring. The grand old man of Alexandria baseball was doubtful for a time whether his club would be represented on the diamond this season, but at a meeting held last week, a decision was reached to enter a team in the race for The Post's gold baseballs.

Alexandria Sportsmen Aid League.

To Jack Tullock, sports editor of the Alexandria Gazette, and Mr. C. T. McDonald, prominent sports official of Alexandria, must go the lion's share of the credit for the successful organization of the Virginia circuit. These two have labored unsparingly to bring the teams in their territory into a league modeled on the lines of professional loops. Their sound judgment and helpful advice that has so often been dispensed to managers in troublesome times came in as handy this time when the sandlotters were undecided as to whether independent baseball would be more beneficial than an organized league.

Mr. William E. Russell, president of the Capital City League, will preside at the meeting Thursday night which will open promptly at 8 o'clock. Any Virginia teams who have not as yet applied for berths, and who are desirous of competing in the league are invited to have representatives present.

One Blade of Grass Is Daddy Of Newer and Better Greens

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor).

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 20 (A. P.).—Newer and greener golf greens are growing in experimental fields at Penn State College Department of Agriculture.

They become green earlier in the spring, stay greener in dry weather and retain their color later in the fall. They are the result of applying literally one of the golf stories of the nineteenth hole—the caution of the player who said he studied every blade of grass before sinking a wonderful putt.

There are nearly 150 individual blades of grass in this putting story, every one of them the daddy of a whole green. Each was selected originally from the finest golf grasses and by looking at many thousands of growths, blade by blade. The scientific putter in this true story is H. B. Musser, who is also a golfer.

Among a family of grasses the blades differ like a family of children. Some possess special talents for putting greens, particularly because they stand upright in a uniform carpet instead of lying in lumps—graininess, the golfers call it. They also are distinguished by their color and resistance to disease.

Agricultural science has developed methods of selecting just one such promising grass child and multiplying him uncontaminated, until his offspring covers a field, a whole new tribe as similar as selected peas. This is the work that Dr. Musser has been doing for two years.

St. John's Lacrossemen Rout Georgia Tech, 19-0

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, April 20.—St. John's College stickmen, national champions of the past two seasons, played only straight lacrosse today to defeat Georgia Tech, 19 to 0. The Johnnie regulars played only a part of the second half when the tally was 9 to 0. With both periods cut five minutes short and the players ordered not to dodge and to use only the simplest plays, the St. John's Team even then had no trouble in scoring almost at will.

As the Johnnies today began a hard campaign of five games in eight days with Virginia at Charlottesville, Yale at New Haven, Union at Baltimore, and Washington College here following, Coach Denny Moore kept them on the field for more than half an hour after the game, when the best tricks were tried.

The visiting team grouped eight defense men around the goal, and this made the locals work hard for a number of their shots. The goal tender did fair work in batting out numerous Johnnie flips, especially against the scrubs in the second half.

G. U. Net Team Beats Washington-Lee, 7-2

The crack tennis team of Georgetown University defeated the netmen of Washington and Lee University yesterday afternoon on the courts of Columbia Country Club by the score 7 matches to 2.

The lone singles victory for the Generals came at the expense of Clyde Yeomans, Georgetown, who succumbed to Hal Braedy after two close sets, 7—5, 6—4. Washington and Lee's other conquest came in doubles when Wilson and Graham defeated Yeomans and Berberich, 9—7, 6—0.

SINGLES.

Mangin (G. U.) defeated Shields, 6—1, 6—2; Mitchell (G. U.) defeated Wilson, 6—3, 6—2; Braedy (W. L.) defeated Yeomans, 7—5, 6—4; Berberich (G. U.) defeated Graham, 6—1, 6—2; McBride (G. U.) defeated Cox, 6—4, 6—2; Ferguson (G. U.) defeated Snyder, 6—2, 6—4.

DOUBLES.

Mangin and Mitchell defeated Shields and Braedy, 9—7, 6—2; Wilson and Graham defeated Yeomans and Berberich, 9—7, 6—0; Ferguson and Burdett defeated Snyder and Cox, 6—4, 6—2.

Shenandoah Defeats Woodberry Forest, 6-3

Special to The Washington Post.

Woodberry Forest, Va., April 20.—With Pitcher Luck holding the locals to five hits, Shenandoah Valley Academy defeated the Woodberry Forest Nine here this afternoon, 6-3. May and Weaver, local twirlers, held the Cadets to but two hits, but ten passes, coupled with three errors, enabled to the visitors to maintain their lead established in the opening fram. Woollen, of Woodberry Forest, led at bat with two safeties out of four trips to the plate.

HUNTER WINS PRO GOLF TOURNEY

Mel Shorey Second in Competition at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 20.—J. Hunter, professional at the Indian Spring Golf Club, won his second tournament of the season among the Middle Atlantic professionals by capturing the 18-hole sweepstakes tournament at the Rolling Road Golf Club today. His score of 70 was exactly par for the course.

Hunter was just off the eighteenth green at two and needed only two punches for a 69. His chip shot, however, was too strong and went far beyond the cup and his next putt was short. The big Washington player had two rounds of 35.

Hunter's first triumph here was on the occasion of his elevation to the presidency of the Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers Association in February at the Maryland Country Club.

Second honors also went to a member of the Washington group, Mel Shorey, of the East Potomac Park public course. He had a card of 72.

Another Capital player, Al Houghton, of Kenwood, was in a tie for third place with Ralph Beach, Suburban, and Warner Mather, Woodholme. Each went around in 74. Mather shot a 35 to tie Hunter for the first nine holes. He took a 6, however, at the twelfth hole and dropped two strokes.

Sixteen players participated, including a newcomer, J. Flattery, who is the professional at the new Allview Country Club on the Columbia pike.

The scores:

J. Munro Hunter (Indian Spring), 35, 35—70.
Mel Shore (East Potomac Park), 36, 36—72.
Al Houghton (Kenwood), 38, 36—74.
Ralph Beach (Suburban), 37, 37—74; Warner Mather (Woodholme), 35, 39—74; Glenn Spencer (Maryland), 38, 37—75; George Diffenbaugh (Indian Spring), 39, 39—78; Charley Betschler (Rodgers Forge), 39, 40—79; W. Cunningham (Burning Tree), 37, 43—80; A. B. Thorpe (Woodmont), 40, 40—80; Carroll T. MacMaster (Rolling Road), 42, 40—82; Cliff Spencer (Maryland), 39, 43—82; Willie Schreiber (Catoctin), 39, 43—82; Lawrence Wisner (Suburban), 42, 41—83; J. Flattery (Allview), 43, 41—84; Al Tredor (Manor), 43, 43—86.

No Upsets Recorded In Mason-Dixon Tennis

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 20 (A.P.).—A field of 36, including the numbers five and seven of the first ten and several of the second ten in the nationally ranked division, started play oday in the thirteenth annual men's Mason Dixon championship lawn tennis tournament. The field had been cut down to sixteen when he last match was played this afternoon, and will be trimmed o eight tomorrow. The women's championship singles will get under way tomorrow afternoon.

George M. Lott, jr., Philadelphia, Davis Cup star and national doubles champion, drew a bye in the opening round and then defeated Richard Covington, Asheville, N. C., 6—2, 7—5, in the second round.

Clifford S. Sutter, New Orleans, National Intercollegiate titleholder and seventh ranking man in the country, first eliminated Robert Lowery, New York, 6—2, 6—2, and then defeated J. A. McKelvy, Springfield, Mass., 6—2, 6—4, in the second round.

The six other seeded players all won their opening maches. They are Berkely Bell, of Texas, J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J.; Marcel Rainville, of Montreal; Dr. A. J. Wright, of Montreal; Bertram Hammell, of Absecon, N. J., and T. J. Mangan, of Washington, D. C.; Dr. Wright and Rainville are members of the Canadian Davis Cup team.

STOCK PRICES CLOSE IRREGULARLY HIGHER

Auburn Auto Wins Back Most of 23-Point Break; France Sends Gold.

New York, April 20 (A.P.).—The stock market was a hit-and-miss affair today. A last hour rally filled in some of the holes made by indifferent earlier selling and prices closed irregularly higher. Volume dwindled to last week's low levels, aggregating 1,600,000 shares.

The Saturday advance proved to have been only a flash in the pan so far as its effect on today's early quotations was concerned. Initial quotations did offer a slim majority of small gains, but the covering movement which the previous session's upturn had suggested did not develop.

Instead, prices soon began to ease. It was notable, however, that the leaders, with two or three exceptions, were very reluctant to decline and a break by United States Steel to 129¾, a new low, was virtually ignored by other pivotal stocks. Steel showed a net loss all day and the loss of 2¼ points represented exactly the amount of Saturday's gain.

Tobaccos Show Strength.

Elsewhere, few important stocks were down as much as a point net. There was outstanding strength in the tobacco shares, American Tobacco "B" soaring 7 points and holding most of the gain. General Motors, American Can, General Electric, Borden, Woolworth, National Biscuit, Allied Chemical, Pennsylvania Railroad, Baltimore & Ohio, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck were up ¾ to 1½.

Auburn won back most of a 23-point break. Industrial Rayon and Ingersoll Rand, both down a dozen points at one time, cut their declines to 8.

Traders read attentively the remarks of President Gifford of A. T. & T.; he not only expressed confidence in the future but said his company's statisticians, who keep close tabs on business currents, had reported immediate signs of improvement. Also to be considered was the statement of President Farrell, of U. S. Steel, that the corporation's March business had shown material gains over the discouraging January and February results, and that given a better operating ratio the company would have "a reasonably good year" with prices as they are.

France Sending Gold.

One of the day's important news items was the announcement that France was sending $3,500,000 in gold to New York—the first important shipment since February, 1927, or before the stabilization of the franc. In the last two or three weeks there has been definite evidence that the end of extensive French imports of the precious metal was at hand and that the trend was to be reversed. France, able to stand off the world depression while she was receiving gold in large amounts, has begun to feel the effects of economic conditions in other countries. Her imports have increased and her exports, partly because of higher prices, have fallen off. With the gold inflow checked, she is entering the foreign loan market, which of course means a withdrawal of funds, tending to keep the franc weak.

France has already sent gold to Germany, and it was believed that further exports might be made to European nations rather than to this market. However, a reduction in trans-oceanic freight rates entered the situation unexpectedly and lifted the exchange point at which gold shipments become profitable.

Wheat eased, affected by beneficial rains in the Southwest and decreased exports buying. Quotations ranged ¼ to 1 5-8 lower. Corn also declined, but less extensively, under the influence of bearish Illinois reports and favorable weather. Cotton, firm all day, was up 3 to 6 points net.

Recurrence of weakness in the Spanish peseta featured foreign exchanges. Other rates were dull and steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 20 (A.P.).—Confronted by at least a partial break-up of drought conditions in the spring wheat belt and by unsettlement of the securities market, grains slid downhill today. Bearish sentiment was increased by talk that the 1931 winter wheat crop would equal in size any ever raised in Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma, and that Texas, Missouri and New Mexico production would exceed all records. Substantial decreases shown both in the United States and Canadian wheat visible supply totals failed to act as a counterbalance.

Wheat closed nervous, ¼@1¾c lower; corn, ¼@7⅛c down; oats, ¼@½c off, and provisions unchanged to 10c decline.

Rains and snowfalls Northwest each side of the Canadian boundary served to put a stop to drought complaints for the time being, if not permanently, and to start wheat price declines as soon as trading began. Decided enlargement of the amount of wheat afloat for Europe, both as compared with last week and a year ago, tended further to pull the market here down, notwithstanding early advances shown in Liverpool quotations and despite Russian reports of delayed seeding. Sharp notice was taken of advices that British millers had formally resolved to refrain from buying United States wheat on certificate final terms.

Possibilities of frost damage tonight in Kansas, where wheat is joined but not yet in the boot, tempered bearish activities in the later dealings. However, weakness displayed by Liverpool market at the close and by Argentine quotations acted as a handicap on bulls and prevented rallies from making much progress, although high winds with dust continued in parts of Canada and elsewhere Northwest. New export business in North American wheat totaled only 200,000 bushels.

Corn and oats sympathized with the wheat price drop and responded also to seasonable conditions for feed grains.

Provisions paralleled the action of hog values and grain.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July, 63⅜, 64¼@65; September, 63, 64¾; December, 66½, 68¾. Corn—May, 59⅜, 60¼@60⅜; July, 61½, 62⅜; September, 60⅞, 61¾; December, 53¾, 54½@54⅝.

BOND MARKET SETS NEW DULL RECORD

Price Movement Irregular, With Narrow Changes in Foreign Issues.

New York, April 20 (A.P.).—The bond market established a new record for dullness this year today, when the total sales on the stock exchange amounted to $6,456,000 par value, the smallest total for a full session since April 6, when transactions totaled $7,850,000. Sales during the two-hour session on Saturday amounted to $4,454,000.

Notwithstanding the restricted trading in all groups, an irregular price movement was apparent. Net changes among foreign bonds were more narrow than usual. Brazilian federal obligations made net gains at high as two points, but issues of the City and State of Sao Paulo were generally lower. Bolivians 7s of 1958 and the 8s of 1947 reached new lows, following the announcement that interest coupons due on May 1 would be paid in part. Most other foreign bonds made slight changes, usually on a few sales. Issues of the United States Government moved within a narrow range.

Railroad loans eased off gradually, but trading in them was more restricted than heretofore. St. Paul adjustment 5s were active, however, and reached a new low. Public utility obligations were dull also.

New low levels in Shell Union Oil 5s of 1947 and the 5s of 1940, with warrants, featured the industrial group. Stock privilege bonds were quiet, which reflected the restricted trading in the share market.

A new issue of $2,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds of the Associated Telephone Co. is being offered by Bonbright & Co. and a syndicate at 101¼.

NEW BANKING HOUSE ABSORBS OLD FIRM

D. H. McKnew & Company Takes Over Southern Securities Here.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Announcement yesterday of the formation of the investment banking firm of D. H. McKnew & Co. was received with unusual interest in local financial circles. The new organization will be headed by Donald H. McKnew and succeeds the Southern Securities Corporation, a well-known local investment banking house, established by Mr. McKnew and his associates in 1924.

It was stated at the offices of the new organization that the change of name was occasioned by the similarity of the name of the old firm to others in the vicinity and elsewhere, and the resultant confusion and disadvantages occasioned thereby. The new firm of D. H. McKnew & Co. will carry forward the policies of the old organization, the only change being that of the name.

This firm is fortunate in having one of the most modernly equipped and attractive banking offices in the city, and will conduct a complete investment banking service. As in the past, the firm will specialize in high-grade utility, industrial, railroad and Government bonds. An efficient trading department will be maintained with private telegraph wires direct to New York.

Well-known Banker.

D. H. McKnew, president of the new company, is one of Washington's best-known young bankers and has been actively engaged in investment banking since 1916, except during the World War, when he served as an officer in the Field Artillery. For many years he was the manager of Hambleton & Co.'s local office. In 1924 he severed this connection and formed the Southern Securities Corporation. Mr. McKnew is a member of the Chevy Chase Club, the Racquet Club, the Gibson Island Club, the Capital Yacht Club, the Washington Board of Trade and the Bond Club of Washington.

J. Clifford Folger, the new vice president, has been an associate of Mr. McKnew's since early 1929, and has assisted materially in building up the present organization. Prior to coming to Washington, Mr. Folger was engaged in business at Rochester, N. Y.

George E. Smith, the secretary and treasurer, has been identified with local investment banking since 1921, coming to Washington from Boston, Mass.

The new organization is open today in its offices at 1200 Fifteenth street and receiving the congratulations and best wishes of its many clients and friends.

Permanent Committee Urged.

A permanent Federal Reserve committee for the Association of Reserve City Bankers was urged by Robert V. Fleming, president of Riggs National Bank, in an address yesterday at the opening session of the twentieth annual convention of the association at Richmond, Va. He said this committee would be valuable to the advisory council of the Federal Reserve System; could assist the Reserve Board's subcommittees and, when asked, give important information to the board on actual banking conditions and the relation of banks to the public.

Besides Mr. Fleming, the convention is being attended by the following from here: Vice President A. M. Nevius, Riggs National Bank; President Joshua Evans, jr., and Cashier H. L. Offutt, jr., District National Bank; Vice President Howard Moran, American Security & Trust Co.; Deputy Comptroller of the Currency F. G. Awalt.

Life insurance sales in the District for March were 12 per cent below those of the month last year, the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau, Hartford, Conn., announced yesterday. There was $5,786,000 worth of business written here last month and 33 per cent of companies doing business locally reported gains.

Thomas J. Mangan, jr., local manager of Hemphill, Noyes & Co., is spending a few days at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., with his family.

A banking group headed by Harris, Forbes & Co. and including Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Chase Securities Corporation, Continental Illinois Co., Field, Glore & Co., Edward B. Smith & Co., E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc., Cassatt & Co., J. G. White & Co., Inc., Chatham Phenix Corporation, B. B. Robinson & Co., Ltd., and General Utility Securities, Inc., is offering publicly the unsold portion of an issue of $32,000,000 of 5 per cent gold bonds, due January 1, 1961, of Associated Electric Co., the greater portion of this issue being privately held by interests not identified with the company. The bonds are priced at 97½ and interest, yielding over 5.16 per cent.

Realty Man Offers To Buy Interurban

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 20.—Scoffing at the suggestion by officials of the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Electric Railroad that it might become necessary to "junk" the road unless tax exemption under an act of the recent Maryland Legislature becomes fully effective, Walter H. Hart, Annapolis real estate operator, today came forward with an offer to buy the railroad for $2,000,000.

Hart declared he has the backing of a number of out-of-town financial men, some of whom are said to be Philadelphians. He was formerly engaged in the real estate business in the Quaker City. Based upon outstanding indebtedness, the book valuation of the railroad is placed upward of $10,000,000.

Meanwhile, Hart, who is president of the Taxpayers League of the county, has joined a movement in contemplation by county commissioners, municipal authorities and others, in preparing a petition for a referendum on the tax exemption bill. Such a petition would require signatures of 10,000 voters from the sections affected by the exemption.

Oil Stock Offer Withdrawn.

New York, April 20 (A.P.).—Henry L. Doherty and associates, controlling the Cities Service Companies, have withdrawn an offer to exchange Cities Service stock for preferred shares of Richfield Oil of California, now in receivership, it was disclosed tonight in an announcement by the protective committee of Richfield stockholders.

ELECTRICAL GUILD IN ANNUAL SESSION

Comstock Hits at Constant Reinterpretation of Sherman Act.

The first annual meeting of the Electrical Guild of North America was opened yesterday at Wardman Park Hotel by President Louis K. Comstock, who voiced a warning that a more precise definition of restraint of trade in the application of Federal antitrust laws was the chief requisite to greater efficiency and more honesty in American business.

He said that confusion arising from the constant reinterpretation of the Sherman act was the basis for the business fear which now prevents lawful agreements clearly in the public interest.

Gries' Address Read.

An address by Dr. John M. Gries, chairman of President Hoover's committee on home building and home ownership, was read by G. Earl Stewart, president of the L. K. Comstock Co., of New York. Illness prevented Mr. Gries from attending the meeting.

Mr. Gries' address stated that industries are now competing with a "ferocity never before equaled" and that business leaders, craftsmen and professional men must abandon the notion that any industry, occupation or service is secure of tenure in this era.

H. H. Broach, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, declared that the problem of economic stabilization and its attendant unemployment offers a challenge to the Nation. He views conditions as a threat to the established order, bringing capitalism in direct contest with communism and fascism.

Technical and business sides of the industry were discussed by Victor Tousley, field secretary of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors, and C. E. Greenwood, commercial manager of the National Electric Light Association.

Union Management Cooperation.

Union management cooperation and its success in adjusting labor troubles and increasing the efficiency of railroad operation in the last ten years was outlined by Otto S. Beyer, author of the B. & O. plan. Mr. Beyer spoke last night on the dinner program which he shared with L. T. McQueen, of the Pittsburgh Builders Supply Club.

Nelson B. Gaskill, formerly chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, said that industry should not be content with a system which experiences a depression every five or ten years. He advocated revision of the laws and favored agreements which would preserve the price integrity of industry.

Business sessions including election of officers, and a luncheon will be held today.

WORK ON NEW I. C. C. STRUCTURE NEARING

Buildings on Two Blocks to Be Razed Soon to Make Way for Building.

Preparations are being made by the Treasury Department for the razing of structures in the two blocks between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets and Constitution avenue and C street northwest to make way for erection of the new Interstate Commerce Commission Building.

As soon as the last piece of property in the area is deeded to the Government a date will be fixed for starting the demolition work. Property owners and tenants have been given notice to move before May 16. The Washington Woodworking Co. has asked for more time, but a final decision on its request has not yet been reached by the Treasury Department.

The Interstate Commerce Commission Building will be part of a development extending from Twelfth to Fourteenth streets northwest, from the new Internal Revenue Building to the new Department of Commerce Building. The center of the square will be occupied by a Government auditorium. The new Department of Labor Building will be at Fourteenth street and Constitution avenue northwest.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will occupy a portion of the I. C. C. Building, from Twelfth street to a point past Thirteenth street, according to present plans. Thirteenth street will be closed for this purpose, despite a fight by the Washington Board of Trade. The Interstate Commerce Building will cost $4,500,000, according to present estimates.

Arthur Brown, jr., of San Francisco, is architect for the Interstate Commerce Commission Building, the Department of Labor Building and the auditorium.

Another new building in the same area will be the Postoffice Department project. It will be erected directly north of the I. C. C. Building. The estimated cost of this structure is $10,300,000.

Weidlein to Speak To Chemical Group

Mellon Institute Chief Is on Norfolk Meeting Program.

Norfolk, Va., April 20 (A.P.).—Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Virginia section of the American Chemical Society to be held here April 24 and 25, with the Virginia Academy of Science.

Most of the meeting will be devoted to the presentation and discussion of papers dealing with original chemical research.

Following Dr. Weidlein's address on "The Role of Chemistry in Times of Business Depression," coming on the second day of the meeting, arrangements have been made for the presentation of a limited number of ten-minute papers on industrial subjects of a general nature.

Rayon Company Replies To Two Patent Suits

Wilmington, Del., April 20 (A.P.).—Industrial Rayon Corporation today filed an answer in United States District Court to two patent suits filed against it by Tubize-Chatillon Corporation.

The suits allege infringment of the Gardner and Singmaster patents for production of artificial silk fabrics. The answer contends the patents are invalid and void because the invention was known to others and in public use more than two years prior to the date the patent application was filed, and because they lack patentable novelty.

Young Woman Hurt When Struck by Car

Struck by an automobile while attempting to cross the street at the intersection of Sixteenth and U streets northwest early yesterday, Miss Lydia D. Rabe, 25 years old, of 1610 Sixteenth street northwest, was treated at Emergency Hospital for abrasions to her head and shock. Her condition is not serious.

Police say the car which struck Miss Rabe was operated by James F. Hilderbrand, 28 years old, of Eleventh street near P street northwest. He was not held.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

HYATTSVILLE NAMES LIST OF CANDIDATES

Gray and Hillery to Run for Mayor; Several Picked for Councilmen.

No surprise candidates were sprung last night at the series of nominating conventions held in Hyattsville to prepare for the town elections on May 4. All those candidates who were entered in the race by their friends had already made known their candidacy.

Citing Lemuel L. Gray's long residence in the town and his public service, and pointing out his integrity, S. Marvin Peace nominated Mr. Gray for mayor. Mr. Peach recalled the early history of the town, and stressed the fact that Mr. Gray had been a resident since his boyhood. The nomination was seconded by T. Hammond Welsh, Charles W. Clagett, and Howard A. Harrison.

Otis G. Dudrow placed in nomination the name of E. B. Hilley, present councilman and chairman of the finance committee. He stressed Mr. Hilley's knowledge of Hyattsville's affairs and said "The best judge of qualifications for mayor lies in his record on the council." This nomination was seconded by J. R. England and J. M. Kuhns.

Later conventions were held to nominate candidates to represent four wards on the council. E. M. Gover was the only nominee from the third ward, being named by W. P. Magruder. In the First Ward convention O. G. Dudrow was named by Ernest Gasch and C. D. Anderson was nominated by H. A. Harrison.

Harmonious rivalry was promised by W. T. Jennings and T. D. Jarrell, nominees from the Second Ward, during that convention. Both sides promised "a clean fight." Mr. Jennings was nominated by T. Hammond Welsh, while Thomas M. Hume placed Mr. Jarrell's name before the meeting. In the First Ward L. L. Powers was the only nominee, being named by Maj. F. Granville Munson.

Dr. H. T. Willis, present mayor, who declined to run again, was chairman of the mayoralty convintion, while C. D. Anderson was chosen secretary.

By a vote of 85 to 8, the residents of the Town of Cheverly have decided to incorporate, under the authority of a bill passed by the recent Legislature. The first municipal election will be held early next month, probably on May 4, when other towns in the county elect their officers.

The charter authorized by the Legislature provides for the election of a mayor and four councilmen, who will appoint a town clerk and treasurer, a health officer and town bailiff. The health officer must have the approval of the State board of health.

At the first election, those four men having the greatest number of votes shall be named as councilmen, the two with the larger majorities to serve for two years. The others will serve for only one year, but after the first election all terms shall be for two years. In this way two councilmen shall be elected every year and a whole new council can not come into office at once.

Candidates for mayor must file petitions signed by ten voters fifteen days before election, but councilmen may run on petitions signed by five qualified voters. The council has authority to levy taxes of not more than 25 cents per $100 from July 1.

Edward Fay, of Edmonston, was awarded damages of $1 yesterday by a petit jury in his suit for $10,000 against Michael Sullivan, of Cheverly. Fay had alleged that he was injured by Sullivan during a fight, which took place at Fay's home.

Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer was attorney for Sullivan, while Attorney John S. White appeared for Fay. It was alleged that Fay had objected to Sullivan's son visiting his home, and that Sullivan was incensed at this. The son, Michael Sullivan, jr., was recently charged with harboring children absent unlawfully from school after county policemen had raided an alleged party at the Sullivan home, where three school girls were found.

Fourteen indictments were returned by the Prince Georges County grand jury yesterday, making a total of 56 returned during this session. It is not considered likely that any more will be made, although the grand jury will meet again today.

No report has yet been made by the jury, although they have been in session more than two weeks.

Evelyn Estelle Powers yesterday filed suit in county circuit court asking an annulment of her marriage to Leo J. Powers, of Washington. The woman alleges that her husband abandoned her the night of their marriage, on November 6, 1929, and that he procured her consent to the wedding by "misrepresentation." Attorneys McCullough and Luckett appear for her.

Arguments were heard yesterday by Circuit Court Judges Joseph C. Mattingly and William M. Lokar on the suit of the Town of Colmar Manor against the county commissioners for a share of taxes collected in the town during 1927.

The amount involved is about $1,800, three-fourths of the total taxes collected in the town. By the county road law, this proportion of road taxes is refunded to incorporated towns for the upkeep of streets within their boundaries. Colmar Manor was incorporated early in May, 1927, but did not receive this rebate.

M. Hampton Magruder, attorney for the commissioners, argued that the budget was made up at the time of the incorporation, and anyway they had no official notice of the incorporation. Bird H. Dolby, for the town, contended that it was the duty of the board to keep informed of the status of towns in the county. The justices hearing the case indicated that a decision would be rendered before the end of the week.

Plans are being made for a drive for funds to improve the Hyattsville High School athletic field, which needs leveling and draining. It is estimated that $2,500 will be necessary.

With an enrollment of more than 700, the school is said to be the only large institution in the State without an improved playing field. The school's baseball team is forced to play its home games on the grounds at Riverdale, it is said. The plight of the school will probably be laid before the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting on April 27.

Recent figures issued by the Census Bureau show that Queen Anne District has the largest farm acreage of any district in the county, although Nottingham and Bowie both have more farms. The Queen Anne acreage is 26,598, with farms in Nottingham occupying 20,246 acres, and in Bowie, 15,048.

Queen Anne's farms are also valued higher than farms in any other district, with a total of $2,256,155. The nearest district to this is Spalding, which is more than $200,000 below this figure.

Bowie district, however, has the most valuable farmhouses in the county, with a total valuation of $695,825. Next in order are Queen Anne, $507,738; Spalding, $480,000, and Oxon Hill, 344,495.

In Queen Anne there are 198 farms, but both Bowie and Nottingham have 207. Other large farm totals are Piscataway, with 170; Spalding, with 174; Aquasco, with 191; Surratts, with 172, and Brandywine, with 191.

Next to Queen Anne in total acreage is Brandywine, with 21,055 acres. Then, in order, are Piscataway, with 20,256; Nottingham, with 20,246; Mellwood, with 16,174, and Aquasco, with 16,162.

The most metropolitan areas, Hyattsville and Riverdale, are given together. There are 19 farms in this territory, with an acreage of 401. Their farms are valued at $223,950, including buildings. Farmhouses in this area are valued at $98,200.

HOOD COLLEGE MAY FESTIVAL PLANNED

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., April 20.—The annual May Day celebration, the largest and most important campus event of the year at Hood College, will be held May 9, it was announced today. Miss Mirren Lockwood, of Jersey City, president of the Marionette Dramatic Society and a member of the Lesbian Literary Society and the contemporary Club, is general chairman. Several hundred students will take part.

The pageant, written by Miss Grace Brane, associate professor of English, will begin with an invocation to the sun for its blessings in praise of the coming spring. The scene was laid in England in the fifteenth century. The frolic involves Harlequin, a wandering minstrel, who gives a performance in honor of the crowning for the queen's favor. Miss Miriam Rhoades, of Frederick, wrote the music for the original song to be used during the crowning of the queen. Miss Lydia Caplan, of York, Pa., wrote the words for that song. The new May queen will be crowned by her predecessors, Miss Ruth Huntley, of Philadelphia. She will be aided by court attendants, and the entire festivities will be augmented by a short chorus directed by Miss Jane Weisel, Bedford, Pa. The results of the elections for the position of May queen, princehood and the jester are kept secret until the morning of the crowning. The candidates for May queen are Misses Catherine Miller, New Brighton, Pa.; Mary Heist, Philadelphia; Kathryn Wagner, Allentown, Pa.; Catherine Meyer, Bellefonte, Pa., and Eleanor Musser, Rockwood, Pa. Candidates for princehood are Misses Helen Meyers, York, Pa.; Hildegarde Pilgram, Lancaster, Pa; Martha Carson, Philadelphia; Edith Thomas, Flushing, N. Y.; Mirren Lockwood, Jersey City, and Dorothy Stem, Philadelphia.

Candidates for jester are the Misses Marie Brown, Harrisburg, Pa.; Helen Pilat, New York, N. Y.; Josephine Sowersby, New Castle, Pa., and Janet Maxwell, Dormont, Pa.

Annapolis Judge Hits Law Agents

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 20.—Formation of a law and order league was suggested as a means of stamping out vice and other forms of lawlessness in Anne Arundel County by Judge Robert Moss when he addressed the grand jury at the opening of the April term of the circuit court here today.

The jurist declared that the county had become the dumping ground for bawdy houses and dives and other of the lawless element, since such places were outlawed in Baltimore. He expressed regret that conditions have been steadily growing worse, and deplored lax efforts of county police officials to enforce the liquor and other major laws.

He declared police officials are either asleep or petrified as far as enforcement is concerned. The lawless element, he said, operates road houses and gambling dives and indulges in the liquor traffic, and he hinted at "tip-off" agencies being at work, since it is practically impossible for a sherff's force to leave the courthouse with the object of conducting raids without proprietors of alleged bad places being furnished with advance information. C. Ashby Duvall, second district farmer, is foreman of the grand jury.

One-Armed Miner Gets Life Term for Murder

Wise, Va., April 20 (A.P.).—Jerry Shook, one-armed miner, today was sentenced to life imprisonment following his trial in circuit court here on a charge of murdering Nollie Joyner, his brother-in-law.

Claude Shook, brother of Jerry, is docketed for trial April 29 on a similar charge growing out of the fatal shooting at Joyner's home on April 3.

Eight Indictments Found in Culpeper

Murder, Forgery, Theft and Rum Violations Are Charged.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., April 20.—Eight indictments, covering murder, forgery, embezzlement and breaches of the prohibition law were returned in the Culpeper circuit court today.

Bob Williams, Negro, was charged with setting fire to the home of Robert White in January, 1929, and in so doing killing five children who were burned to death in the fire. Williams is said to have made threats against the White family prior to the fire and to have pointed out to people after the fire what happened to his enemies.

Williams was also indicted on a prohibition charge, as was another Negro.

Two true bills were returned against Thomas Hedrick, charged with forgery. He pleaded guilty immediately and was sentenced to a total of three years in the penitentiary. Several indictments were returned against Samuel Wood, said to be from Washington, charging embezzlement.

$215,000 Baer Estate Bequeathed to Widow

The physician's personal property was estimated at $200,000 and his real property at $15,000. Mrs. Baer was appointed executrix, to serve without bond, in accordance with provisions of the will.

BLANK FORMS FOR DEPARTING KINGS.

SO MANY royal rulers are finding it expedient to quit the throne these days and with such little time and opportunity for drawing up a manifesto completely explaining the situation, that there is an obvious demand for blank forms which can be filled out on the run. The following forms should therefore be most popular:

1. FORM FOR A KING LEAVING ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT.

TO ALL SUBJECTS:
The King of ..... begs to announce that he has this ..... day of ..... 19.... abdicated for the reasons marked below with a cross:

1. The people had so voted.
2. He was tired of being shot at.
3. Couldn't sleep nights.
4. Too high strung and nervous to continue under the circumstanes.
5. The business isn't what it used to be.
6. Received offers from movie companies.
7. Got tired of reading anonymous letters of abuse.
8. The queen wants to travel.
9. Thinks he can live cheaper abroad.
10. Is convinced he could do better in some other business.
11. Has lost taste for ruling.
12. Thinks he needs change of air.
13. Thought it good idea to get out while the getting was good.
14. Got official word from people to "scram!"
15. Has always wanted to retire to a little place in the country and raise chickens.
16. Thinks a younger man could do more with the job.
17. Has always craved to retire and do some writing.

He thanks the people for past favors, wishes them a Merry Christmas and assures them of his continued regard. (Signed) .....

* * * *

TO ALL SUBJECTS:
The King of ..... wishes to state that he has left the country (on an extended vacation) (to give the unrest time to blow over) (to await the reaction of the people to his departure) (to observe developments and still preserve his good health) (to avoid sudden death).

Note—Cross out the reason or reasons above which do not apply.

His royal highness, knowing that his subjects will want some definite information regarding his future plans, announces that he—

1. Will wait 30 days before accepting any outside offers.
2. Will accept any outside offers at once and let the throne go hang.
3. Will spurn outside offers and will conspire for return to the throne as soon as possible.
4. Will not actively work for reinstatement, but will be glad to receive overtures to resume job at old stand.

(Put a cross opposite the above sentence which expressses your intentions.) Signed .....

* * * *

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
The undersigned hereby hands in his complete and unqualified resignation. While many nuisances have forced him to this decision, he checks the following as particularly instrumental:

1. Too many parades.
2. Too many news real photographers.
3. Too much dressing for dinner.

A RAY OF HOPE.

THE Supreme Court has ruled that it violates the copyright law when a hotel receives musical compositions over the radio in its public or guest rooms without permission of the composers. This may mean that hotels may be forced to let their guests have a little quiet.

A celebrated writer of detective mysteries just announces that he was married six months ago. Possibly he just found it out.

You may have observed that the name of Helen Twelvetrees' new husband is Frank Woody. How about Jack Oakie for best man?

PLANT WALNUT TREE AT CAPITOL

Underwood & Underwood.

SCOUTS PLANT TREE ON CAPITOL GROUNDS

International Nut Growing Plan to Honor Washington Is Started.

An international tree-planting program in honor of the memory of George Washington was launched by several national organizations yesterday on the west grounds of the Capitol, as Boy Scouts planted a descendant of one of the Mount Vernon walnuts.

Today, on the north grounds of the White House, President Hoover will plant one of the 10,000,000 trees the American Forestry Association hopes to have set out as part of the celebration of Washington's 200th birthday.

Representatives of the Boy Scouts, the Department of Agriculture, the D. A. R., General Federation of Women's Clubs, the American Forestry Association and the Mount Vernon Ladies Association took part in the ceremonies yesterday.

Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, associate director of the Bicentennial Commission, pointed to the significance of planting a tree from Washington's home on the site he was instrumental in selecting as seat of government of a young republic.

Chief Scout Executive James E. West came from New York to lead the Scouts in the ceremony and to charge them with care of the young tree. Mrs. Alice H. Richards, regent of the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association, presented the tree, and Dr. A. F. Woods, of the Department of Agriculture, broke the ground.

The D. A. R. and the General Federation of Women's Clubs were represented by Mrs C. A. Finley, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs G. V. Gillingham, of Washington, who attached the colors of their organizations as temporary markers for the tree.

The program was initiated by the National Nut Tree Planting Project, which plans to have planted during the next year Mount Vernon tree descendants on the grounds of State capitols, and every American-owned embassy and legation.

G. H. Collingwood, forester of the American Forestry Association and treasurer of the Nut Tree Planting Project, directed the ceremonies yesterday.

Charge Dismissed, Dry Agent Rebuke

Search of House Allowed by 14-Year-Old Girl Draws Warning.

Baltimore, Md., April 20 (A.P.).—United States Commissioner J. Frank Supple today dismissed a dry law violation charge against a woman and told Isaac R. Hitt 3d, a prohibition agent, he should not get permission to search a house from 14-year-old girls or bring children into court as the result of raids.

The agent, accompanied by other dry law enforcement officers, went to the home of Mrs. Sophia Wroblewska and said he found an ounce of whisky and two and a half cases of home brew beer. He was met at the door by the woman's daughter and told the mother was not at home, asked to come in and "look around."

The daughter told him the whisky was left by her uncle and that the beer was made for use during the holidays. The agents left citations for both the mother and daughter to appear before the commissioner.

Falls Church Resident Accused of Shooting

William Eskridge, of Falls Church, Va., was arrested last night by Deputy Sheriff Henry Magarity on a charge of shooting of Bernard Ransell, colored, of Merrifield. Eskridge was given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace John T. Moling, of Falls Church, who held him for the action of the grand jury at the May term of the Fairfax County Circuit Court.

According to the testimony at the preliminary hearing the offense occurred near Merrifield. It was testified that Eskridge stopped Ransell Sunday and accused him of stealing some liquor from a hiding place. Ransell denied the charge. It is claimed that Eskridge waited until Ransell was some distance from him, when he fired a shot gun. Ransell was treated by Dr. John Smallwood, of Falls Church.

VIRGINIA WILL HONOR MONROE CENTENARY

Statue Will Be Unveiled on Hundredth Anniversary of Patriot's Death.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 20.—Plans are being completed for the unveiling of the statue of James Monroe, fifth President of the United States and author of the Monroe Doctrine, to be erected at Ashlawn, for 26 years the home of the man who put through the Louisiana Purchase. It will be the first statue of this famous son of Virginia ever set up in his native State.

The unveiling exercises will take place July 4, the one hundredth anniversary of Monroe's death. The Virginia James Monroe Centennial Commission, recently appointed by Gov. Pollard, will sponsor a Monroe memorial program at the University of Virginia during the Institute of Public Affairs.

It will attempt to creat interest in Monroes' services to the Nation and a greater apreciation of his work when, as Ambassador to Spain and France, and as Secretary of State and off War, and as President of the United States, he had a major part in the early policies of the United States Government.

Statue Was Accidentally Discovered.

The Monroe statue, it will be recalled, was accidentally discovered last fall by Jay W. Johns, of Pittsburgh, who one year ago purchased Ashlawn and converted it into a shrine of American democracy. It was found in the studio of Attilio Piccirili, New York sculptor, who was commissioned 34 years ago to create a magnificent monument to the fifth President of the United States, to be erected in Caracas, Venezuela, as a tribute to the intervention of President Cleveland, under the Monroe Doctrine, in an embarrassment that threatened to embroil England in war with the Latin republic.

Unhappily, revolt followed in the South American country and the administration was overthrown. President Crespo, who had ordered the statue, died in jail. The sculptor, who was about to send his work to Caracas, found the new government interested in other things.

The statue is made after the Vanderlyn portrait of Monroe, which represents him at the age of 50. It is eleven feet in height, carved from a solid block of Carrara marble and weighs more than three tons. Mr. Johns acquired the figure and it is now en route to Virginia.

Box Hedge Is Spectacle.

The monument will grace an evergreen oval on the east side of the entrance to "Ash Lawn," and will rest on a base of Georgia white marble. Landscape gardeners have been at work for the past two months putting the grounds surrounding the mansion into shape. The box hedge garden at present presents a spectacle which excites the admiration of all tourists. For exquisite taste and simple grandeur it has few equals in America.

It is distinctly French in its motif and design and is laid out to form an oval at the exact center of which stands a great Norwegian pine, brought to America from Europe by Monroe when he was building the homestead. The perimeter consists of a hedge of English dwarf-box, and is flanked by an extremely tall box hedge, the terminal apexes being especially striking and beautiful.

An invitation has been extended Calvin Coolidge, whose birthday is on July 4, to attend the exercises incident to the unveiling of the monument at "Ash Lawn." Aside from the actual unveiling of the figure, the principal program will be staged at the University of Virginia during the regular session of the Institute of Public Affairs. Representatives of various South American countries will attend and have a prominent part in the exercises.

4-H CLUB MEETINGS LISTED FOR FAIRFAX

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

This week's schedule of Miss Sara E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, includes business meetings with 4-H clubs at Burke, Forestville nad Herndon today. Tomorrow club leaders at Lee-Jackson and Annandale will have charge of their own business meetings.

Thursday Miss Thomas will give a talk on "Attractive Kitchens" to the home demonstration club at Clifton Station. Friday at the Woodlawn Club meeting Virginia Clapp and Mandy Grimsley will give a demonstration on the preparation of egg dishes. Malinda Pettit and Elizabeth Ennis will give a demonstration and preparation of school lunches at the meeting of the Potter Hill Club, and at Lorton a demonstration on table setting will be given by Mary Young and Nancy Dove. At night demonstration teams from the Woodlawn, Potters Hill, Fort Humphreys and Lorton Clubs will meet at Lorton to hold a district demonstration contest. The winning team will compete later with the team of the Annandale School and the winner in the contest will compete with the winner of the clubs in other sections of the county for the privilege of representing the county at Blacksburg, Va., this summer in the Virginia State demonstration contests.

During the past week preliminary contests have been held by many of the clubs to select demonstration teams for the district contest. Winners have been selected in several group contests and county winners will be chosen on May 2 at the annual club rally day.

Rebecca Myers and Bernice Riggles, of Clifton, won the group contest at Clifton Station with a demonstration on "The Preparation of Cheap Cuts of Meat." Other teams competing were Alice Moon and Louise Miller, of Burke; Ruth Chesley and May Wooley, of Fairview. Judges were Mrs. Macon Hirst, Mrs. Charles Bladen and Mrs. Mabel Crandall, of the Home Demonstration Club at Annandale.

In the contest at the Lee-Jackson School, Margaret Norton and Clara Ernest won with a demonstration on "Stuffed Apples." At Oakton School Mary and May Krammer were winners with a demonstration on "The Preparation of Spinach."

A district contest was held in Oakton, and the team from Vienna won first place, Fairfax team second and Herndon team third, Forestville team fourth and the Oakton team fifth. Judges were Mrs. H. F. Myers, of Clifton; Mrs. Richard R. Farr, of Fairfax, and Mrs. W. Merriweather, of Washington.

A group contest was held Saturday evening at Annandale School. First place was won by Margaret Bladen and Louise Hilleary, of Annandale, with a demenstration on "Carrots From Soup to Dessert." The Falls Church team of Dorothy Allison and Isabel Robinson won second place; third place was won by the McLean team, consisting of Eloise and Frances Faidley, and the Lee-Jackson team, with Marguarite Norton and Clara Ernest, fouth. Judges were Mrs. S. F. Edwards, of Oakton; Mrs. Fred Cunningham, of Five Oaks, and Mrs. J. O. Miller, of Vienna.

Forest fires continue to sweep large tracts of timber land in various sections of Fairfax County. Yesterday a fire swept through the woods between Falls Church and Annandale. The Falls Church fire department battled the flames for two hours to protect several houses in the path of the fire. The McLean department was kept busy yesterday fighting fire in woods between Chesterbrooke and Franklin Park. Sunday afternoon the McLean department was summoned to Engleside, where the trolley poles and ties of the Washington & Old Dominion Railway were afire for more than 300 feet. Another fire call was from the Great Falls Park where fire burned more than 60 acres of timber land belonging to the Washington & Old Dominion Railway and the Potomac Electric Power Co.

Fairfax County Fire Warden Joseph Money has stated that he will swear out warrants against persons suspected of starting field or forest fires.

The regular meeting of the Pioneer Grange will be held this evening in the Grange Hall at Masonville, on the Falls Church-Annandale road. The lecturer, Mrs. Milton Hartley, has designated this evening as "gentlemen's evening," and there will be discussions, talks and recitations by men on "the fairer sex," including a debate, "Resolved, That women are safer drivers than men."

The Women's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church will hold a bridge luncheon this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. T. Weaver, on the Chain Bridge road.

Mrs. Mable Altstetter, of State Teachers College at Fredericksburg, will address the high school classes at Oakton, McLean, Falls Church and Lee-Jackson Schools today, and tomorrow morning she will talk to the high school classes at Clifton and Herndon. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Elsie A. Davis, Fairfax supervisor of rural education in the white schools.

State School Architect Raymond V. Long, of Richmond, was in Fairfax County yesterday to confer with the county school officials in regard to school building projects to be undertaken this summer. One of the larger schools to be erected will be the four-room structure at Franconia.

The Franconia School and Community League will hold its monthly meeting this evening in the schoolhouse at Franconia.

The Arlington-Fairfax Firemen's Relief Association will hold its monthly meeting in the town council hall at Falls Church. Refreshments will be served by the Women's Auxiliary of the Falls Church Volunteer Fire Department.

Longworth's Titled Sister Here on Visit

New York, April 20 (A.P.).—Countess Adelbert de Chambrun, sister of the late Nicholas Longworth and wife of the military comander of Tunisia, will arrive on the French liner Ile de France late tomorrow.

She is on her way to Cincinnati to visit her sister and sister-in-law.
